THE DALLES, OREGON, TUESDAY, MARCH 1 1893

NO 354

CLAIM WAS NOT VALID

Vote on the Question Stood Fifty to Nineteen.

THE MATTER HAS BEEN SETTLED

The Senate Has so Decided in the Case of Hon. Henry W. Corbett of Oregon.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—A vote on seating Corbett as senator from Oregon was taken on the amendment declaring him entitled to a seat. It was defeated by a vote of fifty to nineteen.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—In the senate today consideration of the Corbett case was resumed.

Baron of Georgia addressed the senate in opposition to Corbett's claim. He felt that it was extremely unfortunate that in this case the senate was not controlled by partisan motives, because he thought it ought to be understood by legislatures that they must perform their duties or the onus of their failure should fall upon their states.

Burrows of Michigan followed with an extended and elaborate argument in opposition to the seating of Corbett. He maintained that the governor of the state has no authority to fill an original vacancy.

The House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The sundry civil appropriation bill, consideration of which was resumed in the house today, displaced regular District of Columbia day, which by consent was postponed until next Monday. Before the house went into the committee of the whole, Bull of Iowa, Republican, chairman of the military affairs committee, asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a resolution providing for an investigation by a joint committee of the house and senate of expenditures for river and harbor work at Savannah, Jan. 1, 1892.

Cox of Tennessee, Democrat, called attention to the fact that the subject was being investigated by a court-martial now sitting in the case of Captain Carter. Until the court-martial returned its findings, he saw no necessity for a congressional investigation. He therefore objected, and the resolution was referred to the committee on military affairs.

The sundry civil appropriation bill, after a protracted debate as to railroad influence in the last national election, was completed in committee of the whole, and on Cannon's motion reported to the house.

No Decision Reached.

KEY WEST, Feb. 28.—The United States court of inquiry into the loss of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana, February 15, began its session here today. Officers and civilians here who believe the reports from Havana saying that the court had already decided that the loss of the Maine was the result of treachery, have apparently changed their mind, for today the question is "What has the court found?" while yesterday one heard all around "When will war be declared?" Brought face to face with the court the men realized for the first time how unlikely it will be for the court to allow any inkling of their decision to be known out of due season.

The unusual bustle prevailed this little town from the early morning hours. The torpedo-boat Cushing went over to the New York and brought ashore Captains

Sampson and Chadwick, and Lieutenant-Commander Porter. Lieutenant-Commander Merix, judge-advocate, who is staying on the island with Commandant Forsythe, was already at the Federal building, directing the preparations of the United States district court for the session of the court of inquiry.

A small crowd gathered outside eagerly watching for certain persons. The men saved from the ill-fated vessel were up early and waiting at their temporary home at the armory barracks. It was not known whether any of them would be called, but all preparations were made so that the court should not be delayed in its work.

The court opened shortly after 10:00. Lieutenant Bladen was the first witness. Testimony will be taken according to its relative importance and not according rank of witness.

Orders were issued today at the army barracks prohibiting enlisted men from leaving the reservation without special permits, which will be granted only in exceptional cases. Officer's leave was also curtailed. It was rumored that two batteries were held under march orders, but this is denied. Secrecy is maintained at the barracks, and no explanation of these circumstances is forthcoming.

The Shakers of Mount Lebanon, a community of simple, honest, God-fearing men and women, have prepared the Shaker Digestive Cordial for many years, and it is always the same, simple, honest, curative medicine that has helped to make the Shakers the healthy, long-lived people that they are. The Shakers never have indigestion. This is partly owing to their simple mode of life, partly to the wonderful properties of Shaker Digestive Cordial. Indigestion is caused by the stomach glands not supplying enough digestive juice. Shaker Digestive Cordial supplies what's wanting. Shaker Digestive Cordial invigorates the stomach and all its glands so that after awhile they don't need help. As evidence of the honesty of Shaker Digestive Cordial, the formula is printed on every bottle. Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Bromwell of Ohio introduced a resolution in the house today appropriating $80,000,000 for the purchase of war vessels whenever in the judgment of the secretary of the navy it shall become expedient for the best interests of the country to take such a course.

In a recent letter from Washington, D. C., to an old friend, Major, G. A. Studer, for twenty years United States Consul at Singapore, says: "While at Des Moines I became acquainted with a liniment known as Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I found excellent against rheumatism as well as against soreness of the throat and chest (giving me much easier breathing). I had a touch of pneumonia early this week, and two applications freely applied to the throat and chest relieved me of it at once. I would not be without it for anything." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

No Money for the Paris Exposition. WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The provision in the sundry civil appropriation bill relating to the Paris exposition was ruled out on the point of order in the house today.

TORNADO DRILLS IN KANSAS.

Caves Are Being Built Under School Houses.

We have fire drills in our public schools in the east, and very effective drills they have proved in more than one case of emergency. In Kansas they have no fire drills, or, if they have, we have still to hear of it. Out there tornadoes are more to be dreaded than fires, and the schoolchildren are now being trained in tornado drills, says the New York Sun.

When tornadoes strike a Kansas town everybody makes a dash for prairie. It is the only way to escape death from flying doors and chimneys, falling trees and toppling buildings. Schoolchildren are trained to know this from the cradle, and on these occasions rush pell mell for the nearest bit of clear prairie attainable. But many children have been maimed and even killed in these terrible storms.

So they have started a movement throughout the state to have tornado caves built under the schoolhouses large enough to accommodate all the children while the blow lasts. And here comes in the tornado drill, which is already being put into practice.

It is very much like our own fire drill. The teacher sounds the alarm on the piano and the children all stand up. Then the march is played, and out they go in good order, down the stairs and into the cave.

Then let the winds blow! Let the entire building fall in ruins! The children are safe and have only to be dug out.

QUAKER CITY ECONOMY.

Watchmen and Guides Disgusted—Lose Their Brass Buttons.

There couldn't possibly be in all this city another crowd of men so disgusted as were the watchman, guides and elevator men at the city hall, says the Philadelphia Record. It was all because the public buildings commissioners had been seized with what the men considered a ridiculous attack of economy. This is the time of the year when all uniformed men in the employ of the city prepare to change their winter clothing for their summer garments. Now, the uniforms worn by the city hall men are profusely adorned with brass buttons bearing the seal of the city, and the municipal authorities are particularly careful to see that none of these buttons shall ever go astray. It is, in fact, a punishable offense for a common citizen to have in his possession one of these buttons. Accordingly when each man appeared for duty, he was called to the front and an official, armed with a pair of shears, snipped off all the city's buttons from the victim's uniform except one, which was left to hold the coat across the chest. Fortunately the suspender buttons on the trousers are just the ordinary kind, without any municipal insignia, otherwise there would certainly have been a strike. The crop of buttons thus gathered in was sent to the tailor, who had finished the summer uniforms up to the point of attaching those necessary little articles.
