HOW THE WAR WILL HELP.

This war will benefit the country in other ways than those which are ordinarily considered, says the Globe Democrat. It will forever prevent the recurrence of the condition of unreadiness in which the present conflict found us. Two war balloons, it is reported, have just been bought in France, will be in readiness for active use in a few days, and will be sent to the army which is about to invade Cuba. A supply of smokeless powder, it is learned from another source, is being gathered as rapidly as possible, to be used instead of the older kind still employed in the navy. The factories which manufacture the Krag-Jorgenson rifle, the gun which is used by the infantry of the regular army, are being rushed to such an extent that if the war should last ten or twelve months longer enough of these guns would be on hand to supply all the volunteers with it, as well as all the insurgents who are likely to be found.

Admiral Sampson has provided a good harbor for the army transports when they arrive, thirty miles east of Santiago, in addition to several landing places near the besieged city. The admiral is a man of excellent foresight.

Geographers say that the summer climate of Cuba is better than is generally supposed in the United States. The opinion usually held is based on the bad sanitary condition of Havana, Matanzas and some other of the seaports.

There are few men more wide awake and enterprising than Blakely & Houghton, who spare no pains to secure the best of everything in their line for their many customers. They now have the valuable agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. This is the wonderful remedy that is producing such a furor all over the country by its many startling cures. It absolutely cures Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all affections of the throat, chest and lungs. Call at the above drugstore and get a trial bottle free or a regular size for 50 cents and $1. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.

Aside altogether from the settlement of the Cuban problem forever, and from the acquisition of the Philippines and Porto Rico, which the war will bring, it will show us what we lack in the way of national defense, and will incite us to supply it for the future. The country was very far from being ready for war when war came. The men, in congress and out of it, who shouted earliest, longest and loudest for war, were the men who howled down all attempts urged by patriotic and sagacious persons to make adequate preparation for war if it should come. These men opposed every addition which has been made to the navy, and prevented many additions which were urged, and which, if made, would have enabled us to have sent Spain out of Cuba without the firing of a shot on our side, or to have ended the war in two weeks if Spain refused to get out peaceably.

The defeated, right along until the war actually came, all endeavors to increase the regular army to a figure which would insure national safety. The trivial increase of the army which the spur of actual war extorted from them was accompanied by a stipulation which seeks to reduce the army to its old line after the war ends.

All this will be prevented in the future. The blindness, cowardice and folly which kept the navy down near that of bankrupt Spain and held the army far below the level of that of little Switzerland, will end now. One of the arguments of the opponents of an adequate army and navy has been that such things are un-republican and a menace to liberty. Another argument equally childish is that a country with 70,000,000 of inhabitants and over $70,000,000,000 of wealth, as the United States has, needed neither standing army nor navy. These big figures of population and national resources would, they contended, protect it from assault.

Neither of these idiocies will have any standing in the court of public opinion hereafter. The present war, though against an antagonistic contemptibly weak, has shown that great population and immense wealth, unless when they are transmuted into fighting ships and fighting men, would leave a nation as powerless as the giant China proved to be when assailed by the pygmy Japan.
