Today the weather forms a very noticeable contrast to those bright sunny days which we have been enjoying during almost the entire winter. The rain is occasionally pattering on the roofs, the dark clouds hang over us on every side, while the mud seems to increase momentarily. On the whole, it makes a person think he is in webfoot.

At the request of a number of the congregation who attended services at the Congregational church Sunday morning, January 11th, Rev. W. C. Curtis will, tomorrow evening, repeat the sermon preached on that occasion. The subject of the sermon is "Deal Fairly With Thy Master." The choir is preparing special music for the occasion, and the friends of Mr. Curtis bespeak for him a large audience.

A large audience attended the Cedar Circle entertainment in Fraternity hall last night. A well-arranged and creditably-rendered program opened the evening's proceedings, after which the bowling alleys were started up. Those who did not care to roll enjoyed a delightful dance, and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves in a marked degree. Refreshments were served during the evening, and much credit is due the ladies of the Circle who did so much to make the evening so enjoyable for all present. It was a financial success, as well as a social one, as about $18 was cleared and turned into the treasury of the Circle.

The mothers' meetings, which are being held in many places by wide-awake women, are of great assistance to mothers in training their children. Many an earnest, conscientious woman feels that the greatest impediment between her and her ideal mother lies in want of thought and the right kind of stimulus to such an end. It is in this, as in any pursuit of man or woman—"want of thought more than want of heart" causes errors and misdeeds. To meet this evident need of women, mothers' meetings have arisen. This department of work in our city holds its meetings the 1st Friday of each month. The meeting yesterday at the Congregational church was well attended and full of interest. The public school children sang, very prettily and quite effectively two songs, and rendered one recitation. Miss Cheese read a very earnest, thoughtful paper on "The Mother's Influence."

JACOB FRITZ DEAD.

The Old Gentleman Passes Peacefully Away Friday Evening.

At about 6 o'clock yesterday evening Jacob Fritz, an old and respected pioneer, passed away at his residence in this city, surrounded by members of his family and a few of his many intimate friends.

Mr. Fritz has been suffering from diabetes for several months, but until a few days ago hopes of his recovery were entertained. At that time a change for the worse came, and on account of his advanced age and the seriousness of the attack, all hope fled and his children were telegraphed for. Everything that medical aid could do to prolong his life until they reached his bedside was done, but in spite of this he grew gradually worse and passed away before they arrived.

Mr. Fritz was 70 years old, being born in Germany Oct. 14, 1828, and coming to this country when quite young. He came to this coast with Grant's regiment in 1852, and was one of the few survivors of that regiment. He served in the army at Vancouver barracks and afterwards at Walla Walla. Later he came to this place, and has since made it his home. For a number of years after the soldiers were withdrawn from Fort Dalles he had charge of the garrison buildings. In 1875 he entered the employ of the O. S. N. Co., and since that time has been in charge of the commissary department of this company and the O. R. & N.

He was married in Vancouver in 1856 to Sarah A. Collins, and their married life was blessed with ten children, seven of whom survive him—Louis and John of this place, Charles of Boise City, Idaho, Mrs. Agnes Baldwin of Portland, Mrs. Fiaschutz of Denver, Mrs. Knight and Mary Fritz of this place.

Mr. Fritz figures among the pioneers of Oregon, and having lived so many years in The Dalles, seemed to be a landmark which was almost inseparably connected with its history. He was one of those affable, kind-hearted men, who always have a kind word and friendly smile for everyone they meet. Those of our readers whose childhood days were spent in The Dalles will call to mind the pleasant words of Mr. Fritz as he came to and from his work and stopped to speak to the children playing along the streets. He was a friend alike to old and young, and beloved by all.

The funeral will take place from the Catholic church at 10 a. m. Monday. All friends of the family are invited to attend.

Fusion Meetings.

A large number of delegates from the Silver Republican, Populist and Democratic parties are in the city today. The Silver Republicans called a meeting at 2 p. m., which was attended by delegates from all three parties. It seems to be their aim to appoint three delegates from each party to hold a joint meeting to decide as to the candidates who will serve in the next campaign. Their en-
