An Old Pioneer.

Mrs. Eleanor Clarno, aged 71 years, died at the old family home on John Day, on Tuesday morning, December 7th. Oa the evening before she retired to her room and when the morning came was found dead in her bed, having apparently died very peaceably. Mrs. Clarno, with her husband who still survives her, settled in 1865 on the place Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., speaking of on which she died, and has resided Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last there ever since. Over thirty years ago winter his wife was attacked with La Mrs. Clarno professed religion, and ever Grippe, and her case grew so serious since has been a devoted christain and that physicians of Cowden and Pana member of the M. No Worse Than Nice. The attacks upon the morality of Monte Carlo are made by its rivals for popular favor, if we may believe Henry Labouchere. The English radical says: "Every year the number of visitors to ing the county charges by the week for Monte Carlo increases and every year the ensuing year. All bids must be more desperate efforts are made by its filed with the clerk on or before the 5th rivals along the Riviera to prejudice the day of January, 1898, at 9 o'clock a. m. place with the British public. That Monte Carlo is a paradise in a moral and all bids. A. M. KELSAY, sense I am not going to suggest. Every man of the world knows that, like other places entirely devoted to luxury and pleasure, society there is not exactly an assembly of saints. But that Monte Carlo is any worse than other pleasure resorts of a similar character I emphatically deny. As to the results of the gumbling everyone who has been behind the scenes knows that infinitely more mischief is done in the gambling hells of Nice every season than at the tables of Monte Carlo, and I doubt whether even Nice, which is in many respects a sink of iniquity, is any worse than Ostend has been during the last few seasons."
