Miss Elliot is in the city, and arrangements are being made for the musical to be given next Wednesday evening at the K. of P. hall. It is seldom we have an opportunity to hear two such fine singers as Miss Elliot and Miss Stevens; beside, the selections by Miss Elliot's class will add greatly toward the success of the entertainment.

Yesterday evening when the Spokane train pulled into Arlington it was found that one of the journals had been burned off and the corner of the truck was dragging on the rails. The car was empty at the time that the axle gave way, and fortunately remained on the track until the train reached Arlington, and thus what might have been a serious accident was averted.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

A Worthy Institution—Let Everyone Help It Along.

The ladies who are interested in the public library are doing their utmost to secure a collection of books for the same that will suit everyone and make it an object for every intellectual person to join. A number of interesting books have recently been received, which consist of the following popular works that should be read by every lover of good literature:

"The Red Bridge Neighborhood" by Marie Louise Pool.

"The Lion of Janina" by Maurus Jokai.

"At the Cross Roads" by F. F. Montresor.

"Sweetheart Travellers" by S. R. Crockett.

"Checkers" by Harry M. Blossom.

"His Grace of Osmonde" by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett.

"Paste Jewels" by Bangs.

"Jerome" by Mary E. Wilkins.

"The Great Stone of Sardis" by Stockton.

"The Third Violet" by Crane.

"Hania" by Sienkiewicz.

A movement is at present on foot to raise money to secure complete sets of books by standard authors. As yet the ladies have not decided as to the methods to be adopted, but whatever they may be, we sincerely hope that every one will aid as much as possible in this worthy cause.

It should be remembered that Mrs. William Mansfield donated over 200 volumes to the library and while it cannot be expected that everyone will be this liberal, still a little assistance from those who can afford it will aid greatly in the work and eventually build up a library of which we may be proud.

A KLONDIKE-BOOMER IN JAIL.

What Befell Mrs. A. T. Brodbeck in Pittsburg.

Mrs. A. T. Brodbeck, a rich widow, of Southern Oregon, and her Alaskan protective scheme have come to grief in Pittsburg, Pa.

It is charged that the charming widow has been fleecing innocents of the smoky city. Her traveling companion was a young man of Portland and, it seems, he gave the snap away, and the Pittsburg police are much exercised trying to find out whether Mrs. Brodbeck's credentials are all she represents them to be. Mrs. Brodbeck is under arrest. Her companion has disappeared. Her charge against her is having defrauded an applicant for a position with her promoting scheme out of $250—a deposit required "as a guarantee of good faith."

The news will startle a large number of Portland people. Mrs. Brodbeck was formerly a school teacher and claims acquaintanceship with many prominent people of Portland and this state. The most dangerous feature about her present plight at Pittsburg is that she has taken advantage of a number of letters which are in her possession and which are indorsements from Oregonians—not of her Klondike company, by the way, but of men who acted as directors for Mrs. Brodbeck's ALASKA MUTUAL AID & PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION. The widow makes use of such names as Judge M. C. George, of the circuit court, State Senator Brownell, Gordon E. Hayes, county judge of Clackamas county; Frank Rigler, school superintendent; and T. O. Hutchinson, formerly superintendent of schools at Monmouth, Or.

Mrs. Brodbeck is well known in Portland. From what is learned of her operations here she has made improper use of their names. Some of these gentlemen deny ever knowing the women and they declare they did not indorse the Klondike scheme.—Telegram.

Matrimonial.

A quiet wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Biggs, the contracting parties being Mr. Clarence Bunker and Miss Ethel Deming, both of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Wood, and none but a few relatives and intimate friends of the young people were present.

The rooms were appropriately decorated for the occasion, and the event was made a very happy one. Lunch was served after the ceremony, and all joined in the heartiest of congratulations to the newly-married couple.

Miss Deming is an adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Biggs, and is a very bright and accomplished young lady. During the few years she has made this city her home she has gained many friends, especially among the young people with whom she associates.

Mr. Bunker has lived here for a number of years, and is known to everyone as a good, sober and reliable young man. He has been employed in the Diamond Mills for several years, and has won the esteem of his employers during that time.

The young couple will make their future home in this city, and their many friends, as well as THE CHRONICLE extends congratulations and best wishes to them both.

Yesterday being the twenty-ninth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Biggs, it was thought best to make it the occasion of a double wedding. No objection was made by Mr. and Mrs. Biggs, both declaring that having felt no regret since the event which occurred twenty-nine years ago, they were more than anxious to spend their remaining years together.

DANGER IN SODA.

Serious Results Sometimes Follow Its Excessive Use.

Common soda is all right in its place and indispensable in the kitchen and for cooking and washing purposes, but it was never intended for a medicine, and people who use it as such will some day regret it.

We refer to the common use of soda to relieve heartburn or sour stomach, a habit which thousands of people practice almost daily, and one which is fraught with danger; moreover the soda only gives temporary relief and in the end the stomach trouble continues to get worse and worse.

The soda acts as a mechanical irritant to the walls of the stomach and bowels and cases are on record where it accumulated in the intestines, causing death by inflammation or peritonitis.

Dr. Harlandson recommends as the safest and surest cure for sour stomach [acid dyspepsia], an excellent preparation sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These tablets are large twenty-grain lozenges, very pleasant to taste and contains the natural acids, peptones and digestive elements essential to good digestion, and when taken after meals they digest the food perfectly and promptly before it has time to ferment, and sour and poison the blood and nervous system.

Dr. Wuerth states that he invariably uses Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in all cases of stomach derangements and finds them a certain cure not only for sour stomach, but by promptly digesting the food create a healthy appetite, increase flesh and strengthen the action of the heart and liver.

They are not a cathartic, but intended only for stomach diseases and weakness and will be found reliable in any stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50c per package.

A little book describing all forms of stomach weaknesses and their cure mailed free by addressing the Stuart Co. of Marshall, Mich.
