Last Sunday afternoon, in Walla Wala, Miss Elizabeth Schick, a young gtrl of 15 years of age, daughter of J. J. Schick, had a miraculous escape from death. J. J. Schick and family drove to the country Saturday to visit, having a spirited team. Their visit being over the family made preparations to start home. Mr. Schick held the lines, being on the ground near the buggy wheels, and Elizabeth started to get into the rig. The horses became frightened and jerked loose from Mr. Schick. The girls arm caught between the brake rod and the bed of the buggy, and, being unable to extricate herself, there she hung. The horses ran a distance of five miles, when they were stopped by David Farrel and the young girl rescued from her perilous position. Strange to say, the girl has no bones broken, but her body was badly bruised in numerous places. During the whole of that terrible rids the girl was conscious, and every moment expecte I to be dashed to death.
