There will be a meeting of the Fourth of July committee on program this (Tuesday) evening at the rooms of the D. C. & A. C. at 9 o'clock.

Lovers of good music will enjoy a treat the evening of the 24th if they go on the excursion given by the Alpha Mandolin and Guitar Club.

Some of the latest songs, rendered by Miss Myrtle Michell, the popular vocalist, will be one of the attractions of the moonlight excursion the evening of the 24th.

Yesterday the Regulator brought 600 head of sheep belonging to Judge Mays to Collins landing for summer pasture. This makes 1800 that Mr. Mays has sent down Sunday and yesterday to the Skamania county ranges.

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the closing exercises for St. Joseph's school will take place in the hall of St. Mary's Academy, while the graduating exercises for the academy will take place on Thursday afternoon.

A telegram sent by Dr. Logan and wife yesterday announces that they will arrive home this morning. Their numerous friends will be glad to welcome them back, and offer them their heartiest congratulations, hoping that their future will be full of happiness.

About 11 o'clock last night a pleasant fall of rain set in and continued during a portion of the night. If this rain is general over Eastern Oregon, it comes as a blessing and will do much good to the crops, as well as cool off the atmosphere after the recent hot spell.

The following are the high scores for last week at the Unafilla House bowling alleys: Monday, H. Maetz, 67; Tuesday, J. Kirchoff, 73; Wednesday, H. Esping, 69; Thursday, H. Maetz, 64; Friday, H. Maetz, 60; Saturday, H. Maetz, 73; Sunday, H. Maetz, 63.

The Big Four Comedy Company arrived in the city on the Regulator last evening, and will give a performance in this city Wednesday night. It was their intention to play tonight; but their baggage being delayed on account of the large amount of freight at the portage, they were compelled to postpone the performance.

All the rivers are slowly rising. It was expected that a greater rise would be shown yesterday morning, but not occurring leads to the belief that the snow is melted except on the higher mountains. Comparatively cool weather has prevailed over the Snake river country, so that a further rise may be expected, with higher temperature.

The committee on music for the Fourth of July celebration held a meeting Sunday and decided to have at least three brass bands from the outside along with the Dalles band. This will certainly afford a sufficiency of patriotic music for the occasion, and it is certain that everything else in the turnout, will be in accordance with the musical program.

The name of J. S. Landers was among the hotel arrivals in Portland yesterday. The professor will spend some time with friends in Salem and other valley towns during his vacation. The Dalles is to be congratulated upon again securing the services of Prof. Landers in its schools, as it was feared for a time we might be compelled to lose him, he having intended to return to the East.

While it is customary for many of our citizens to spend their holidays in the shady nooks and along the creeks enjoying a picnic, it is to be hoped that this year everyone will feel it a duty, as well as a pleasure, to celebrate the Fourth at home. Many have contributed liberally to make the day a success in every way, and we are expecting many of our neighbors to join us in making glad our natal day. Let us all bid them welcome, and with them enjoy ourselves in the fullest sense of the word.

A number of our young people are combining business with pleasure, and while on a vacation have pitched their tents near the Hood River berry patches, where they can either spend their time resting in camp or be profitably engaged in berry-picking. That little of each is done is proven by the fact that one young lady reports that she makes $1.50 a day, while another is growing wealthy at 35 cents a day.

The Pendleton Tribune gives a very complimentary notice to a young lady who for a number of years attended St. Mary's Academy in this city, and was recently graduated from St. Joseph's Academy in that city, Miss Catherine M. Quaid. Many will remember her as being a particularly bright pupil when here, and will not be surprised that she is spoken of as being one of the brightest students ever graduated from that school.

Yesterday a lively runaway occurred in the East End. A freighter was unloading wool when his team became frightened and ran as far as James Blakeney's residence on Fourth street. At this point they ran into a team belonging to Lew Oakes and both teams started down the street. Mr. Oakes' son was in the wagon when the runaway started, and saved himself from probable injury by jumping. Both wagons were more or less injured and the horses badly hurt.

While the warm weather has paradoxically dampened the ardor of the bowlers, and caused them to seek the reading room, the billiard tables, and principally the veranda at the club, the bowling alleys are not entirely deserted, but a few enthusiasts can generally be found ready for a game. The high daily scores for last week were as follows: Monday, Vic Schmidt, 53; Tuesday, John Bonn, 49; Wednesday, John Bonn, 58; Thursday, Wm. Ketchum, 46; Friday, Wm. Ketchum, 56; Saturday, C. L. Phillips, 53; Sunday, John Bonn, 45.

