A Former Dalles Boy Married.

The People's Advocate of Colfax has the following to say concerning the marriage of a former Dalles young man, whom his friends here will join in congratulating:

"Chauncey H. Moore and Miss Flora M. Smith were married Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. R. Barroll, in this city, Rev. H. P. James officiating. Only the relatives of the high contracting parties were present. The bride was becomingly robed in a dress of white organdy trimmed with lace and ribbons, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. During the evening the happy couples were serenaded by the Colfax band, of which Mr. Moore is a member. The groom is Colfax's popular grocery and commission merchant, and the bride has made friends of all who have met her since coming to Colfax from Des Moines, Iowa, a year since."

The Excelsior Dramatic Company.

"Hazel Kirke" was put on in elegant shape by the Excelsior Dramatic Co. Saturday night. All the actors were well adapted to their parts, and it was with difficulty that the most hardened could refrain from shedding tears over Hazel's misfortune and the sad plight into which her obstinate father finds himself thrown.

Tonight they will put on "Ticket of Leave Man," and as it is well worth seeing we hope that it will be liberally patronized by our townspeople. The seats will be 50 cents in any part of the house, and persons desiring good seats should secure them as soon as possible.

Business Announcement.

I take pleasure in announcing to my friends and patrons that George H. Dufur has this day associated himself with me in the business heretofore conducted by me. The new firm will hereafter be known as Dufur & Dufur, and transact all business under said name. Our aim will be in the future, as it has been mine in the past, to give entire satisfaction in all matters brought to us, and to treat each and everyone alike.

I desire to thank my many friends and customers for their liberal patronage in the past, and solicit a continuance of the same with the new firm in the future.

Dated this 27th of December, 1897.

Respectfully,

D. S. DUFUR

Nearly all of them become very fond of it. many necessary services, I desire to express my heartfelt thanks. I shall always remember you kindly and gratefully. LAWRENCE NOLAN.

Gowns for Warm Days.

The present is undoubtedly a season of lace, ribbons and fluff effects. Black lace over colored silk is once more in vogue, and the organdies and transparent lawns are sufficient to tempt the most austere of women to extravagance.

A favorite style shows a skirt formed by two full knife platings worn over a silk slip. The greater number of bodices show the bolero idea, and the variety of these little additions to the toilet is almost bewildering.

Women of wealth who have stores of costly lace are having priceless shawls made over, or draped, into the popular style. Less fortunate ones have the opportunity to buy lovely garnitures ready made for a small sum.

Ribbons are seen in profusion. Long sash ends fall over the skirts and bows adorn the belts in a most fascinating fashion. Coquettish one-sided effects are noticeable and allow an opportunity for personal skill and preference. Chicago Record.

Why He Said His Prayers.

Prayer was the topic in a certain Sunday school class in Syracuse on a recent Sunday. One little boy who had felt very smart during the class hour was asked if he prayed every morning. "I do in vacation time," he answered. "How is it you don't do it the rest of the time?" asked the teacher. "Oh, 'cause when there's school we pray in the school in the mornings." "Well," asked the teacher, again, "don't you think there's more need of praying in the morning than at night?" "No," was the reply, " 'cause at night you have awful dreams."

Excellent Reply.

One day, shortly before Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee, one of her royal daughters remarked anxiously: "Mamma, it will tire you to bow for all those hours on jubilee day!" "I have bowed to my people for 60 years," was the reply, "and I shall not let that tire me on jubilee day."

Lady Detectives.

An official of the French detective department says that numbers of ladies well known in Parisian society do not hesitate to offer their services as detectives on condition that they are paid. Some of them, in fact, receive pay varying from $150 to 250 a month.

GOOD SHOOTING UPTOWN.

It Was Years Aback and the Spot Was the Treasury Building. "Some years ago," says an old gunner, "according to the Washington Star, 'I had fine sport in pigeon shooting on Fifteenth and F streets, north-west. I do not wonder you look surprised. I was employed in the treasury at the time—a little before the war—and the pigeons that roosted on the cornice and about the capitals of the colonnade had multiplied, and they were so numerous as to inconvenience the employees. To those particularly who were in the upper stories of the building they were an intolerable nuisance. The superintendent of the building secured from the mayor a suspension of the law prohibiting the use of firearms within the city limits so as to allow gunning about the building before seven o'clock in the morning by such persons as he should designate. I having had the reputation of being a good shot and with a mouth set for a pigeon pie dinner secured permission to shoot. One morning's shooting was enough for me so far as the bird pie dinner was concerned, for some of the birds were so aged and tough that hide and feathers were too much for the lead; and many of those killed who found their way to kitchens were too much for the teeth. The sport was kept up for several days, more to the benefit of the department in contracting the circulation of the birds than for the pleasure of eating the game secured and thousands were slain."
