The Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet at the residence of Mrs. O. D. Doane on next Friday at 3 o'clock. Members and all interested are requested to be present.

This paper has the advantage of being issued in time to go out on the morning stages and trains. We respectfully solicit the patronage of all country people along the stage lines and railroads, as well as the people of The Dalles.

Dr. Bonham and wife, both of whom are dentists, will locate in our city and can be found in their rooms in the Chapman block. Both have practiced dentistry for a number of years and are ready to guarantee any work they may do. They ask for a share of the public patronage.

The Dixon arrived at about 7 o'clock last evening with the largest passenger list of the season, while every available inch of space on the lower deck was crowded with freight. Among other things there were five prairie schooners and teams, a large consignment of hay and tons of merchandise.

Next Monday evening Tim Murphy and his merry aggregation will be at the Vogt, and none should miss this chance of seeing one of the greatest character studies that has ever been in the city. He comes highly recommended and will certainly please all who are fortunate enough to be able to attend the performance.

Yesterday afternoon Gifford, the photographer, took a picture of the militia boys. The view was taken alongside of the ruined wall of the burned armory building, and the boys hope that before the end of the campaign they will be able to stand as fearlessly alongside the ruins of Morro castle.

The executive campaign committee of the Democratic, Silver Republican and Populist parties, which is termed the Union party, have filed nomination for surveyor, which was left vacant by the conventions, and named S. Howe, of Hood River, to fill this office, and ratified the nomination of N. H. Gates as prosecuting attorney for the Seventh district.

Henry Zeigler, of this city, had three carrier pigeons which were brought here from Seattle. A few days ago he liberated them and they arrived in their loft in Seattle the same day. Their nests and young were here and his brother released them at 7 o'clock in the morning and they arrived here at a few minutes past 9, having made the trip in a trifle over two hours.

The fortunes of war are illustrated in the case of Lieutenant Horace B. West, of the revenue cutter service, who has been on leave in Port Townsend. Lieut. West's marriage was set for today. He suddenly received orders withdrawing his leave, and may get orders to go to the "front" at any hour. However, his wedding will take place before he leaves Port Townsend, and his bride will accompany him when he leaves there.

Yesterday morning M. J. Monteith, the well-known and popular clothing drummer, arrived from the East, and later in the day he received a telegram from Portland stating that his brother had died at Dyea on Monday, the 18th inst., and that his remains had arrived in Portland. Mr. Monteith left on the early morning train for the valley, to attend the funeral, which will be held in Albany today.

The Bittner company concluded their stay in The Dalles by the rendition last night of the popular comedy, "Charley's Aunt." The attendance was large, and the managers of the company showed their patriotism by issuing a special invitation to the boys of Company G to attend. During the company's stay here they have won the hearts of our theater-goers, and when they play a return engagement in August they can feel assured that a crowded house will greet them.

Work on the Ainsworth & Dunn cannery at Blaine, is being pushed forward rapidly under the supervision of Charles Wadhams, who has charge of the company's business there. The cannery proper will be 300x60 feet in area, and one story in height, and the wareroom will be two stories, 80x160. This cannery will have a capacity of 3000 cases daily, when utilized to its fullest capacity. A force of 60 carpenters is now at work on the structure, and it is the intention of the management to be able to make cases in at least 30 days.

General Passenger Agent Chas. S. Fee, of the Northern Pacific, was in Spokane Monday, on his way to the Pacific coast, announced that his road had decided to permit all of its employes, "as far as possible," to enlist for the war, guaranteeing them their positions upon returning. Heads of departments have been notified to this effect. Half a dozen large mercantile houses in Spokane have notified their employes that their positions will be held open to them if they desire to enlist, and from $500 to $1000 will be given their families in the event of any of them being killed.

Last Monday afternoon Maude Golden celebrated her fifth birthday by giving a party to some of her little friends. A peanut hunt was the principal feature of the afternoon. May Barzee was the winner of the first prize, little Gladys Heebner getting the booby. A bountiful lunch was served at 5 o'clock, after which the guests returned to their homes, wishing their little hostess many happy returns of the day. Those present were May and Nora Barzee, Maude Andrews, Maude Weaver, Bessie Riddell, Gladys Heebner, Lloyd Barzee, Johnnie and Harvey Heebner.

It is certainly gratifying for the publishers of THE CHRONICLE to note the appreciation shown by the public of the morning edition. Subscriptions are coming in rapidly, and we now feel more determined than ever to issue a paper containing a front page of solid telegraphic news, and with the liberal support of the public we will continue in the manner we have begun. There is no doubt of our efforts being crowned with success, since they are appreciated, and we will continue to give the news of the past 24 hours in each edition of the MORNING CHRONICLE, and will have the papers at the doorsteps of our city patrons before 6 o'clock each morning, while those of our out-of-town subscribers will be sent on the morning trains and stages.

