A Kansas City man who was married recently, has relatives in St. Louis named Damm. At the wedding, among the congratulatory missives read, was a telegram from St. Louis saying: "Accept the congratulations of the whole Damm family."

H. S. Turner, of the Dufur Dispatch, is in the city today, attending to business matters. He says that the people of Dufur are fully as interested in bowling as they are in this city. His clubrooms have a good attendance, and it is a wonder that some one did not think of building club rooms in that town long ago.

On the evening of December 24th "The South Before the War" will be put on at the Vogt opera house in this city. This play has been well received in every city in the country, and comes well recommended by the press and the people. It will be here on Christmas eve, which will give everyone an opportunity to spend the occasion in the merriest kind of a way, since it is very laughable throughout.

The work of putting the furnace into the new Lutheran church building is about done, and it will be but a short time until it will be ready to receive the furniture, which has already been ordered. After the furniture arrives it will have to be re-painted, which, owing to the condition of the weather at present, will take some time. About February 15th, at the very latest date, this church will be ready for dedication.

Joseph Knox of Hood River is in the city today. He informs us that a new road is to be run from Tucker's mill south, intersecting the old road at Lancia's place, and leading into the Mt. Hood country to Cloud Cap Inn. By this road several bad hills will be avoided and it will make a difference of several miles in distance, making it easier to reach the Inn from Hood River. As much encouragement is offered, there is no doubt that the road will be completed before the summer's traffic begins.

One of A. M. Williams' windows is dressed in a very appropriate Christmas attire. The shepherds are represented herding their flocks on the mountains, and above is the angel informing them of the birth of the Savior. The background is draped with a beautiful display of handkerchiefs, while the angel, the shepherds, and in fact everything in the window, except the sheep, are neatly attired in the same articles. Mr. Jensen, the artist who arranged the window, is very original in his ideas, and he uses them to a good advantage.

The small boys and girls are exceptionally lucky, since today is Saturday and in order to enjoy the coasting they are not forced to play hockey from school. We notice one thing, and that is that this coasting proposition is something like the circus deal, where older people who want to see the show, go in order to gratify the desires of the children, as they express it, when they are really going for their own benefit. So it is with coasting; if they want to enjoy this diversion they say they go to see that the little folks do not get hurt.

L. J. Adams, brother-in-law of Al Coolidge, Jr., recently killed by the Van Pelts, returned to Salem yesterday from Gold Beach, Curry county. He was there a few days, looking after property interests, and was accompanied by Joseph Cavanaugh. They report the Van Pelts are not and have not been confined in jail. On reaching Gold Beach at 10 o'clock Sunday night, December 5, Adams and Cavanaugh were met at the hotel door by the Van Pelts. It was found that the six Van Pelts and Hughes, charged with the killing of young Coolidge, are stopping at the hotel, at the expense of Curry county, which is $5 per week each.

GERMAN EMBASSY'S INQUIRY.

For the Antecedent of Paul Franz de Rohan.

The Imperial German embassy at Washington addressed a letter to Governor Lord, making inquiry as to the "record and antecedents of the person styling himself Paul Franz de Rohan, who is believed by the German authorities to be identical with the swindler who appeared about two years ago at Tacoma and Portland, where he styled himself a bishop, and subsequently served a term in jail at Astoria.

It is so long ago since the bogus bishop operated here that the police have altogether lost sight of him, and they are at the present moment in no position to furnish any information concerning this man, beyond that which is of notorious public record. That he at some time must have studied for the Catholic clergy is an indisputable fact, else he could not have so successfully imposed on Archbishop Gross and lesser officials of the Catholic church.

He was a man of superior education, striking personality and a plausibility of manner which conspired to infuse confidence in his victims. But the most mysterious phase in connection with his career, when his learning and natural attributes are considered, is that his rascalities were of the petty larceny order, whereas he had all the requisites to render him successful as a confidence operator of the highest order.

It is intimated that this bogus priest belongs to a noble German family, and that at one time he was an officer in the German army. But what prompted him to leave the Fatherland and come to this country in the guise of a priest cannot be ascertained.

However, the fact that the German embassy is manifesting so much interest in the so-called Paul Franz de Rohan, as to institute inquiries respecting him, indicates that he is a person of more importance than he appeared to be here, or possibly that Kaiser Wilhelm's authorities may have more use for him than had the Americans.

In the trial of Allen Logan in Dallas last week, on the charge of murdering Enoch Sylvester, the head of the dead man was produced in court. The prosecution secured identification of the gruesome piece of evidence, and showed the jury fractures in the back part of the skull sufficient to cause death. The defense, however, produced as witnesses three of the physicians who had been present at the post-mortem, and established that the careful examination these physicians had made with special reference to establish the fact of whether or not the blow delivered by Logan had fractured the skull, and each swore positively that at the post-mortem no such fractures were to be found. The head turned out to be a boomerang for the prosecution, and it probably contributed to the verdict in Logan's favor.

The general admission to the entertainment, "Cradle Songs of Nations," will be 25 cents; reserved seats 35 cents.