Extensive preparations have been made for the twenty-ninth annual reunion of the Oregon Pioneer Association, which will convene at Portland tomorrow in Armory Hall. After the exercises a social reunion will be had, followed by a banquet. When the banquet is over the time is to be spent in renewing old acquaintances, forming new, and talking over days long syne. At 7:30 in the evening a business meeting will be held, followed by what is termed a "pioneers' experience meeting and love feast," in which all pioneers take part, relating experiences and giving short talks. Low rates have been obtained on all lines running into Portland and a large attendance is expected.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Robert Smith Probably Fatally Injured By a Horse.

Yesterday Robert Smith, of Dutch Flat, was riding a wild horse, when the animal reared up and fell backward with him, and it was done so quickly that the boy had no time to do anything towards saving himself, and he was caught under the animal. Although he was immediately freed from his position, it is feared his back was broken. One of his arms was dislocated.

He was brought to The Dalles for treatment, and a doctor called. It was not known last night whether or not his back was broken; but as he has, in all probability, sustained serious internal injuries, his recovery is doubtful.

At the time of the accident he was driving a band of cattle, and the horse, it is thought, became frightened at something and reared backward, with the above result.

Short Hand School.

The undersigned will commence teaching short-hand if a suitable number of scholars can be obtained by the 15th of June, 1898.

I will teach either the original Pittman or the American Standard System of Phonography, as suits the scholar, and must have a class of not less than ten. I will receive applications up to June 15th, and earnestly request all persons desiring instructions in phonography to call and see me on or before that date in order that I may arrange to get text books and fix terms of tuition.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

How It Was Observed by the Methodist Sunday School.

The second Sunday in June has been set apart as Children's Day in the Sunday schools, and was appropriately observed by the Methodist Sunday school yesterday. Some preparation had been made by the Congregationalists, but on account of arrangements which had been made for preaching service, was postponed.

The Methodist church was very prettily decorated, principally with roses, on the occasion, and with the daintily dressed children flitting around, made an attractive appearance. A large number of the parents and friends of the pupils were present to enjoy the exercises.

A printed program was followed, with a few variations, among which were several class recitations and songs. Particularly pleasing was the recitation by the little tots, some of whom were so small that their baby language could scarcely be understood.

Miss Nickelsen's class and a few of the older primary pupils, sang a sweet song, well suited to their childish voices.

The young man who was to have given a patriotic recitation being absent, the only one rendered was by Anita Bennett, entitled "Little Fie's Letter." Everyone was delighted with the manner in which the little Miss gave the recitation, her enunciation and expression being faultless for one so young.

A dialogue by Grover Young and Roy Taylor, "God Wants the Boys," was well spoken, and showed that just such energetic, wide-awake boys are the ones that are wanted.

It is customary on these occasions to hold a short memorial service for any members of the school who may have died during the year. Accordingly Miss Ruch's class sang a pretty memorial selection after which Helen Lytle placed on the altar a beautiful bunch of lilies in memory of Maude Obar, who died recently, and little Myrtle Rorden brought one in memory of Alice Wells, who was drowned on January 31st.

Rev. Wood gave an address appropriate to the day, after which several songs were sung, and the exercises with "America."

WOODMEN MONUMENT UNVEILED

In Memory of Departed Members of That Order.

Sunday afternoon Mt. Hood Camp No. 59 assembled at Fraternity hall, and at 2:30 marched in a body to the Odd Fellows cemetery, where the ceremony of unveiling two monuments to two of the departed members of the order, Daniel L. De Wolfe and Stephen J. Thompson, were held.

Council - Commander James Taylor opened the exercises, after which the choir sang the beautiful anthem "Nearer My God to Thee." This was followed by the ritualistic unveiling ceremony, which was beautiful and impressive. The poem, "Oh Why Should the Spirit of Mortal Be Proud," was then read by Dr. Doan.

At the conclusion of the ceremony over the grave of Daniel De Wolfe, the members of the camp and friends of the departed moved to the grave of Stephen Thompson, where a like ceremony was held.

It is the custom of the Woodmen to erect a monument like those unveiled Sunday over the grave of each of their departed members, and the promptness with which the fulfilled their obligation in this instance, speaks well for the order.

The ceremonies throughout were interesting and impressive and were largely attended.
