GREAT POWERS OF THE FUTURE

Bismarck said some years ago that Germany and Russia were the only countries that had a future. This remark is of greater interest now than when it was made. The utterance was based on a thorough knowledge of the conditions in Europe and of the policies under which nations are developing. Bismarck, beyond any other man of his time, understands the relations of the past to the present, and he has a statesman's prescience as to the future. He is a student of character, as well as of peoples and policies. Were he to speak now he would probably say that Russia in the next hundred years would become the great oriental power, Germany the great European power, and the United States the great American power.

This is not saying that Great Britain and France are to decline, but that Russia, Germany and the United States are to forge ahead. Great Britain is now the world power, as Spain, Holland and France have been in turn. For a long period Spain was the great naval power of the world—the great colonizer, the very incarnation of the adventurous and grasping spirit of the world. She swept everything before her. But her aggressive spirit carried her into complications that checked her progress, tore away her colonies, and stripped her of power.

For forty years or more the statesmen of England of both parties have bent all their energies to limit the influence of the United States in the West and to cripple Russia in Europe and Asia. England has been strong enough to drive our commercial fleets from the seas, to prevent the development of Russian manufactures, and until recently to shut the gates of ocean commerce against the czars, but she has not been strong enough to prevent the phenomenal growth of the United States in material wealth, in political influence, and in naval strength. She has not been strong enough to prevent the rapid progress of Russia in rounding out a magnificent empire and in consolidating her strength. She was not strong enough to prevent the unification of the German peoples and the foundation of an empire that has become her rival.

But whatever may be said of Great Britain or France, it is certain that within the last quarter of a century the political influence of Russia and Germany has been extended and solidified, while the political influence of Great Britain has not increased, if it has not declined. While Great Britain has been making concessions, Russia and Germany have been aggressive and defiant; progressive in the use of all the agencies that contribute to national strength, and careful in husbanding all resources that look to future development.

All these things are of greater interest now because this is a period of shifting power, and because the possibilities of war may lead us to such a position that we shall be compelled to consider our opportunities and rights as the dominant power of the western world. If we are to be to the western world what Germany is to be to Europe and Russia to the East, our statesmen must study foreign conditions as closely as did the statesmen of Great Britain a hundred years ago.

No other nation has grown as we have grown in the last thirty years. This growth, like that of Russia, has been from the interior—has been based on policies looking to the development of our own resources. Now we must turn our eyes outward as well as inward; we must fit our policy to the new demands made upon us as one of the three great powers of the future.

The Shakers of Mount Lebanon, a community of simple, honest, God-fearing men and women, have prepared the Shaker Digestive Cordial for many years, and it is always the same, simple, honest, curative medicine that has helped to make the Shakers the healthy, long-lived people that they are. The Shakers never have indigestion. This is partly owing to their simple mode of life, partly to the wonderful properties of Shaker Digestive Cordial. Indigestion is caused by the stomach glands not supplying enough digestive juice. Shaker Digestive Cordial supplies what's wanting. Shaker Digestive Cordial invigorates the stomach and all its glands so that after awhile they don't need help. As evidence of the honesty of Shaker Digestive Cordial, the formula is printed on every bottle. Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 a bottle.

Sheep marking paint; ready for use. Two colors, black and red. Why you should use our sheep paint. First, because the colors are ground thoroughly in pure linseed oil by fine machinery; second, because it is made of high grade color, with the proper amount of dryers added to give it binding and lasting qualities, which prevent it from washing or rubbing off; third, it is much more economical, because it is always ready for use. We guarantee our sheep marking paints to give satisfaction. Try it and be convinced. Clarke & Falk, agents, The Dalles, Or.
