IGNORANT AND TREASONABLE

The enemies of our navy find comfort in every slur that comes from Madrid. Every dispatch sent out by the Spaniards to mislead us is to these carpers gospel truth. Every dispatch telegraphed from Key West King Ranch to deceive the Spaniards is accepted by these pent-up critics as evidence that some American has blundered.

The men who said if there had Sherman County, Oregon. been no Maine there would have been no explosion in Havana harbor; who were so ignorant of naval construction as to insist that vessels of iron and steel were more dangerous to the men on board than to an enemy, are now sitting in judgment on Admiral Sampson and the naval strategy board. The self constituted strategists who shouted three weeks ago that "the floating batteries called warships" were useless ex cept in coast defenses, are now insist ing that the floating batteries ought to outsail the Spanish fleet and capture it. The newspaper colonels who said a month ago that a campaign in Cuba before fall would be a useless sacrifice of our troops are now si 50 shouting "On to Havana." The alarmists who some weeks ago asserted that the Spanish fleet would ignore Cuba and strike at our own coast, are now in hysteries because the fleet is reported in a Cuban port. The pen-and-ink experts, who two months since claimed that the Oregon would founder in her voyage One year 6 00 around the Horn, are now grumbling because she has not reported at Key

> The enemies of the navy have no $2 25 eye for Dewey's achievements at Manila or Sampson's work off Cuba 1 75 and Porto Rico. They condemn ... 2 00 what they cannot understand, which, as they can understand nothing, is but another way of saying they condemn everything.

> > It would be a boon to an excited and sorely tried people, as well as to that part of the press which has some reputation to lose, if these yelpers and howlers could be made to understand what an exhibition they are giving of their ignorance and disloyalty. Then, if they are not shameless as well as ignorant and disloyal, they would close their mouths and cleanse their newspapers. They are a disgrace to their country and party and intelligent American citizensbip.

> > Mourning over the death of the grand old man of history is not confined to England, but in that country very naturally and very properly evidences of sorrow are more general and more pronounced than elsewhere. The English masses have always entertained a loving regard for the simple and pure-minded statesman who would not throw aside the name he inherited for any title within the gift of his sovereign. Though often tempted he would not drop the "Mr." It was good enough for the great commoners who had been contemporaneous with him, and as plain Mr. Gladstone he was known and loved during the four-score years of his active public life. He had been liberal, too, in dealing out titles to others. Indeed, he was charged at one time with being lavish in creating peers, his object being to infuse new life into the House of Lords. But the titles craved by others had no charms for him, and he wrote his name W. E. Gladstone to the last.

It requires the services of 24,600 male and 14,000 female school teachers in Spain to keep the children of that favored ecuntry in ignorance of the United States and its resources.
