Cole's Air Tight and Hot Blast HEATERS ARE THE BEST

- They heat a room in five minutes.
- They save enough fuel the first year to pay for the stove.
- 4 cents a day is the average cost of heating a large room with our stoves.
- They burn anything and everything combustible.
- A cord of wood equals a ton of hard coal in any of our wood heaters.
- It is only necessary to remove ashes once in six weeks from our wood stoves.
- They are safe and have a catch to hold the cover while putting in fuel.
- You have a fire every morning.
- Our hot blast draft furnishes a hot air feed, not cold air, and saves fuel.
- They are easily moved and set up.
- Our wood stoves are made with either sheet iron or cast iron tops in all sizes, for all purposes.
- They are jointless the connections being so made that the greater expansion of the lining don't affect the body.
- There are no bolts exposed to the fire to burn off or draw or open up a joint.
- Our coal stove will burn slack and makes a ton of soft coal equal to a ton of hard coal.

Beware of infringers and inferior imitations, they never equal the original and cost as much.

It was rumored yesterday that Mr. E. Jacobsen had been recommended by the delegations for the position of postmaster of The Dalles. The rumor does not seem to have anything tangible behind it, though it may be true. Mr. Jacobsen stated to our reporter that he had heard nothing whatever about it.

The case of N. O. Cedarson, administrator, against the O. R. & N. was up at the noon hour today for argument of the motion to have the complaint made more definite. Attorney Minor of Portland appeared for the O. R. & N., and Judge Bennett appeared for the plaintiff. The case grows out of the killing of Cedarson near Seufert's last spring.

McCarthy & McCoulogh, of the Linn-ton horse cannery, were in Pasco recently, after horses, says the Pasco News. They say they want all of Franklin county's horses, for which they pay $2.50 per head. They will probably ship five or six more trainloads during the next few weeks. Two dollars and a half is not very much for a horse, but they take everything as it comes, and in this way the owners are satisfied to sell.

Dr. J. C. Wightman, of Branchport, N. Y., has lately presented to Whitman college in Walla Walla, a lock of Dr. Marcus Whitman's hair. The hair is brown in color, showing no trace of gray. It was given by Dr. Whitman to his sister, Mrs. Alice Wisewell, of Rushville, N. Y., on his last visit to the states in 1843. The hair will be framed and given a position in the college chapel alongside of a lock of Mrs. Whitman's hair, presented to the college last year.

In asking for a new trial for his client, William Wicoff, who was recently convicted in Colfax, Attorney J. T. Brown presented an affidavit signed by Robert McNealy, one of the jurors who tried Wicoff, in which he says that he was wholly influenced to return a verdict of guilty by the speech of Prosecuting Attorney Matthews, and that the reference of the prosecuting attorney to the assault on Mrs. Rogers, at Garfield had great influence upon him, and was largely responsible for the verdict of guilty.

Brilliant but innate stage pictures are promised us on the appearance of Jule Walthers in his merry comedy "Side Tracked," at the Vogt, Monday November 15th. Mr. Walthers is so well known to theater goers as the gentleman tramp, that he hardly needs an introduction. His natural method of portraying the wandering Willie has made him world famous, and his play, "Side Tracked," lives because of Mr. Walthers' genius and originality. During the action of the play some high-class vaudeville features will be furnished.

Word was received this morning that Neddy Briggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. M. Briggs of this city, is in a critical condition. About a week ago Mrs. Briggs took the little fellow, who was suffering from inflammatory rheumatism, to the home of her mother in Chehalis, Wash., hoping that the climatic change would improve him. He grew better for a few days after his arrival there, but afterwards began to grow worse, and although the best physicians that could be secured are attending him, they pronounce his chances very poor, as the rheumatism has shifted to the vicinity of his heart, and inflammation has set in in that organ.

Died at Huntington.

Died, at Huntington, Or., Nov. 5th, of congestion of the lungs, Will J. Beezley, after an illness of only a few days.

The funeral services took place at the family residence in Huntington, and was attended by a large circle of friends. The only immediate relatives present were the wife of the deceased and his niece, Miss Julia Smith. The floral tributes were very numerous, the coffin being literally covered with them.

William Beezley was a son of Joseph Beezley, deceased, and M. J. Beezley, who now resides in St. Louis, and has many friends in this city, which was his boyhood's home.

TOOK LEG BAIL.

Marshal Prefers the Freedom of the Hills to the Comforts of Jail.

