GERMANY. RUSSIA, AND AMERICA.

News comes by way of the New York Evening Post, mugwump, and the St. James Gazette, Tory, that a combination of the continental powers of Europe against the United States and Great Britain is in process of formation. We are told that there are unmistakable signs of uneasiness in Russia, Germany, Austris and France: that Europe believes America is trying her strength on Spain and that her inevitable victory will be followed by similar acts of aggression toward other powers: that Germany, having designs upon Philippines herself, will contest Sherman County, Oregon. the American claim to possession. and that there will be joint intervention to forestall any attempt of American acquisition outside of America's home sphere.

This news comes from suspicious parters. It has been the policy of mugwumps in this country and Tories in England to discredit The mugwumps were for any price until war was They then tried to exernee by magnifying opposition in paid.

Europe. Every grudging remark, every hostile criticism, every trifling utterance in cabinet circles, was paraded as an evidence that even if we carried forward the war, we would not be able to reap results.

All these assumptions are false. There will be no European combination against the United States. Germany has taken an attitude diplematically correct, and she will maintain it. The nation, as a nation, never has been untriendly to the United States. Independent of a natural bond of sympathy the Germans have helped us many times when we needed help. The government ever since Bismarck's influence began to be felt, has been punctilious in the observance of international etiquette. It will stand by that record now.

Russia openly avows her friendship for us, but if she did not, her actions have spoken more loudly than words. In every crisis in the last forty years she has acted as our Oysters in any style. friend. We are not crossing her path, or interfering with her plans, or entering her field of influence in a way to cause any change in her attitude. She may be jealous or distrustful of any closer friendship between the United States and Great Britain and may manenver to prevent any Anglo-American alliance. but she will join no combination against the United States. In the court of international politics Austria counts for little. Great Britain, Germany and Russia control the action of Europe. With Grest Britain professedly our friend, with many holding to the strict line of diplomatic usage in the observance of neutrality, there is no danger to the United States from continental Europe.

Neither English nor American Tories can alter these by misrepresenting them.

Since Professor Charles Eliot Norton of Harvard university made the broad assertion that "there are but few gentlemen in the United States" the public has been curious to know what the great universities have been doing for the youth of the country during the past fifty years or so.
