GOOD FOR SHEEP MEN

STOCK CAN ENTER CASCADE RESERVE JUNE 15.

All Districts Save Those Especially Prohibited Soon to Be Thrown Open to Grazing.

Sheep can now go on the Cascade reserve June 15th. Until this news was received the sheep men had been very anxious to get their herds on the reserve, and the day set for allowing the sheep to pass the lines, July 1st, seems to them a long way off.

W. C. Willis, of Willow creek, who wrote to Special Forestry Agent S. B. Ormsby, at Salem, in relation to the drought prevailing there, the lack of feed and the necessity of a change in the date when sheep were to be permitted to pass into the reserve, received a reply stating that sheep would be permitted to go over the lines of the reserve on June 15th, and that the time will be changed to an earlier date if the drought continues.

Mr. Ormsby further informs Mr. Willis that, in order that the sheep men may get into the reservation with their flocks, it will be necessary to make application to him, giving name and post-office address, number of sheep, number of lambs, locality of range, and to state if this range has been occupied by them before.

The attorneys of the sheep men have been informed that practically all of the trespass cases now pending, have been ordered dismissed, and that future grazing will be restricted only as to certain areas about Crater lake and Mt. Hood, as well as to the region about Mt. Ranier, frequented by tourists.

All grazing is absolutely prohibited in the Bull Run reserve from which Portland receives its water. "By, in and about Mt. Hood in the Cascade reserve," the general land office refers to that portion north of the Barlow road and west of the summit of the divide east of the east fork of Hood River.

The closed areas about Crater lake are indicated by the boundaries laid down in the bill now before congress to establish Crater lake as a national park.

CAUSED BY FIRE-WATER.

Indian Sam, of Arlington, Ran Over by an Engine--Receives Injuries From Which He Died.

About 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the switch engine was passing through the yard at a moderate rate of speed, and when crossing Washington street the engineer noticed an Indian coming up the track directly in front of the engine. As the fellow had plenty of time to get out of the road, the engine was not stopped. When they came closer the bell was rung and the engineer yelled, but the Indian paid no attention, and the next instant the heavy engine struck him and he was ground beneath the wheels.

When picked up it was found that he was badly bruised and both legs severed almost entirely from the body just above the knees. Dr. Doane was called and a stretcher brought from the depot, on which the unfortunate Indian was placed and taken to the city jail for treatment. However, nothing could be done to save his life, and at 8:30 he died.

It was found out from other Indians that his name was Sam and that he was a Rock creek Indian. He came down from Arlington on Wednesday, and since his arrival had been on a spree. A bottle of alcohol was found on his person.

after the accident. It is thought that he was hard of hearing, and this, with the amount of drink he had taken, caused the accident.

This is another instance of the evil of selling liquor to Indians. The persons doing so should certainly be prosecuted to the full extent of the law if they are caught.

Dalles people are to have a genuine treat, in spite of the fact that political speeches are often uninteresting to many people, for Judge Geo. H. Williams will be in the city and give an address in the Vogt opera house Saturday evening. The hall will no doubt be crowded.

The Alpha Mandolin and Guitar Club gave a delightful lunch party last evening. The evening was a perfect one for such a pastime, and the Columbia was as calm as the waters of any lake. The party was the more pleasant on account of the beautiful music which was enjoyed throughout the trip.

Yesterday M. J. Anderson, Union nominee for county clerk, N. H. Gates, nominee for prosecuting attorney, and Chas. Schurz, nominee for justice of the peace, went to the Meepie schoolhouse, on Mill creek, to make political speeches. Andrew Urquhart informs us, however, that their trip was for naught, since not a solitary soul turned out to hear them. This is worse than the report the Mountaineer gave concerning the audience that greeted some political speakers at Enderby a few days since.

Yesterday a carload of burros, which were sent here from Colorado with the intention of shipping them to Clondike, passed through the city yesterday en route to the Colville reservation. They evidently came too late to use for packing in Alaska, as the rivers are opening up and the transportation will be carried on by water.

Yesterday afternoon Harry M. Benson, of 5-Mile, near this city, was united in marriage to Miss Maud Franz, of the same neighborhood. The ceremony was performed by Justice Filloon at the residence of Dell Wilder, in this city. Both the bride and groom are esteemed young people in their neighborhood, and they have the congratulations of many friends.

Yesterday Joe Martin, better known as Frenchy, fell off a plank between the old stone building on First street and the D. P. & A. N. driveway. He was carrying a box of fish and lost his balance, falling some twelve feet. At first it was thought he was severely injured, but he recovered in a short time and went on a spree to celebrate his good fortune in not being injured more severely.

Last week in Fossil, Wyatt Putnam, 6-year-old son of J. H. Putnam, was accidentally shot by Verne Carey, aged 7. A bullet from a 38-caliber revolver, young Carey had secured possession of, not knowing it was loaded, passed clear through young Putnam's body, entering the back just above the waist and coming out at the left nipple, after passing through the left lung, and touching the apex of the heart. Young Putnam has a fair chance of recovery.

Within one mile of Long Creek are quartered the sheep and camped the herders of George Gray, of Morrow county, representing Wyoming stockmen. Mr. Gray has been paying $2 for yearling wethers, and $2.25 for yearling ewes, and has succeeded in getting together 9000 head from Grant and Morrow counties. The sheep will be divided into two bands when he has added about 3000 more head to his purchase, and three men, each entrusted with 6000 head, will start for Huntington, from which place the sheep will be shipped to Wyoming. Mr. Gray says quite a number of stockmen in northern Grant county have refused his offers of $2 and $2.25, holding for $2.25 and $2.50, for wethers and ewes, respectively. Prior to the election of President McKinley, the same class of sheep were sold at from 90 cents to $1.25 per head.

BEN E. SNIPES, JR., DROWNED.

Supposed to Have Been Lost on the Ill-Fated Jane Gray.

We learn from a telegram received by George Snipes, of this city, and also from yesterday's Oregonian, that Ben E. Snipes, a former Dalles boy, and who is well-known here, was among three lost on the ill-fated Jane Gray, which foundered Sunday, May 22d, about 90 miles west of Cape Flattery. As the launch which saved the survivors pulled away from the wrecked schooner, Ben was seen standing on the deck, and his chances for turning up alive are considered few.

The case is a very sad one, as he was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Ben E. Snipes, and a favorite among his friends. He was a well-educated and promising young man, and his sad fate will be quite a shock to his Dalles friends.

Out of the 61 passengers aboard the ill-fated craft, but 27 escaped, as far as is known.

They also have tandems to rent.

This firm carries a stock of bicycle sundries, and keeps a well-equipped repair shop, where all kinds of repair work is done.
