OUR TRADE WITH CUBA.

The statistician of the department of agriculture, Mr. John Hyde, has just given the public a table showing the commerce between the United States and Cuba during the ten years ending June 30, 1897. This decadal exhibit is by years and by articles. The showing is even more remarkable than has been generally claimed. At the time the war opened between Spain and the United States Cuban commerce had been practically paralyzed and destroyed. During the last two years covered by this table our imports from the island fell off 75 per cent, our exports over 61 per cent. Mr. Hyde's figures show a total decline of $69,000,000 in the annual value of our trade with Cuba. As this commerce was nearly all carmust be set down as much greater cal on or write to than the figures show.

High-water mark was reached in

The total for that year was $102,-864,204, the ratio being about ten to three in favor of imports. The Spanish policy has been to discourage exports from this country to either Spain or any of the Spanish colonies.

We get very little from Cuba except sugar and tobacco. Our sales, on the other hand, are much more diversified. Animal products head the list, with breadstuffs next. Then follow manufactured articles of 6 00 wood, iron and steel, paper and cotton. Farmers and and manufacturers share about equally in the trade.

Our trade with Cuba before the C. troubles there was very nearly equal to cur entire Asiatic commerce. Mr. Hyde makes some interesting and impressive comparisons, taking the year 1893 as his base of calcula-

Our trade with Cuba was four times that of our trade with China or Japan; thirteen times that with Russia. It exceeded the grand total of our trade with all these countries: Austria, Hungary, Russia, Sweden and Norway, Denmark, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Switzerland and Portugal.

Nor is this all. While the Cuban trade was largely exports from Cuba to the United States, our exports to Cuba were nearly twice as great as those from this country to Italy; over three times as great as those to China and Japan combined; nearly six times as great as those to Sweden and Norway, and over ten times those to Russia. In other words, Cuba bought nearly as much from us that year as Italy, China, Japan, Sweden. Norway and Russia combined. Our total exports to Asia were not more than 75 per cent of our exports to little Cuba. All South America, exclusive of Brazil,

From the standpoint of commerce with the United States, import and export. Cuba takes high rank among the nations, Great Britain alone excepted. Even if there were no consideration of humanity, our commercial interests would justify us in insisting upon the rescue of Cuba.

The harbor of Santiago is calm and shallow, and in this respect it compares favorably with the peace party of the United States.
