suspicious as to the way it was made out, refused to accept it. Naylor then took it, saying he would make out another, but instead tore it up and refused to pay the amount. Accordingly he was arrested.

R. O. Judson, who was the prime mover in the Wool-Growers' Association which was held here, is now busily engaged in planning a convention of farmers, which will be held in Astoria on July 20th and 21st, principally in the interest of dairymen. Invitations will be sent to every farmer in Oregon and Washington, and those who know Mr. Judson are assured of its success.

Every day numbers of people from California are arriving in Portland, driven there by the drought. A gentleman from Southern California, speaking of their coming, said: "People up here in emerald Oregon can form no idea of what a terrible southern drought means, and the suffering and impoverishment which it inflicts on people. I shall sell my Southern California place and buy a small farm in Oregon."

If anyone has an idea that The Dalles is not all right in a business way, they will soon change their minds by visiting the different warehouses where wool is daily arriving, and then watching the teams going out loaded down with supplies. Then call at the commission houses and see how much fruit is shipped, not speaking of the other shipments made, and if The Dalles is not all right, where do you find a place that is?

The annual convention of Christian churches of this state begins this morning at Turner, near Salem, and will continue until July 4th. Rev. Boltz and wife, of the Christian church of this city, went down on the boat yesterday morning to be in attendance at the opening sessions, and will be absent from the city for about two weeks, during which time the Sunday evening services at the Christian church will be dispensed with.

The Good Intent Society, which met with Mrs. D. M. French yesterday afternoon, was particularly favored by having with them Mrs. Hoxter, of the Portland Refuge Home, who gave a most interesting talk concerning the work of that institution. Those who heard Mrs. Hoxter speak at the Methodist church one evening last winter, were deeply impressed with the work this institution is doing, and have, since that time, felt more than a passing interest in its welfare.

Wednesday's weather report says: "The Snake river shows a marked fall this morning. The Columbia remains stationary. Cool weather continues over the entire Columbia river basin. The upper rivers will continue to fall slowly. The fall will be observable at Umatilla Thursday, at The Dalles Friday, and west of the Cascades on Saturday. The fall will not be rapid but will be continuous. There is absolutely no danger of a further rise."

It is authoritatively stated that on a new quartz location on Willow Creek, four miles above Malheur City, three men have panned out daily from thirty to fifty dollars in gold with hand mortars and in the past twelve days have taken out a total of sixteen hundred dollars. This bonanza rivals the Great Northern mine at Canyon City. It is said that the ledge is two feet in width and between well defined walls. There is a widespread excitement over this find of yellow metal and mining men of long experience who have seen the property are emphatic in asserting that a lasting and prolific quartz mine has been uncovered.

Much is said in the Oregonian concerning Oregon's Official Roster, dedicated to the Second Regiment, Oregon Volunteer Infantry, and compiled by Amelia de F. Smith, of Portland. In looking over a copy last evening, we find it to be a very valuable little souvenir; especially will it be so in after years when, mayhap, many of the likenesses of whose faces can be found therein, and whose signatures also appear, have given their lives for their country. It is neatly gotten up and bound together with Manila hemp. As we turned over the pages of the roster we could not help feeling a pride that it contained so many familiar signatures.

The Pendleton Tribune says: "It is said that the wheat fields in the vicinity of Sand Hollow are beginning to show effects of what is supposed to be the Hessian fly. The heads of the wheat turn white and the grains wither away. These white heads can be seen in large numbers, but so far they are not enough to effect the yield. The fly is supposed to lay an egg in the joint of the stock, which hatches into a worm that destroys the plant. The insect has been known in the county for several years, but the injuries have not been great enough to cause much attention, and no one has made an exact study of the parasite."

SUMMER RESORTS.

Dalles People Favored in This Regard— Numerous Places for an Outing.

Dalles people do not fully appreciate their advantages as regards summer outings. Few people are so situated that they have the choice of such varied means of enjoying their vacations. Around us on every hand are mountain streams flowing through the most beautiful valleys, just the ideal place to pitch a tent and take up an abode for a few days. Or to the northwest is Mt. Adams, where not alone can the beauty of the scenery be enjoyed, but Trout lake, near by, furnishes ample sport for nimble, and the berry patches all the fruit one would desire. Many take advantage of this latter fact to prepare berries for winter use.

Then to the south of us is grand old Mt. Hood, which, from the fact that good accommodations are furnished at the inn, makes it grow to be more popular every year as a resort.