Clever, popular and characteristic Tim Murphy, one of our most eminent American representative comedians, will present his highly successful double bill at the Vogt opera house on Monday, May 2d, consisting of the merry success in three cheering acts, "Old Innocence," a play destined to be more popular than droll "Tim's" original "A Texas Steer," and the dramatic sensation, "Sir Henry Hypnotized," most unique, originality, most welcome in comparison to the many so-called one act plays before the public today, as it introduces this prominent artist in many widely different lightning change character impersonations of many world famous actors and statesmen. This attraction is considered one of the most artistic and important of this season's bookings, and consequently Manager Kinerly endorses and guarantees it in every possible manner.

A PATRIOTIC MEETING.

DEMONSTRATION IN HONOR OF OUR BOYS IN BLUE.

Street Parade - Speeches at the Armory Amid the Boom of Anvils-- A Flag Presented By the Order of Elks.

The armory was a scene of activity yesterday afternoon. In the morning orders were received to be ready to move in twenty-four hours, and our boys were making all preparations for a hasty departure. Guns, blankets and other necessities were being dealt out by the commissary, and the lads were busily engaged in packing their knapsacks with the few necessities that they must have. Later in the evening orders to remain here until Saturday were received, and so anxious were the boys to be off that the latter command disappointed them. Boys from every walk in life are preparing to leave, and even the graduating class from the high school will lose four of its members, as Walter Reavis, Max Bartell, James Elton and Walter Dickey will be among the boys of Co. G.

In the evening excitement ran high. About 7 o'clock a crowd began to gather around the armory, and later in the evening Captain Booth arrived from Portland, and the company turned out and marched through the principal streets, which were crowded with people anxious to see the boys in line. Afterwards they returned to the armory, and after a turnout on the part of the life and drum corps, all the militia boys, The Dalles herd of Elks and a large crowd of citizens attended the Bittner company show.

At the close of the performance, all present held their seats, and those who could not attend earlier in the evening, but were anxious to enjoy the patriotic ovation which was about to take place, crowded in.

Mayor Nolan called the vast assembly to order, and in an eloquent little speech announced the object of the meeting and suggested that a chairman be chosen. Governor Moody was named and elected. After taking the chair, he made a few remarks and asked that nominations be made for vice-presidents.

Mr. N. J. Sinnott then nominated the following prominent gentlemen to serve, who were elected by vote of the audience: Rev Curtis, Judge Mays, J. F. Schenck, D. M. French, R. F. Gibbons, Hon. E. B. Dufur, Hon. E. O. McCoy, Hon. F. Menefee, L. E. Crowe, R. H. Lonsdale, Rev. Bronsegeest, A. S. Mac Allister, J. P. McInerney, E. Schanno, A. R. Lyle, J. F. Moore, Harvy Smith, Peter Isenberg, Geo. Young, Geo. Liebe, Rev. Wood, H. M. Beall, W. H. Biggs, Capt. Lewis, S. L. Brooks, Judge Blakeley.

the stage, a number of singers came up from the audience, and, as accompanied by the entire audience, they sang our national hymn, "America," the walls fairly rang, all joining in the spirit of this occasion, which to all was impressive.

Mr. N. J. Sinnott then made a stirring and patriotic address, in which he congratulated the young men for the privilege they enjoyed in being permitted to fight in such a just cause. He also spoke of the pride that every Dalles man, and the community in general, feel in Co. G, and offered words of encouragement and advice to the young soldiers.

W. H. Wilson followed next, and commented at length on the serious nature of the present occasion, on its sorrowful side, as well as the glorious mission they go to perform.

B. S. Huntington then gave an enthusiastic speech, and as he spoke it might be seen that not alone does true patriotism burn in the hearts of our soldier boys, but also in the breasts of those who endeavored to encourage them.

M. P. Isenberg recounted some of his own experiences on the battle field, and told the boys something of both sides of war. He spoke from personal experience, and for that reason was the more interesting.

"Columbia" was sung by the chorus, and was followed by an address by Fred W. Wilson. Referring to the patriotism which has been manifested during the war excitement, he read, as an example, a letter written by a Dalles boy, Arthur Stabling, to his parents, pleading for their consent to his enlistment. It was pathetic in its earnestness and accomplished the end for which it was intended. During Mr. Wilson's speech he was frequently interrupted by the loud applause of the delighted audience.

Hon. John Michell was the next to speak, and among other things he informed the boys of the intention of the Elks to present them with a beautiful silk flag, which they have used for draping their altar, assuring them that we do not doubt in the least that they will support that flag honorably, and when they return after having done so, they can feel certain that a hearty welcome will be in store for them.

Captain J. W. Lewis, who is an old war veteran and respected member of the G. A. R., concluded the speaking of the evening by an address, in which he gave our boys a good idea of what they will have to encounter during these troubled times. His speech was received with loud applause. As Mrs. L. E. Crowe came upon the stage bearing the flag of our country, for which in the coming months so many are to give their lives if need be, the enthusiasm and applause was deafening. In behalf of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks she presented the stars and stripes to Captain Booth, of G Co., who upon receiving it, on the part of his company extended their sincere thanks, at the same time assuring the Elks that as they gaze upon it their hearts will be inspired, and that they will endeavor to bear it honorably. The meeting was closed by the singing of "Auld Lang Sang," and amid the firing of anvils and the cheering of the patriotic multitude, the audience dispersed.
