THE GREAT M'EWEN.

This Remarkable Man Will Make This City a Visit.

Professor McEwen's exhibitions of the occult power, of mesmerism and hypnotism, which will be given in the Vogt opera house next week, will undoubtedly edly be instructive, enjoyable and mirth-provoking. Prof. McEwen has displayed his powers in nearly all the principal cities of America, and in no place has he failed in having crowded houses.

P. H. McEwen

Prof. McEwen has hundreds of testimonials from leading professional men all over the country, and there is little doubt that one coming with such recommendations can be other than a first-class artist in his special line. During the time that he performed in Reed's opera house in Salem and Cordway's in Portland, the press and the people went wild over him, and there is little doubt that the same will be the case in our city. His performances are genuine, clean, elevating and wonderful, and are worthy of our very best patronage.

The strength which comes to us from eating nourishing food is better than stimulation, because it is new strength. The health which belongs to a strong body, well nourished by proper food (properly digested), is the only health that is lasting.

The difference between Shaker Digestive Cordial and other medicines is simply that it helps nature to make strength. It does not profess to cure sickness, except as that sickness is a result of weakness caused by food not properly digested.

Shaker Digestive Cordial will relieve the pangs of indigestion, and make thin, sick, weak people as well as if their stomachs had never been out of order.

It is a gentle aid to the digestion of nature's strength-maker, food.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction—Olgaab, Ind. Ter. Chief.

This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and influenza, we have not yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

ENGLISH GOOD ENOUGH.

There is seldom any reason for employing foreign words.

Is there any reason for using a foreign language when the idea can be expressed with equal clearness, brevity, and force in our own Anglo-Saxon? Is there any sense in saying that a man has $1,000 per annum when we mean $1,000 a year? Why should we say that the people of the United States drink on an average every year so many gallons of distilled spirits per capita when we mean so many gallons each, or, we may say, a head—we may add that the words per capita are a solecism, meaning by heads. If we are to use Latin in the premises, we should consult correctness and say per caput.

What earthly reason for calling a popular hymn and tune book "Laudes Domini"? It sometimes happens that there are ideas conveyed by a foreign word which hardly have an equivalent in English. In these cases it is perhaps permissible to borrow the foreign word or phrase. For example, we possibly have no single word which is the equivalent of the French persiflage. That, however, has been adopted into our dictionaries and may be considered an English word of French parentage. But does mauvais honte express anything not conveyed by false shame? And is sang froid anything more than cool blood?

The use of foreign words and sentences is peculiarly inappropriate in inscriptions which are to be read by the plain people. When the friends of the departed Dr. Goldsmith appended their signatures to a round robin begging that the epitaph upon the poet might be in English, and when the czar of literature, with wonted absolutism, said: "An English inscription would be a disgrace to Westminster abbey," he was wrong, as positive people are very apt to be. Of the millions who have read with delight "The Traveler," and the "Deserted Village," and "The Vicar of Wakefield," how small a fraction of one per cent. are those who know aught of any language but English?

When the fathers and mothers, the sisters and sons of the men who died in the war for liberty and union read, with dimmed eyes, upon the monument erected by grateful countrymen the story of the virtues and sufferings of their heroes, it is hard that they should be confronted by a Latin sentence which reminds them of their ignorance of classic tongues. It is possibly well enough to have a Latin or Greek inscription in Memorial hall of Harvard university, for those who read it can look as if they understood it, but what reason for putting over the memorial of Col. Shaw and his black soldiers the Latin motto of the Cincinnati, which mocks his surviving comrades and sons of those who fell at Fort Wagner with their enforced illiteracy? As if to add to the infelicity of the situation, scholars tell us that the inscription is not even good Latin. "Reliquerunt omnia conservare rempublicam" should be "ut conservarent rempublicam." The neighboring monument on the common, erected by the state of Massachusetts to the heroes of the war, bears, fittingly, an inscription that is English throughout.—Philadelphia Press.

FOLDING FURNITURE.

Furnishings of a Bedroom that May Be Packed in a Box.

The old saying about living in a band-box may come to be a reality before another decade, for now the complete furnishings of a sleeping or sitting-room may be packed in a box six feet long by two and one-half wide and a little more than two feet in depth. A clever Englishman is the creator of this folding furniture. With it persons traveling will not be obliged to lament the absence of their own beds and bedding, but may carry such things with them as personal baggage.

One of these boxes contains a wash-stand with tiled back and shelves underneath, a dressing bureau with a swinging mirror, a cane-seated chair and one rug upholstered chair, together with bed, bedding, draperies, a toilet set, and a wardrobe of comfortable size. This furniture is made of well-seasoned hard wood. Each part fits into its place and fastens without the aid of nails or screws. In the dressing bureau drawers, for example, the bottom is drawn out and the sides fold together. What a boon this furniture will be for frequent movers who are never satisfied with one place for any length of time, while the camper out may carry his home with him.

Town Atmosphere.
The amount of sulphurous acid in town air in heavy weather is ten to twenty times that in bright, clear weather; and in fog the proportion is still greater. Freshly fallen rain collected in Manchester showed as much as 70 parts per million of sulphurous acid.

Symbol of Eternity.
The emblemists make the snake a symbol of eternity, forming it into a circle, with its tail in its mouth.

Household Gods.

The Ancient Greeks believed that the Penates were the gods who attended to the welfare and prosperity of the family. They were worshipped as household gods in every home. The household god of today is Dr. King's New Discovery. For consumption, coughs, colds and for all affections of Throat, Chest and Lungs it is invaluable. It has been tried for a quarter of a century and is guaranteed to cure, or money returned. No household should be without this good angel. It is pleasant to take and a safe and sure remedy for old and young. Free bottles at Blakeley & Houghton's drug store. 2

Employment Wanted.