A man named Jones and another named Marshal were arrested last night charged with larceny of clothing. Constable Hill took them before Justice Filloon this morning for examination. The constable left them for a few minutes to fill out some legal papers, and Marshal took advantage of the opportunity to step outside. He is still outside and probably still stepping. Jones remained and was let go on his own recognizance, the case being postponed until 4 o'clock this afternoon, at which time it will probably be indefinitely continued, unless Marshal should inconsiderately show up. Mr. Roger Sinnott was engaged to defend Marshal, but doesn't see his way clear to do it as things are at present, while Constable Hill, vainly wondering which way Marshal went sees no way to solve the difficulty.

Jones bears a good reputation, and there seems to be no evidence to connect him with the case. Marshal, having taken that remedy known by the homely phrase "leg bail," makes at least a quasi-admission of guilt. Else why should he prefer the freedom of the rolling bunchgrass hills at this inclement period of the year to the home comforts, not mention the luxuries of the county jail? Why expose himself to the danger of having to toil for his daily bread, when so good an opportunity was at hand to have it furnished him, along with beef and mustard, by so genial a gentleman as John Fitzgerald? Why soil his shoes with Wasco county mud during the "sawdust days of the year, when he might be taking his morning exercise on the freshly-scrubbed asphalt of the jail corridor? Why prefer the thankless task of asking for a hand-out, with Thanksgiving turkey already ripening in every farm yard?

But thus it is ever, man's best opportunities are neglected, and Marshal may regret, before the hillsides are whitened again, that he made so serious a mistake when he turned his back on the jail comforts and the kindly ministrations of John Fitzgerald. But he is gone like a borrowed umbrella, never to return, and may an unflinching determination lend strength to his legs, and kindly Fate keep his back pointed this way until he has traveled at least 13,000 miles.

The Catholic Fair.

The fair to be given by the ladies of the Catholic church will commence in the Vogt Opera house Tuesday, November 23d. On that day doors will be open at 7:30 p. m., and on all other days from 2 to 5 p. m. and from 7:30 till the program is ended. On each night a pleasing program consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and impersonations will be rendered.

The admission will be but ten cents, children under 12 years of age with escort going free.

On Wednesday night, Thanksgiving eve, by request of the many patrons of the fair, the committee has arranged that all who desire to do so, may indulge in terpsichorean enjoyment. On this evening gentlemen will be charged fifty cents, ladies free.

As the ladies have a number of beautiful articles to dispose of, chances should be purchased immediately as only those who have chances can profit by the fair and the tickets may be all sold if persons wait too long.

In Honor of Miss Holverson.

The young gentlemen friends of Miss Lizzie Holverson of Salem, who is visiting in this city, gave a dancing party in her honor last night in the cosy K. of P. hall. About thirty couples of the most congenial persons imaginable were present, and the dancing was thoroughly enjoyed. As a surprise to the ladies and a pleasant variation the services of the musicians who are now visiting the city were secured, and the music was perfect. During the evening they favored the guests with several vocal selections, which were greatly appreciated.

Shortly after midnight the dancing ceased, and the following persons seemed delighted with the evening's pleasure: Judge and Mrs Bradshaw, Mr and Mrs A N Varney, Mr and Mrs A J Tolmie, Mrs Hilton, Misses Lizzie Holverson, Virginia Marden, Mary Lay, Nona Roch, Mattie Cushing, Rose Michell, Etta Story, Minnie Lay, Laura Thompson, Annette Michell, Beulah Patterson, Lizzie Schooling, Clara Davis, Georgia Sampson, Maybel Mack, Alice Lyle, Alma Schanno, Myrtle Michell, Mamie Cushing, Messrs G Bonn, J Bonn, G Mays, F W Wilson, J F Hampshire, G A Clarke, Chas Clarke, R H Lonsdale, John Weigel, Fred Weigel, Ferd Dietzel, Frank Cram, A L Gude, Thos Porby, Victor Marden, A McCully, H Parkins, R J Gorman, Lewis Porter, L Heppner, Dr. Logan. Among those who were spectators were Messrs M Moody and John Booth, and Miss Cad Booth.

The Tygh Mill.

Mr. F. S. Gordon who came in from Tygh yesterday, this morning loaded ten wagons with the machinery for his new mill, and this afternoon it is on its way to its destination. The machinery arrived here last night in charge of Mr. J. J. Ross, representative of the Case Manufacturing Co. of Columbus, Ohio, and it certainly is of the very finest quality made. The power for the mill will be furnished by a turbine wheel, which with a seven feet fall will furnish forty-horse power. Mr. Gordon expects to have his mill running in ten days, everything being ready for the placing of the machinery, and when it starts the Tygh Valley mills will undoubtedly produce a brand of flour that will rank with the best.
