Telephone messages from Portland today stated that it was snowing at that place this forenoon.

Henry Hudson, of Dufur, is in the city today. He is hauling in his grain which he held over winter.

Latest advices from Havana state that Blanco is building earthworks at that place to protect the exposed guns.

The United States navy and war departments are making haste in war preparations. High officials predict a war within ten days.

Work is progressing rapidly on the large addition to the building occupied by the Great Northern Furniture Co. and in a few days it will be ready for occupation.

In receiving the bulletin for the Jackson-Jeffries prize fight yesterday a mistake was made by the operator, which accounts for our having the result of the fight turned around.

Workmen are busily engaged today in putting a new glass front in Mays & Crowe's store, and when completed it will add much to the attractiveness of that establishment.

All Foresters are requested to be at their hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock, as business of importance will be transacted. Work in the first degree will also be gone through with.

Today the workmen are giving the finishing touches to the brick work on the Wasco Warehouse Co.'s new building, and the same will be ready for use before the wool season opens.

Marriage license was issued yesterday to Clyde T. Bonney and Martha C. Mays. Mr. Bonney is well and favorably known to many Dalles people, while Miss Mays is an esteemed young lady of Hood River.

A report received from Portland at noon today states that the Silver Republicans and Democrats are prepared to go ahead with the convention, but the Populists are holding back, and how long this state of affairs will continue is hard to tell. At present it looks very discouraging for the fusionists.

The many friends of John Bonn are pleased to see the old gentleman on the streets again. For several weeks he has been confined to his room with an attack of rheumatism, but has so far recovered as to be on the streets today.

All necessary preparations are being made for the G. A. R. encampment to be held at this place in May, and from present indications, it will be the best and most largely attended encampment that has ever been held in this state.

In response to the kind invitation of the managers of King Hallababoola II, the reporter attended the rehearsal last evening, and although he must refrain from giving away the plot or character of the performance, he is permitted to say one thing, and that is that it promises to surpass anything ever given by home talent in The Dalles. Their songs, dances, jokes and music are the latest and best, and owing to the good spirit with which everyone enters into their parts, as well as the amount of practicing the boys are doing, every turn will be put on in the best possible shape.

The Champion base-ball team has reorganized for the season and will commence training immediately. Jac McGrath and Mike Robinson, two professional ball-tossers of Chicago, have consented to play with them. Louie Fritz, the manager, has corresponded with the leading clubs of the Northwest, and has received two favorable answers. The team consists of the following players: Louie Fritz, manager, formerly of the White Stars; J. J. Maloney, Ed Jenkins, Jansen Powers, Ed Howell, Willie Brown, Spottard Ferguson, Geo. Dufur, Jim Cate, Mike Robinson and Jac McGrath.

Goldendale Sentinel: A proposition has been made by J. Russell Jones, now in New York, that if the right-of-way can be procured for a railway to connect Goldendale with The Dalles, that some capitalists, whom he represents, will have the line surveyed, and if the route is practical, will build a road. It is expected this route will follow that of the Lyle railroad as far as Centerville, then run in a southerly direction to The Dalles mountain, climbing it at a gradual grade and crossing it where The Dalles wagon road reaches the summit; then descending in a westerly direction, making a turn on the G. W. Smith place, and then to The Dalles. Committees have been appointed to get the right-of-way, and surely no one will be so hoggish as not to grant it.

Judge Bellinger yesterday morning denied the motion of plaintiff for a new trial in the case of H. M. Smith vs. J. G. & I. N. Day. Smith sued for $25,000 damages based upon injuries alleged to have been sustained through the negligence of the defendants in setting off a blast at Cascade Locks. Smith was struck in the head by a piece of rock while he was sitting in the cabin of the steamer tied up near the locks which the defendants were building. The plaintiff alleged in his bill of complaint that by reason of these injuries he has not only been permanently disabled, but has been put to a great deal of expense for hospital care and medical treatment. The plaintiff's attorney, Judge Bennett, will bring the case before the court of appeals.

