FAMINE IS IMPENDING

Food Supply at Circle City Almost Exhausted.

PROMPT ACTION IS A NECESSITY

Relief May be Sent From Fort Yukon—Joaquin Miller Arrived at Dawson Badly Frozen.

SEATTLE, Jan. 11.—A letter from Dawson City, dated December 9th, says: Advice from Circle City as late as November 12th, state that the steamers P. D. Weare and Bella on their way down were frozen in there. Two or three hundred people who started from Dawson for Fort Yukon, were stranded there, but most of them procured small boats and continued on their way to Fort Yukon, which is ninety miles distant.

Circle City, owing to the unexpected increase in population, was almost void of grub. Of the 127 residents of that camp, nearly all were calculating on sending to Fort Yukon for supplies. Briefly, were it not for the supplies at Fort Yukon, which to a certain extent are an unknown quantity, the situation at Circle City would be far more desperate than at Dawson.

Mr. Miller brings a story of great suffering along the river by parties who were caught on the ice on their way to Dawson, but who had not yet reached Circle City.

He reports also the death of Charles Anderson, a young man from Brooklyn, N. Y., who accidentally shot himself while in a boat, about 50 miles above Circle City.

Over Dalton Trail.
TACOMA, Jan. 11.—It is definitely announced by A. C. Bratnober that the Rothschilds would build a railroad into the Yukon country over the Dalton trail. His brother, Henry, of San Francisco, who is the western representative of the Rothschilds, has the enterprise in charge. The road will be about 400 miles long, the cost of construction and equipment being estimated at $8,000,000.

Fell Five Hundred Feet.
HERMISTILLO, Mex., Jan. 11.—By an accident in the Creston mine at Minas Prietas, eight men were hurled from a height of 500 feet to the bottom of the shaft. Five were killed outright, and of the remaining three it is not expected that any will survive. At the time of the accident one cage was being lowered and the other hoisted. At the 500-foot level the downward cage struck, and the engineer having no knowledge of the trouble, continued to lower the 4-inch wire cable. It coiled on the cage, toppling it over, and the men were sent to the bottom.

The Rules of Football.
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Communications have been sent out this week to football associations of the big universities, asking them to send a representative to the conference at which the revision of the playing rules is to be discussed. The football meeting is to be in this city in the University Athletic Club. Just what changes are likely to be made in the playing rules it is too early to say, and doubtless there will be some weighty discussions on the subject at the various universities.

Victory is Assured.
COLUMBUS, Jan. 11.—The senate and house both adjourned until 10:00 tomorrow. A resolution was adopted by both houses today to meet in joint convention tomorrow at noon to cast votes for senator.

McKisson had a majority of two in the senate today, and Hanna a majority of three over all in the house. There was no election de jure, but there was de facto. There is nothing to prevent changes tomorrow from the votes of today, but none is expected, as the canvass has been so close and thorough.

Murderer Lawton Located.
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 11.—Sheriff Frank T. Johnson is in receipt of a telegram to the effect that Tom Lawton, one of the gang that murdered old man Tullis, in 1878, has been located in Idaho, and can be arrested as soon as requisition papers are received. Lawton is the third of the Tullis murderers, of which Troy Dye and Edward Anderson, both of whom were hanged for the crime, were the others. In their confession the latter two implicated Lawton, but he made his escape.

The Queen's Telephoneist.
A new office has just been inaugurated at Windsor castle in connection with the household of the queen. It is that of court telephoneist, and the responsibility of the position may be conceived when it is borne in mind that the queen does not herself speak over the telephone or place her ear to the receiver, deputing that to the newly appointed court telephoneist, who, accordingly, becomes initiated into every secret and confidential matter that passes over the wire between her majesty and her ministers and officials. The court telephoneist, who will rank with Mr. Hiley, the court telegraphist, is a son of the late Gen. Sir George Maude, known to so many American tourists in London as superintendent of the royal stables and crown equerry. Young Mr. Maude, who is a relative of Lord Montait, has for some time past been attached in a secretarial capacity to the office of Sir Fleetwood Edwards, keeper of her majesty's private purse. The latter's colleague, Sir Arthur Bigge, private secretary to the queen, by the by, has become such an enthusiast about the bicycle that he insists on using it even for conveying himself a few hundred yards from one part of the castle to the other.—London Letter.

The "Ears" of Insects.
The naturalists have not as yet been able to answer the burning question: "Can bees hear?" but their researches along that line have resulted in many queer discoveries. Simply because a bee has no ears on the sides of his head it is no sign whatever that he is wholly without some sort of an auditory nerve. This last assertion is proved by the fact that grasshoppers, crickets, locusts and flies all have their ears situated in queer places—under the wings, on the middle of the body and even on the sides of their legs. The common house fly does his hearing by means of some little rows of corpuscles, which are situated on the knobbed threads which occupy the place which are taken up by the hind wings of other species of insects. The garden slug or shell-less snail has his organs of hearing situated on each side of his neck, and the common grasshopper has them on each of his broad, flat thighs. In some of the smaller insects they are at the bases of the wings, and in others on the bottom of the feet.
