On account of the wires being down between this place and Portland on the long distance telephone line today, no bulletin has been received. No communication can be held over the line with Portland until it is repaired. It is thought that the trouble is below Troutdale.

A house on the ranch of S. F. Branson, near Long Creek in Grant county, was destroyed by fire last week. It was occupied by a Chinese shepherd, and in some unknown manner the building caught fire and the flames were beyond control when discovered. All the contents of the building were saved.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Childers took place from the Christian church today. Rev. Boltz, pastor of the church, preached an extended and appropriate sermon, after which the procession, which contained numerous friends and the relatives of the deceased, wound its way to her last resting place.

Bishop Earl Cranston will be in the city on Friday evening to assist the ladies of the Good Intent society of the Methodist church, in their jubilee service. At the close of the jubilee service the ladies will tender Bishop and Mrs. Cranston a farewell reception. All members of the congregation and friends will be welcome.

This morning sixty head of splendid beef cattle belonging to the Dr. Kesner band, which were purchased by Charles Butler some time ago, were shipped to Portland on the Dalles City, and from there they will be sent to Port Townsend. It is the intention of Mr. Butler to butcher them, and after freezing ship them to Skaguay and other Alaska points.

George W. and S. M. Budgett and J. E. Fuller were in the city yesterday. These gentlemen are interested in the Ochoco mines, and left for that place on the Canyon City stage this morning. They have been constructing reservoirs, putting in giants and making other preparations for operating the mine. They hope to be able to take out a handsome sum during the coming summer.

In the divorce case of Annie B. Otey vs William Otey, which was tried before Judge Bradshaw in the circuit court today, the plaintiff was granted a decree of divorce. Sinnott & Sinnott appeared in behalf of the plaintiff, who was granted the care and custody of the children. By the above decree another couple are made happy and may, if they see fit, in the future enjoy single blessedness.

W. T. Clark, of the Moxes valley, in Yakima county, struck the fourth flow in his well known as No. 5 last Monday, and water is now bubbling up at the rate of 1 1/2 cubic feet per second. The well is 1016 feet deep, the other flows having been struck at 770, 885 and 935-foot levels. The temperature of the water is seventy-eight degrees, and with the thermometer at the freezing point there is a perceptible amount of steam.

As a result of the last quarterly examination of teachers, Edward S. Hinman of Dufur was recommended by the county board for a state diploma. Clara Metzler and Perry R. Jeffcott of Portland entered the class in Multnomah county for teachers' certificates, the papers to be graded and certificates granted in Wasco county. Miss Metzler succeeded in obtaining a second grade, while Mr. Jeffcott obtained a third grade certificate.

The case of the State of Oregon vs. Claude Rice, who was indicted for forging a check on Pease & Mays, came up for hearing yesterday afternoon. Rice plead guilty, and his crime was commuted by the court to obtaining money under false pretenses. He was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. C. F. Johnston, who was charged with having stolen an overcoat from H. S. Turner, had his hearing before the grand jury and they returned not a true bill, when he was discharged.

W. H. Perry, of Hood River, has written to the Glacier that he has received a letter from Kentucky, giving the statistics of the offspring of his mother, who is still living at the age of 87, hale and hearty. The score stands thus: Seventeen children, eight girls and nine boys; 110 grand children, and seventy-six great grand children, making the grand total of 203. He says that if any mothers in Wasco county can beat this record, let them speak right out in meeting.

The singers who are to take part in the Old Folks Concert are busily engaged in preparing for this, the musical event of the season. The wardrobes of our ancestors are being ransacked for costumes of an hundred years ago; the choruses are being carefully trained under the leadership of Mr. C. J. Crandall, and the work of those who have special parts bespeaks for the entire program the greatest success. A full program will appear in these columns a day or two before the concert.

There is little likelihood of an ice famine in North Yakima during the summer. It is estimated that probably 2500 tons of ice were put up during this season. The largest individual packers were F. B. Shardiow, 150 tons; Thomas Lund, 400 tons; A. Johnson and J. H. Timm, 400 tons; Sinclair Ice Company, 800 tons; and Ditter and Mechtel, 50 tons. Last year the ice dealers were compelled to cease serving private families in early September. As it was, artificial ice was imported from the Sound to the extent of several carloads.

This morning Harry Lonsdale left on the Dalles City for Portland, and tomorrow will take the Southern Pacific train for San Francisco, going at once to Los Angeles. A delegation from Cascade Lodge, B. P. O. E., accompanied him to the boat, and at parting Judge Bradshaw made a brief, but appropriate, speech on the part of the members of the lodge, in which he expressed regret at losing, even for a few months, such a faithful and untiring member, who is always ready to make any sacrifice for the benefit of the order. After wishing him a speedy recovery and expressing the hope of the members of Cascade lodge that he would soon return to The Dalles, he presented him with a handsome mounted elk's tooth as a remembrance from the lodge. Last night Mr. Lonsdale was serenaded by the Reuben quartet; and so all of his many friends in The Dalles are anxious to express their friendly feeling and good will.

ANTELOPE SHOOTING SCRAPE.

William Rolfe Attempts to Kill Mart Clancey and R. A. Hansell.

Last Wednesday night about 10 o'clock Mart Clancey and R. A. Hansell went into the Eureka saloon in Antelope and sat down by the stove. John Little, who was in the saloon at the time, asked Hansell and Clancey to take a drink. One called for port wine and the other for a soda, when Little spoke up and said they should take whiskey or nothing, and they refused to drink. This caused some words between the men, and the two men left the saloon. They looked through the window from the outside, and Little acted as though he would throw a flask of whiskey, which he had in his hand, at them.

At this time William Rolfe, the bartender, who was drunk, without any known reason pulled his pistol and fired a shot through the window, which barely missed the two men standing in the window, and knocked the glass in their faces. Shortly afterwards the men started home, when three shots were fired at them. Rolfe afterwards told Clancey that he thought that Hansell was standing at the window alone, and that he would not have fired if he had known that Clancey was there.

These were all the particulars that could be learned. Rolfe has not yet been arrested, but there are rumors afloat that he made threats against Hansell's life, and he may be taken into custody and punished for his rash act.

The Slaughter of Elephants.

In Berlin a number of African travelers, colonial politicians and scientific men have formed a "committee for the purpose of taming and preserving the African elephant." It is computed, according to statistical data of the exports of ivory, that no fewer than from fifty to sixty thousand elephants in Africa are killed every year. The committee say, that being so, the time is not far distant when the last elephant in Africa will, says the London Daily News, have disappeared. With such prospect in view, the committee have decided to put a stop to this mischievous slaughter. By taming and maintaining the last representatives of a fast-dying-out animal world the committee hope to preserve unimpaired the enormous power the elephant is known to possess, so that he may be of still further use to mankind. The German Colonial company have already devoted a large sum of money to this purpose, and now the colonial department of the foreign office have augmented this sum by granting a liberal allowance.

Fly in a Soprano's Throat.

While mass was being celebrated at the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Portland, Me., on a recent Sunday a young lady from Boston, a fine vocalist, was assuming the leading soprano part. When the solo "Salve Regina" was reached the lady sang the solo, and had just reached the concluding measure, her pure, crystal-like notes falling most agreeably on the ear, when the members of the choir noticed that she turned pale and placed her handkerchief to her lips, giving a spasmodic cough. A fly had flown down her windpipe and shut off her wind. Fortunately at that moment the full chorus had to sing, thus preventing any break, and when her turn came again the lady was able to respond. The poor fly was afterward found on the bosom of her dress. He had paid for his temerity with his life. —Chicago Chronicle.
