A SIZZLING SPOT.

Yuma is the Most Torrid Town in the United States.

Temperature Exceeding One Hundred Degrees for Days at a Time—Deserts That Make It Unnecessary to Guard Desperate Convicts.

Eastern people who prate about heated terms and flee to the mountains or seashore upon the approach of a brief period when the temperature is among the 90's should consider the case of a town where the temperature from about the middle of June to early October ranges all the way from 90 to 120 degrees in the shade, and occasionally goes to 123 degrees for a few hours, suggests a Yuma (Ariz.) correspondent.

This is what the residents of this quaint old town of Yuma experience regularly each summer. So far this season Yuma has had two spells of weather when the mercury climbed up to 117 in the shade every morning for a few successive days, and descended to 96 to 100 at night.

All conditions seem to unite to make Yuma the hot summer spot it is. It is located in a kind of basin on the edge of the lazy, muddy Colorado river, which meanders through desert sands and adobe soil down to the gulf of California.

Every summer venturesome miners lose their lives in trying to cross the desert by being overtaken by a sandstorm or weakened unto death by the dreadful heat. To the north there are vast plains and uplands of barren, sun-baked adobe soil, and a peculiar formation of lava and soft granite, the remains of numerous extinct volcanoes.

There is not a thing in nature anywhere in the region to add a degree of coolness to the atmosphere. There are no balmy breezes from anywhere, no sea or lake air to come once in awhile as a relief after hours of a steady downpouring of solar heat; not a mountain or brook, a canyon or dell, a grove or bench throughout the whole country to which one may resort for so much as a moment of coolness.

When a wind comes up from off the desert the air is almost shriveling, and even the natives of Yuma go into their adobe houses and shut the doors to avoid the air that comes like that from a furnace from a foundry. The glare of the sunshine has a serious effect on the eyes of the people. Green goggles and smoked glasses are commonly worn here by eastern people.

She was startled. An Inquisitive Youth Tumbled Over a Partition Upon a Spinster's Bed. 'When Mount Tabor, N. J., was first taken possession of by the Newark conference of the Methodist Episcopal church,' said a clergyman of that denomination recently, 'we had little money with which to clear up the grounds and erect the first buildings necessary. After putting up a sort of open air pavilion in which the preaching services could be held, we began to cast around for some building where transient guests might be accommodated.'

it is not only palatable, but it is already digested and made ready for immediate absorption by the system. It is also combined with the hypophosphites, which supply a food not only for the tissues of the body, but for the bones and nerves, and will build up the child when its ordinary food does not supply proper nourishment.

which was christened the 'razor house.' In constructing the house on an economical basis as possible, the partitions were not run all the way up to the rafters and the room was not ceiled.

'I shall never forget,' continued the minister, 'one of my first nights in this rather crude hotel. After I had retired I was suddenly aroused with a start by the most unearthly shriek.

'Murder! Thieves! Robbers! Help! Help!' a woman was shouting at the top of her lungs.

'I hustled out into the narrow hall in my night robe and found others in the same attire—both men and women—running around in a distracted way. We all stopped before a door from within which the sounds proceeded.

'You beast! Help! Help! Murder!' still came the cries.

'There was a sound of scuffling from within and suddenly the door opened and a woman, excited, panting, with wild and disheveled looks, appeared at the door clutching a boy, who was more frightened even than was the woman.

'One glance settled it. The boy was the son of a woman occupying the adjoining room. The little fellow, out of curiosity, had climbed to the top of the partition and, losing his balance, had fallen over into the next room, landing on the bed of a rather elderly spinster.

'The ridiculousness of the whole affair seemed to dawn upon all at the same time, and everyone joined in a good, hearty laugh. The boy was punished and the old maid left the next day.'—N. Y. Herald.
