Adjutant-General Tuttle Monday issued his order for the abandonment of all National Guard companies. By the terms of the order those now in the United States service have been discharged. All equipments and state property held by them within the state are ordered to be turned over to the state. The order was necessary before the guard could be recognized. This is the first step towards reorganization.

The Morning Tribune is dead. As was supposed by many, this paper was simply started to run until after the election, and such has proven the case. It could not have been unexpected, for of late the Tribune people did not try to keep it up to the high plane on which they at first intended. Whether or not it was a paying investment is not known, but its sudden stop after the election does not go to prove that it was a money-making concern.

Yesterday evening a telephone message was received from Goldendale stating that H. P. Jackson had died at that place, and asking that his son, Hugh Jackson, be sent over immediately. Mr. Jackson had started, with his wife, to Wapinitia, and a telephone message was sent to 8-Mile, and he was informed of the sad news on his arrival at that place. He returned and left for Goldendale last evening. H. P. Jackson has lived in Klickitat county for a number of years, having engaged in farming for a time and later was city marshal of Goldendale.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a lively runaway took place on Washington street. Mr. Williams, who drives a team for Lew Oakes, was loading lumber near the O. R. & N. track, when the horses started and tore at a lively rate up to the corner of French & Co.'s bank. At that place they attempted to turn down Second street and ran into the G. A. R. arch. Both of the horses were knocked down, and it took some time to clear the wreck. When they were unhitched it was found that a badly-broken tongue and a few slight scratches on the horses were all the damages sustained.

Weather and River.

PORTLAND, June 7.—The temperature yesterday over the upper Columbia ranged about 80°; over the Snake river country about 70°. The warm weather west of the Cascades has not moved eastward as rapidly as usual, hence the upper river does not show any rise.

Last night the temperature was about 40° over the Snake and about 50° over the upper Columbia. These temperatures are not high enough to melt the snow in the mountains very rapidly. Higher temperatures are expected to prevail east of the Cascades.

The upper rivers will begin to rise within 36 hours. The Columbia at Umatilla will rise on Thursday. At Portland the Willamette will not begin to rise until Saturday or Sunday.

The decrease in the stage of the river during the prevalence of the current warm weather about Portland should not be understood to mean that there will be no further rise. The warm weather has not yet reached the mountains. When it does there is snow there yet to be melted.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

A Report of the Weather and Crops in Eastern Oregon By Page.

The temperature for the week averaged 50°, which was 3° lower than for the preceding week, and 7° lower than for the corresponding week of last year. The highest temperature occurred today, ranging from 80° to 90°; the lowest occurred on May 31st, being 40° in the Columbia river valley and 30° over the Plateau region. The rain-fall ranged in amount from one-fourth to three-fourths of an inch, and it was very well distributed.

The rains have been of the greatest benefit. As usual, less rain fell in Wasco and Gilliam counties, and in the northern portion of Morrow county, than elsewhere. Sherman county had good showers. Over the great wheat belt of Umatilla county the showers were sufficient for all present needs. Fall and winter sown grain can now be injured only by hot easterly winds. The winds have been warm and from the east yesterday and today, but they were not injurious. The spring sowing of grain is in a better condition than usual at its present stage.

The fruit crop is promising. Large shipments of berries have been made from Hood River. The season will be at its height this week. Cherries are ripening rapidly and being shipped eastward to the mountains of the country.

Over the Plateau region vegetation is not so far advanced. The rains have been of benefit and conditions are flattering for all products. Throughout the stock country, the range food is good and the hay crop will be large.

A correspondent in Malheur county says: "The rain was of benefit. Many fields which would have been a failure will now make hay. Lambing is over; it is the largest on record—ninety per cent being the average for the country, an unprecedented increase. In the southeastern portion of the country, where they depend on large wild meadows, the hay crop will be short. Sheep will shear at least one pound more than last year, and it is better wool. Cattle are fat."

Oregon crop conditions may be summarized as present prospects never were better; everything indicates large crops and a successful year.

TRULY A REPUBLICAN ELECTION

The Right Side Wins Overwhelmingly Both in County and State.

In Wasco county, as in the entire state, a crushing Republican victory is recorded. Judge Bradshaw, the Union nominee for the circuit bench, has been elected by a fair majority; but this is principally on account of his popularity as a judge and the host of personal friends he has all over the district.

There are some doubts about other candidates, as full reports are not yet in, but there is little fear that any great change will be made when they are received.

In the local offices Charles E. Bayard was elected justice by a majority of 57 votes; while Frank Hill, a Democrat, was elected by a majority of 190 votes, which proves the popularity of the man among the citizens of The Dalles.

The returns from Antelope have not yet arrived, which prevents us from giving the total number of votes received by each candidate in the table.
