SATURDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1897

Weather—Tonight and Sunday, snow turning to rain.

In the case of Baldwin vs. the Dalles City, a reply was filed in the circuit court this morning.

A meeting of the Elks will be held at their hall tonight at 8:30. Members are urged to be present.

An expert from M. Born & Co., the great Chicago Merchant Tailors, is at our store today. Come and have your measure taken free of charge. A. C. Giger & Co.

Lutheran services in the basement of the new church tomorrow as follows: Morning services at 11:00, Sunday school at 12:05, and German services at 1:30. There will be no evening service.

In the circuit court today a motion to make the complaint more definite in the case of Covington vs. Winans, was overruled, and J. P. McGowan was made defendant. Time was given until the 11th inst. to file an answer.

Maier & Benton's window contains an oddity today in the shape of what they call an exact representation of the first engine to be used on the "Dawson City and elsewhere railway." It is made entirely of stovepipe, and is quite an ingenious device.

Johnnie Stevens, the proprietor of the 15-Mile house at Dufur, is in the city today. He informed the reporter that a grand masquerade ball will be held in that city on Christmas Eve, and there is no doubt that it will be a success, as the parties in that town always are.

Memorial services will be held at Masonic hall this evening at 7 o'clock in memory of H. A. Baker, who died so suddenly yesterday afternoon. He was an old Mason, also a member of Columbia Chapter, No. 33, of this city. All Masons and members of the Eastern Star are invited to attend.

William Cake, of Portland, attorney for the Standard Oil Co., came up last night to argue the motion for a new trial on the part of the plaintiff, in the case of Chas. Bayard, as administrator of the estate of Perry Watkins, vs. the Standard Oil Co. The motion was argued this morning and taken under advisement by the court.

Today being Saturday, the school children are having jolly times skating on the sloughs and coasting down the cut. The sloughs are alive with people, of all kinds and sizes, and the ice seems to be sufficiently thick, since we have not heard of anyone getting a ducking, while the cut and other inclines suitable for coasting are crowded with little folks in the height of their glee.

The young men of the Dufur high school met in the upper rooms of the Turner building, on Main street, Thursday and organized a literary society, with sixteen charter members, officered as follows: President, R. D. O'Brien; vice-president, Brinton Slusher; secretary, Tully Vanderpool; treasurer, Herbert Mulkins; sergeant-at-arms, Orrin Moore. The society is named "The Dufur School-boys' Literary Society."

Chas. Becht, who formerly kept the California Wine House near this place, was moving to North Yakima a few days ago to open a like business there. Among other belongings which he was transporting overland by means of a freight team were five barrels of wine. When going through the Yakima reservation he was held up by the authorities, who informed him that he was violating the law by bringing liquor into the reservation, and they proceeded to empty his five barrels of wine, informing him that he should feel satisfied that they did not prosecute him for his violation of the law.

HENRY A. BAKER.

Remains to Be Taken East—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

The remains of Henry A. Baker, who was killed by falling from a crib of the pile-driver in the Mill creek basin yesterday afternoon, will be sent to his old home in New Jersey tonight.

Mr. Baker was 65 years, 7 months and 10 days old, and came to this place from Denver, Colo., about three years ago. He was a leading member of the Masonic order, and organized the chapter of the Eastern Star in this city. He was a member of the engineer department of the O. R. & N., and was looked to as an honest, straightforward man, by all who knew him.

He leaves three daughters and one son to mourn his loss, they being Mrs. Cora D. Miller and Mrs. Jennie A. Barrett of Portland; Mrs. Lillian W. Tipple, whose address we did not learn, and Fred A. Baker of Newark, New Jersey.

The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury:

THE DALLES, Dec. 4, 1897.
We, the jury impaneled by W. H. Butts, coroner of Wasco county, Or., to inquire into the cause of the death of a person whose body is now before us, find as follows:

That the name of the deceased was H. A. Baker, of the age of about 65 years, and at the time of his death he was pile inspector and had charge of pile inspection for the O. R. & N. Co. on its piling being placed for a bridge over Mill creek in Dalles City, Oregon.

That just a moment prior to his death he was standing on a cribbing constructed of two ties, about 150 feet north of the main line of said company, and fell therefrom, the cause of such fall being at this time unknown; and from the evidence we are not able to find any cause for such fall except unavoidable accident, and we therefore conclude that the cause of the death of said deceased was an unavoidable accident, and that no one is at fault or responsible for said death.

Death of Mr. Stegman.

Deitrich Stegman passed away peacefully last night about 10 o'clock at the Umahilla House in this city.

The deceased was 77 years and 9 months old, and came to this country from Brahman, Germany, seven years ago. Since that time he has lived with his son's family near Centerville, Wash, until recently, when he moved to the home of another son, John Stegman, who lives on Mill creek, near this city. His death was caused more by the weakness of old age than by any disease. A short time ago he contracted a severe cold, which helped to hasten the end.

He leaves four children—one daughter and three sons, his wife having died previous to his coming to this country. His children are: D. H. Stegman of Centerville; John Stegman of The Dalles; August Stegman of Hart Po., Chester county, Calif., and Mrs. Mary Flagger of Brahman, Germany.

The remains will be taken to Centerville, where the funeral will take place Monday at 12 o'clock from the Christian church of that place.

Mr. Stegman was an active, faithful member of the German Lutheran church, and died, as he lived, a true Christian.

Ladies of the Maccabees.
Eudocia S. Moffat, deputy supreme commander of the Ladies of the Maccabees, is in The Dalles to organize a hive of that order here, and will meet the ladies who are interested at the small E. of P. hall this (Saturday) evening at 8 o'clock. All ladies, whether members of the Maccabees' families or not, are eligible and invited.

The Ladies of the Maccabees is the only secret beneficiary order managed and maintained exclusively by ladies, giving life, total disability and old age benefits for $500, $1000 or $2000 on the graded assessment plan and at ratings as low as those offered to men by similar successful beneficial organizations. The certificates are, and always will be, worth their face value. The order now numbers 80,000 women, organized in thirty-nine states and territories and Canada. Oregon has about 700 members, and has received $8000 in death benefits already paid.

Mrs. Moffat's address while here is room 37, Chapman building.

There is more than artistic merit in our box papers for Christmas. They are beautiful and desirable, and have quality which makes them welcome gifts, and style which mark them above everything on the market. You get a better value and your friend gets a better gift.
