HIS MESSAGE AT LAST

President Wants Authority to Take Measures.

DESIRES TO PUT AN END TO WAR

Congress Asked to Authorize the President to Take Measures to Secure a Termination of Hostilities in Cuban Incident a Feature.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—

The president's message asks congress to authorize the administration to take measures to end the war in Cuba, to secure the establishment of a stable government there, and to use the naval and military and naval forces of the United States, if necessary, for that purpose.

The president says the only hope for relief from a condition which can no longer be endured is the enforced pacification of the island. The issue is now with congress, and he awaits its action, standing prepared to carry out every obligation imposed on him by that body.

Spain's decree of suspension of hostilities is submitted to congress for just and careful attention, with the observation that if the measure attains a successful result, "our aspirations as a peace-loving people will be satisfied. If it fails it will only be another justification of our contemplated action."

The Maine incident figures prominently in the message. The president says that the wreck of the Maine in Havana harbor shows that Spain is not able to guarantee safety to foreign vessels. Spain has offered to submit to arbitration all the differences which may arise from that affair.

The president expresses the view that recognition of the independence of Cuba at this time would be ill-advised and unwarranted and unjustified, and cites precedents to justify his attitude, calling attention particularly to President Jackson's refusal to recognize Texas when that state was struggling to throw off the Mexican yoke, and quoting Jackson's utterances on that occasion.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The president's message was received in the senate and referred to the committee on foreign relations. Stewart then took the floor, and declared that intervention without recognition of the insurgents would look like conquest.

The senate, at 1:15 p. m., on motion of Allison, adjourned, and the committee on foreign relations was called in special session to consider the message.

A prominent Republican member of the senate committee on foreign relations said that congress could not be induced to make war on Gomez.

The president's message did not, after the first reading, receive the indorsement of the majority of the senators, and many excused themselves from speaking about it until they could have time for a careful perusal. In a general way the objections were based on the ground that it did not go far enough in recognizing the rights of the Cubans. A large number of Democratic senators refused to express themselves at all, as did several Republicans, on the ground that as they could not speak in complimentary terms, they preferred to say nothing at all.

The most significant utterances on the subject of the message was that of Senator Foraker, Republican, from the president's own state, and a member of the foreign affairs committee.

Senator Foraker said: "I have no patience with the message, and you can say so."

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The reading of the message in the house was greeted with scattering applause from the Republican side. The galleries made no demonstration. The message was referred to the committee on foreign affairs without debate, and the house proceeded with the District of Columbia business.

The house committee on foreign affairs was in session an hour this morning, but reached no conclusion as to the form or subject-matter of the resolution which will be reported. The committee will hold another meeting tomorrow morning.

The house Republicans who were in the movement for aggressive action are to meet this afternoon to decide upon a plan of action.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

est, curative medicine that has helped to make the Shakers the healthy, long-lived people that they are. The Shakers never have indigestion. This is partly owing to their simple mode of life, partly to the wonderful properties of Shaker Digestive Cordial. Indigestion is caused by the stomach glands not supplying enough digestive juice. Shaker Digestive Cordial supplies what's wanting. Shaker Digestive Cordial invigorates the stomach and all its glands so that after awhile they don't need help. Sheep marking paint; ready for use. Two colors, black and red. Why you should use our sheep paint. First, because the colors are ground thoroughly in pure linseed oil by fine machinery; second, because it is made of high grade color, with the proper amount of dryers added to give it binding and lasting qualities, which prevent it from washing or rubbing off; third, it is much more economical, because it is always ready for use. We guarantee our sheep marking paints to give satisfaction. Try it and be convinced. Clarke & Falk, agents, The Dalles, Or.
