We are informed that Astoria has offered a bonus of $50,000 to Mr. Byers, the Pendleton miller, to induce him to establish his plant at that joint. Astoria is wide-awake but Byers will probably re-establish his business in the center of the wheat belt, where he has the first chance at the crop. In addition to the money, a site for the mill is also offered.

Christopher C. Woodford of Dufur filed upon a homestead at the U. S. land office today. Few would suspect from the Christopher C. that it stood for the famous old scout, Kit Carson, but such is the fact, and Christopher C. Woodford in Nevada was known as Kit Woodford. He was born in Carson valley, being the first white child born in what is today the state of Nevada.

The splendid family tourist sleepers of the Great Northern are now running daily between Portland and Spokane, on the Spokane flyer via O. R. & N. These cars differ from the ordinary tourists sleepers, being built on the same plan as regular sleepers but upholstered in leather instead of plush. This new line of cars connects at Spokane with similar cars running to and from St. Paul without change. nov3-6

Otto Krahn, a convict in the penitentiary at Salem, was shot and instantly killed by Guard McCormick Thursday evening. McCormick had just been appointed guard, and was on duty for the first time. Krahn, who was sent from Multnomah county for eight years Jan. 1, 1893, undoubtedly thought McCormick being green, would not shoot, but he was mistaken.

Mr. James Sellick sent in this morning some specimens of spuds grown on 18 Mile that would soon disseminate the famine in Ireland. The potatoes weigh from two to four pound each, are solid to the core, free from codlin moth or San Jose scale, and are warranted good keepers. We forget the name of the variety, but if they are not Bellflowers or Baldwins, they must belong to the Polled Angus, Shropshires, Chester Whites or Plymouth Rocks. We are not certain, but make these suggestions as suggestions only.

The funeral of John Grant took place this morning from the Episcopal church. The long procession following the hearse spoke eloquently of the esteem in which the dead man was held. We learn since noting his death yesterday, that he was born in Denhead Dramblade Hantley, Aberdeinshire, Scotland, in March 1850. He served nine and a half years as constable in Yorkshire, came to America in 1882, and to Oregon in 1884. He died Tuesday, Nov. 2, and we are informed leaves one brother in Scotland, and it is thought one in Canada.

The city council met last night in special session, and granted a franchise to the Parrott Lighting Company, besides making a contract for the lighting of the city for a period of five years at the agreed price of $1000 per year. Besides this the company agrees to furnish 12 office lights. The lights are said to be of fine quality, and those shown at Mays & Crowe's some time since were certainly good. We hope the lights may prove all that was expected of them, though we must confess a preference for the electric glow.

Professor P. G. Daut Here.

Harry C. Liebe has engaged the services of Mr. Daut, who comes to our city highly recommended as a scientific optician; one who does not guess at the requirements of the eye, but gives the proper correction in all cases. He fits with accuracy all cases of myopia, presbyopia, hypermetropia, heterophoria, asthenopia and astigmatism in all its different forms. Special attention given to children's eyes, which should not be neglected while they are young and attending to their studies. He can correct and cure cross-eye by the use of lenses, using no medicine whatever.

Mr. Daut has testimonials from distinguished clergymen, congressmen, presidents, and also from the crowned heads of Europe. While in Berlin, Germany, he was assistant inspector of the Prussian army for color and sight. He is a graduate of the following ophthalmic colleges: At Berlin, Germany, Philadelphia, Penn., and Winona, Minn.

For the sake of a few home testimonials he will, for the next thirty days, make a special reduction in all glasses. Call and have your eyes examined, as he will tell you just what is needed. Examination free.

Cayuses For Canning.

Sixteen carloads of cayuses from the bunchgrass hills of Umatilla were most hospitably entertained last night at the Saltmarsh stock yards, and at 1 o'clock this afternoon the train carried them to their destination at Linnton, on the Willamette. There their rich and gamey flesh will be put in cans, the hoofs and waste worked into glue and fertilizers, and the bones prepared for knife handles and such. The only thing about these long-maned rangers of the hills that cannot be utilized is the hock, and as this is the largest and most energetic portion of the animals, it seems too bad that it cannot be in some manner saved. Edison or Tesla might find here a vast fund of energy that in some way might be transferred into light, heat or force; but until they do, the consumers of the canned goods may well congratulate themselves, as their gastric juices get in their work on the contents of the cans, that the Linnton company could not seal up and preserve the concentrated devilmint and ubiquitous movements of those same cayuses.

Cole's Air Tight and Hot Blast

HEATERS

ARE THE BEST

- They heat a room in five minutes.
- They save enough fuel the first year to pay for the stove.
- 4 cents a day is the average cost of heating a large room with our stoves.
- They burn anything and everything combustible.
- A cord of wood equals a ton of hard coal in any of our wood heaters.
- It is only necessary to remove ashes once in six weeks from our wood stoves.
- They are safe and have a catch to hold the cover while putting in fuel.
- You have a fire every morning.
- Our hot blast draft furnishes a hot air feed, not cold air, and saves fuel.
- They are easily moved and set up.
- Our wood stoves are made with either sheet iron or cast iron tops in all sizes, for all purposes.
- They are jointless the connections being so made that the greater expansion of the lining don't affect the body.
- There are no bolts exposed to the fire to burn off or draw or open up a joint.
- Our coal stove will burn slack and makes a ton of soft coal equal to a ton of hard coal.

BEWARE of infringers and inferior imitations, they never equal the original and cost as much.

GREAT ENGINEERING FEAT.

New Railroad Bridge Shifted Into Place In Two Minutes Twenty-eight Seconds.

What is believed to be one of the greatest engineering feats on record was undertaken successfully in Philadelphia recently on the New York division of the Pennsylvania railroad. The old iron span in the bridge crossing the Schuylkill river in the Fairmount park was replaced by a new structure of steel in the space of 2 minutes and 28 seconds, accurately timed.

Owing to the heavy equipment which the railroads are adopting to meet the demands of heavier traffic the old span in the bridge was deemed too light. A new steel span has been in progress of construction for some months on false work erected in the river alongside of and parallel to the old one. It is known as a Pratt truss span.

The problem presented itself how to substitute the new structure for the old. It was effected between the passage of two way trains over the bridge nine minutes apart. In that short time the tracks were cut from the old span, both structures were raised by hydraulic jacks and settled on 136 iron rollers three feet in diameter which moved on two tramways. These tramways extended on the opposite side of the bridge far enough to hold the old span when the new one was shifted into its place.

At a given signal stationary engines set the shifting process in motion, and it was completed smoothly and successfully in less than 2 1/2 minutes. The weight on the tramways was 1,700 tons. The tracks were rejoineted and the entire operation was effected without delay to the next train to arrive.

The new span is double tracked and is 242 feet long, 25 feet wide and 30 feet above the surface of the river.—New York Sun.