National Bank Examiner Edward L. Corson will be in the city in a few days to look into the standing of the Dalles banks.

Tuesday, while climbing into a hay-loft, Mrs. R. A. Moore, of Wasco, fell a distance of ten feet. Her wrist was dislocated and the bones of her right arm broken near the wrist. Mrs. Moore is about 66 years of age, and this makes the accident a serious one.

Just think, $2500 will buy 100 acres, a fine fruit farm, three miles from town; three milch cows, five work horses, farm implements, two wagons, fine water privileges—in fact everything complete. For further information and a good bargain see Dad Butts.

Henry Spalding, the well-known fruit-grower, died Tuesday evening at Almot, on the Snake river, from injuries received recently while carrying furniture from his burning building. Mr. Spalding was a son of Rev. H. Spalding, who came to the Pacific Northwest in 1836 with Marcus Whitman. He was about 50 years old.

J. K. Armsby, the millinaire condensed fruit manufacturer of Chicago, who has been in Portland sounding the fish market preparatory to putting Columbia river salmon on the Eastern market, finds the market in a very unsettled condition, he says. The fishermen don't seem to know what they intend doing, according to his opinion. However, he thinks there will be plenty of fish, and furthermore that the market will not vary with other seasons.

A grand jury was organized Tuesday afternoon at Colfax, C. Tingling, a railroad man, being appointed foreman. The judge, in his charge to the jury, laid special stress on the recent lynching of Chadwick Marshall, urging that a careful investigation be made, so that the members of the mob might be indicted and punished. He also called attention to the necessity of abating the vices of gambling and prize-fighting. The grand jury issued subpoenas for two witnesses, supposed to know something about the lynching, and the jury began its labors yesterday morning.

THEY SCORE A POINT.

Judge Bellinger Holds the Indictment Worthless.

I. H. Taffe, the Celilo canneryman, and E. Kilfeather, recently jointly convicted in the United States district court for attempting to corruptly influence a petit jury to the end that an exorbitant verdict might be returned against the government in a right-of-way condemnation proceeding, in which Taffe was to be pecuniarily benefited, scored a point this morning in the decision of Judge Bellinger upon the motion for a new trial and arrest of judgment. The motion was not only allowed as to Taffe, but the case as to him was virtually dismissed. The motion as to Kilfeather was also allowed, but he was held to appear before the next federal grand jury under the same bonds he is now enjoying freedom. There being another indictment against Taffe, charging bribery, he also will have another set-to with the legal machinery of Uncle Sam.

The decision of Judge Bellinger is a rather severe arraignment of the indictment upon which Taffe and Kilfeather were tried, the court holding that it was defective and entirely insufficient for the purposes of the prosecution. The indictment upon which the defendants were tried contained two counts—one conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States by corruptly endeavoring to influence a petit jury of the circuit court of the United States in the discharge of its duty, and the other that of conspiring to defraud the United States by corruptly endeavoring to influence a petit jury of the circuit court of the United States to return an exorbitant verdict against the government in a case on trial in which the government was one of the parties in interest.

W. R. Dunbar Register at Vancouver.

The selection of Hon. William R. Dunbar for register of the land office of Vancouver, Wash., seems to meet with the approval of every Republican in Klickitat county. The hearty, unanimous approval of the appointment is without precedent.

His career as a politician in Klickitat county is well known. He has always been a faithful worker for the success of the Republican party, and is well known over the state. He has served Goldendale as mayor at different times, but has never been known to be an office-seeker. It is said when the news of the present appointment came, he was more surprised than any one in Goldendale. It is said Senator John L. Wilson conferred with Klickitat county Republicans, and Mr. Dunbar was their choice. At present Mr. Dunbar is United States land commissioner at Goldendale, and administrator of several estates. It is rumored that he may not take his new position before the expiration of the present incumbent's term, which will be in June.
