B. F. Drake, former proprietor of the Salem iron works, made an assignment last Saturday for the benefit of his creditors, naming F. E. Rizer as assignee. The assets are given as amounting to $1376, and the liabilities to $4213.

Nothing has been heard of William Teller, who left on a hunting trip near Tongue point a few days ago, says the Astorian. His skiff was picked up near Knappton and was brought over by the launch Triton yesterday. It is thought certain that he was drowned.

Earl Wheeler, the cattle "rustler" who was arrested on Lower Powder river last October, after a hot battle with a sheriff's posse, was found guilty, in Baker City, last Friday, of stealing a cow. In the case of Charles Sally, charged with shooting at Ida Gilmore, the grand jury returned "not a true bill."

Yesterday afternoon Richard Carlyle, who had his preliminary hearing in the justice court for larceny of a dog, was bound over under $200 bonds to appear before the grand jury, and as he has not as yet secured a bondsmen, he is at present in the county jail. This seems to have been purely a piece of spite work. He had a grudge against Dick Brookhouse, the owner of the dog, and in order to get what he probably thought would be satisfaction, he went into Brookhouse's yard, put a rope on the dog, tied it down in a canyon near by and killed it. Before he gets out of this trouble he will in all probability come to the conclusion that his spite was carried too far, as he is charged with a penitentiary offense and has a good chance of being convicted.

A private letter received from Dr. Sutherland, who is at present in Albuquerque, N. M., states that he is getting along nicely and in a short time will move to the sanitarium in Asheville, N. C., where he will be under the care of a specialist. His many friends in this city hope to see him back in the near future, completely cured.

Rev. M. A. Williams, the pioneer minister of the Rogue river valley, died at his home two miles south of Medford, Sunday. He was 86 years of age, and had lived in Southern Oregon since the early fifties. He was one of the best-known pioneers of this part of the state, and was one of Jackson county's most honored citizens. The funeral services will take place from the Presbyterian church at Jacksonville today.

Jack Splawn drove 1000 goats to winter quarters on the Nelson place, near the Natchez bridge, last week, says the Yakima Herald. They are Angoras, and every one is a beauty. Early in the spring they will be taken into the Klompke country, and marketed there, this stock having been selected for the venture because of its hardy nature. On the way they will either carry packs or draw sleds.

William Herbert was on Wednesday acquitted by a jury in Colfax of the charge of stealing a gelding. He was first charged with horsetealing, but the information was pronounced fatally defective by Judge McDonald, and a new one was drawn up. The acquittal of Herbert is said to have been due to the presence in the courtroom of his beautiful wife and pretty baby. He was re-arrested on the charge of attempted robbery, and is still in jail.

William Guess O'Neil, father of Walter and George O'Neil, of Prineville, in Crook county, and C. C. O'Neil, of Muddy, died a week ago last Sunday at the residence of his son, George, at the ripe age of 85 years and 3 months, lacking one day. Death resulted from the infirmities incident to old age, and has been expected almost any time since a general breaking down of the deceased's health, about three months ago. Mr. O'Neil was born in Green county, Tennessee, September 6, 1812.

A lively runaway occurred in the East End this morning. Wood Bros.' cart was standing near the depot when the horse became frightened and started to run. At the time the driver was standing alongside of the cart and as he held on to the lines he was dragged to Worleys corner, at which place he succeeded in getting into the cart and stopped the horse, a few blocks this side of where the runaway began. Quite an amount of meat was in the cart at the time, which was scattered along the line, but outside of this no serious damage was done.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' AID SOCIETY.

Mr. Gardner in the City in Behalf of That Charitable Organization.

W. T. Gardner, superintendent of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Portland, is in the city today transacting business in behalf of the society. He brought up one little homeless girl, which was adopted into the family of Mr. Matthew Thorburn of Kingsley, and before returning he intends to call upon, or inquire concerning the twelve children which are adopted into families in this section, and see that they are treated right, and that they want for nothing.

During the last five years over twenty homeless children were taken from this county, and at present nearly all of them have good homes. Among them was the little Gibson girl, whose parents were opium fiends and lived out by the company ice house. She is adopted into a family in Portland, and is getting along nicely, being an exceptionally bright little girl.

Dollie Howard, whose mother was a woman of bad repute in this section, is in Southern Oregon at present, and is in good hands, who will train her up in a virtuous manner. The three Graham children, whose mother is dead and their father unable to support them, are also in good circumstances, the girls being adopted by people who will take the best of care of them, while the boy is at the Indian school at Chemawa. One of the Wolforth children is taken on indenture by parties living near the home, while the 5-year-old boy is still at the home, and on account of his robust appearance is known by everyone as "Punch."

Mr. Gardner will take six children back to the home with him this trip. The three Atkins boys, who are some of those who were a short time ago arrested for stealing articles from the stores and other places around town, and the three Howland children, whose mother is dead and whose father was sent to the penitentiary a short time ago.

They will be taken good care of while in the home, and as soon as possible will be given to families who wish to adopt them.

While here Mr. Gardner will accept subscriptions from anyone who is charitably inclined and who desires to give something, no matter how small, to help the home, and anyone giving money to aid such a cause may consider the same well spent.

THE ELKS BENEFIT.

Social as Well as a Financial Success—Some Laughable Features.

Probably the largest audience, with the exception of Saturday night, that has attended Prof. McEwen's entertainment since he was in the city was at the benefit last night. Every seat was sold and a number were forced to stand, as seats were not sufficient to accommodate all. The entertainment was exceptionally good, and the class was the largest of any evening, there being about sixteen good subjects.

Among the new features introduced the most side-splitting were the love scene and the nursing scene. In the former the professor put three of his subjects in a hypnotic state, and then placing a broom alongside of each, made them believe that they were sitting by the side of their best girls, and the scene that followed would have made the garden scene in "Romeo and Juliet" fade into insignificance. The evening's entertainment was closed by the nursing scene, which was undoubtedly one of the most laughable and ridiculous that was introduced during the entire time that the professor was here. The net receipts of the benefit were $101, half of which goes to the Salem lodge and half to the lodge at this place. It is rumored that Cascade Lodge intends donating their receipts to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society in Portland, which goes to show the charitable nature of the society and the great object for which it was formed. While Professor McEwen was here he enlightened many upon the truths of hypnotism and mesmerism, and cast out many prejudices against the same. If he ever returns to this place he may be sure of a warm reception by our citizens. The Snipes-Kinnersly Drug Co. have just received a fine line of Japanese ware suitable for Christmas presents. dc13-1w
