There will be no evening service at the Congregational church Sunday on account of union service in behalf of the Crittenden Refuge Home at the Methodist church.

Passers-by on Second street have been attracted by the neat and cleanly manner in which the Prize Medal, Guarantee and Rose Queen cigars are being made by S. F. Fouts.

The Pulse of New York has been played in the leading opera houses all over the country and has drawn large houses. Don't let the opportunity pass of seeing it at the Vogt Monday night.

On Saturday, New Year's day, a shooting match for beef, chickens and turkeys will be held on the beach. A. Y. Marsh will have charge of the shooting, which will commence at 10 o'clock.

The ladies of the Good Intent Society are doing a rushing business in selling pies and cakes and other sweets at the New York store today. Frank French has, we understand, made a contract to buy in all they have left, but judding from the way the good things are going, Frank will have to go hungry on New Years if he depends on what is left.

One of the most complete maps of Alaska and parts of the Northwest Territory ever issued was shown to us today. It was made under the supervision of Robert A. Habersham, civil engineer. It was compiled from the latest charts of explorers and the most recent information, and is something that everyone interested in Alaska will certainly enjoy studying.

Tomorrow being New Year's day, no paper will be issued. The CHRONICLE wishes its many patrons the happiest of new years, and hopes they will make and keep all kinds of good resolutions. We hope further that all the good acts which they have performed during the past year will come before them in bold relief, like the great American turkey which they will probably enjoy at the midday meal, and that their misdeeds will disappear, like the same turkey as it goes out of sight to satisfy the desires of the inner man.

I. P. Joles is in from his mine on Spanish Gulch in Grant county today. He brought with him about $100 in course gold, which he says he got out with a rocker in eighteen days. In one day he took out fifteen dollars, which was the best days work he did while on the claim. They have their ditch completed and he is in the city after pipe and other appliances for a giant, which he hopes to have ready in the early spring, as soon as the snow thaws, so that they will have sufficient water. He does not think it advisable for people to rush into this section, as the small mineral belt is all taken up and they would find very few claims worth anything that are not already taken up.

A BAD SLIDE.

One Man Killed and Two Seriously Injured.

A slide in which one man lost his life and two were seriously injured, occurred near tunnel No. 3, on the O. R. and N. yesterday.

The man who was killed was John Joice, a laborer about 55 years of age. He was working with some other men when the rocks fell, and it seems that as he was stooping over some of the rocks struck him on the back of head, fracturing his skull and inflicting injuries from which he died instantly. He was dug out as soon as possible, but before the rocks were removed from his body he was dead.

The injured men were Tom Corrol and S. Malcom. They were brought to this city on a special and Dr. Doane was called to attend to their injuries. He found that no bones were broken, but they received serious bruises from falling rock. They were sent to Portland this morning for treatment.

An inquest was held over the remains of Joice this morning and the following verdict was rendered:

THE DALLES, OR., Dec. 31, 1897. We, the jury, empaneled by J. M. Filloon, acting coroner of Wasco county, Or., to sit in an inquest upon the facts surrounding the death of a person whose body is now before us, after having listened to the testimony given by the different witnesses called and sworn, find as follows:

That the name of the deceased was John Joice, a native of Ireland, of the age of about fifty or sixty years, and so far as we are able to learn was a single man at the time of his death and probably has a sister living in San Francisco, California; that the accident which caused his death happened on the 30th day of December, 1897, at or near tunnel No. 3, on the line of the O. R. & N. Co. in Wasco county, Or.; that the accident which caused his death was due to rocks falling from a bluff under which he was working, and a rock or rocks falling on him and causing instant death.

The Tournament Ended.

Last night the bowling tournament ended, with twelve games out of the sixteen in favor of the Umatilla House bowlers. In the eight games played on the club alleys the club team won but one, while in the last eight, played on the Umatilla House alleys, they won three, which goes to prove that they can do better bowling on the outside alleys than they can on their own or that there was a marked improvement in their playing during the tournament, which is very likely to be the reason, since the members of the club team practiced more and with greater care than they had heretofore.

The results for the four games played last night were as follows:

Club	Umatilla
214.....	First Game.....248
263.....	Second Game.....229
207.....	Third Game.....209
216.....	Fourth Game.....249

We hope that this will not be the last, as well as the first, tournament. The club boys do not feel discouraged in the least over their defeat, and would readily accept another challenge at any time.

aim has been to give as much useful information as possible in a limited space. With this in view, where noun, adjective and verb are all obviously connected in meaning, usually one only has been inserted. The volume will thus be found to contain the meaning of very many more words than it professes to explain.

To those who already have a dictionary, this book will commend itself because it is compact, light and convenient; to those who have no dictionary whatever, it will be invaluable. One may be secured by writing to the above concern, mentioning this paper, and enclosing a two-cent stamp.
