AN OPEN RIVER.

In concluding a lengthy editorial on the above subject, yesterday's East Oregonian says:

"If the people of Eastern Oregon and the whole Inland Empire desire an open river, and their interests would be greatly advanced by one, let them join their forces and turn down every man who aspires for public office who will not raise his voice in and out of season for an open river. And right here, pressure should be brought to bear on Portland to force her to join in the movement and march shoulder to shoulder with the people of the Inland Empire for an open river. The East Oregonian is quite confident that those who are physically operating the railroads are not opposed to an 'open river,' but the opposition comes from those who are manipulating their stocks and bonds and are doing their level best to wring as much tribute from the people as is in their power, regardless of the best interests of the railroad properties and the country.

"The salvation of every people lies with themselves. They can drive the manipulators and servile politicians to cover and put such men on guard as will bring about the fulfillment of their desires. They can force the servile newspapers to espouse their cause, as involved in an open river, and make the land ring with indignation and defiance until they secure what they demand. The newspapers of Portland should be the first to take this matter up and present it as it should be, until action is taken that will insure an open river at an early day. Three states are heavily interested in the matter and their development kept in check by the barriers which stand in the way of the Columbia being navigable from Lewiston to the sea. The people of these states should hold themselves in readiness to smash the head of any man or corporation that throws the least obstacle in the way of the attainment of the object desired.

"By a little vigorous work the people of the Inland Empire can have the benefits of an open river inside of five years. But without it, millions of the people's money will be squandered on the project, to be gobbled by the 'traffickers in government,' and twenty years will roll by without an open river."

Already senators and congressmen are gathering in Washington to be present at the opening of congress next month. There is much speculation as to whether the session will be long or short, with the sentiment prevailing that it will be an unusually long one. It is expected that financial matters will come up in such a shape that a hard-fought battle will result. The single-standard element seems determined to force the issue and to settle it, so far as it can be settled by congress. The session will therefore probably continue until the hot weather forces an adjournment.

The New York World, whatever its bad features may be, and it has some very bad ones, is doing good work for the cause of humanity in describing and proving the horrors of the Cuban war. It prints innumerable photographs of Cuban women and children who are in a state of starvation that is only equaled by the famine-stricken Hindoos. It shows that this was but a brutal scheme of Weyler's to depopulate the island, and that the scheme is succeeding. War is at best cruel enough, but when a government like Spain, to accomplish its ends, starves helpless women and children, it is time for the civilized world to suppress it. The first thing congress should do is to look into the matter and take such action as will effectually stop Spain's brutality. War with Spain is preferable to sitting idly by while thousands of innocent people are starving to death almost on our shores.

The game of football is not brutal, it is only bracing. The dispatches today contain an account of a game played Monday at Tiffin, Ohio. One club had a big brauser in it that managed to knock down two of his opponents, and then jumped on their heads. Both victims are seriously injured.

A Neat Gown.

A simple gown, yet handsome, is of fawn canvas, made up on the foundation and bordered on the foot with scroll work of narrow silver braid. The body shows open work squares, worked in gold to match. A high bodice, in the fashionable deep rose lace shot with white, has a series of waved, converging lines of narrow, white insertion, starting from the shoulders and forming points down the front only a few inches apart, embroidered at each end with black and pink silk—certainly a most original bodice. The coloring of this is rather newer than the old pink, for it has a dash of flame color in it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Get Right at Night.

"Let not the sun go down upon your wrath." Let us instantly brush the beginnings of envy, jealousy and hate in our hearts, never allowing the day to close on a bitter feeling. The hour of evening prayer, when we bow at God's feet, should always be a time for getting right everything that may have gone wrong with us during the day. Then every injury should be forgiven when we pray. "Forgive us, as we forgive." Then every spark of envy or jealousy or anger should be quenched, and the love of Christ should be allowed to flood our hearts. We should never allow the sun to go down on our anger.—Detroit Free Press.

The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is sure that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros., of that place, and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to select from, and skilled physicians to answer to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own home at a time when his boy's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of the croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling rough medicine they handle, and that gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

Thousands are Trying It.

In order to prove the great merit of Ely's Cream Balm, the most effective cure for Catarrh and Cold in Head, we have prepared a generous trial size for 10 cents. Get it of your druggist or send 10 cents to

ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y. City.

I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since a boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for catarrh and contains no cocaine, mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents. At druggists or by mail.