For business men, who wish their families to be in close proximity, where they can spend the Sabbath with them, Moffet Springs, Cascade Locks, Hood River, Collins' Landing, Jewett's, and numberless places along the river, furnish the very spots to go for an outing. Then, too, how fortunate we are in being so near the seashore, and in having three different resorts of this nature from which to make a choice. Fares are so cheap to either of these places that most any of our citizens can spend a portion of the summer enjoying the ocean breezes and bathing in the surf.

These mentioned are not the only places where an outing can be enjoyed, but they are too numerous to enumerate. Truly we are a favored people in this regard, and none should take up the winter's work without having improved these opportunities to refresh themselves and become rested.

Smiley's Ghost.

Ghosts, hobgoblins and such uncanny specimens are usually supposed to frequent old manses or haunted houses and like spookey places; nor would we think of discovering or encountering one of these unwelcome visitors in a new school building, especially in broad daylight. However, such was the case yesterday afternoon at the new building on the hill, when one of the workmen came near losing his life from fright. Being sent down to clean out one of the ducts in the basement, which had already been covered with wood, preparatory to giving it a cement covering, he found himself in utter darkness, and what was his horror to also find that he was not the only occupant of the duct, but in the other end loomed up a ghastly figure with white wings. Soon his fellow workmen saw him "bob up suddenly from below" with a horrified expression and shaking from head to foot. As soon as he could speak he made known his awful situation, and although assured that it must be his imagination, no spirits being allowed on the ground, he flatly refused to re-enter.

After much discussion, one brave workman, armed with a six-shooter, ventured cautiously in. Creeping stealthily up like a nigger to a hen roost, what did he behold but a poor, little white chicken, flapping its wings for want of breath, and with apparently no "fowl" intent. And yet Smiley declares that he is not chicken-hearted.

Your summer's vacation will be incomplete without one of our Magazine Cyclone cameras. Anyone can operate it. Takes twelve pictures without opening the camera. Call at Donnell's drug-store and see them and the pictures taken with them. Prices $3.50, $6 and $10.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

He rose to depart as the clock sounded eight. And getting his hat and his cane. His wife sweetly murmured, "Now, don't stay out late. Dear Charlie, remember the Maine!" With that somewhat startling injunction in view. He was back home at ten with his pet. For should he stay later he very well knew. What a great blowing up he would get.

All the latest novelties in veillings just received at Campbell & Wilson's millinery parlors, direct from New York City, the headquarters of fashion. A Scotchman has constructed a bicycle which he can take apart and carry into a train, after having folded it within the space occupied by three umbrellas. M. J. Manning, who is buying wool for Jacob Wollner, started the ball rolling yesterday by purchasing the first clip, about 25,000 pounds, paying a good price, somewhere about 12 or 13 cents.

Portland schools closed yesterday, and exercises were held in the assembly room of the high school last evening. The graduating class is one of the largest in the history of the school, numbering fifty-three.

Lovers of good music as well as poetical wit, will be pleased to learn that among the passengers on the Regulator last night was "U. P. Sam," whose dulcet tones will no doubt be heard on our street corners today.

Last night at about 9 o'clock a son was born to the wife of W. H. Mansfield. Instead of walking the ties, as most printers do, Billy can now walk the floor. THE CHRONICLE congratulates him on his change of occupation.

Mrs. A. C. Stubling & Son will soon begin on the erection of a new hot house especially for the culture of carnations and violets. The increasing trade makes this necessary and Mrs. Stubling feels that her efforts will be appreciated by her patrons.

The National Congregational Council will convene in Portland on the 7th of next month, and will be attended by Congregationalists from every part of the United States. A very instructive and interesting time is expected, and many will attend from this city.

One very attractive feature of our celebration will be the singing under the leadership of Prof. Lundell. Beside a double male quartet, a large chorus of mixed voices will furnish several selections. Those who have been asked to aid in this chorus should consider it a privilege to do so.

The ministers are not the only ones who are being kept busy in the matrimonial market these days, although they have been doing a land office business. Justice Filloon, determined not to be outdone, Tuesday tied the knot which united in marriage Wm. A. Doyle and Alice Spoonmore.

Tuesday evening during the time of the social given by the ladies of the Christian church, Lee Buskirk and another boy were coming down the stairs leading to the basement. The boy unintentionally gave Lee a push, which caused him to fall down the stairway, breaking his collar bone. Dr. Eshelman was at once called and reduced the fracture.

Herman Naylor was arrested yesterday morning, having forged a check for $5. He gave the check to Jordon, who afterwards was going to pay it to Joe Parodi. However, the latter being somewhat
