A large number of Dallesites will take advantage of the 50-cent round trip rate to Bonneville next Sunday, as all who made the trip last Sunday report an enjoyable trip. The O. R. & N. Co. will run an extra coach between The Dalles and Bonneville to relieve the overcrowded trains.

The Sarah Dixon arrived last evening about 9 o'clock, after having gone to Bonneville and met the Baker which, on account of the swift water, was not powerful enough to come as far as the locks. A transfer of freight and passengers will be made at this place until such time as the Regulator and Dalles City are in shape to go into service again.

Yesterday G. A. Clarke, the east end jeweler, put in a fine stock of watches, clocks, jewelry and opticians goods, which he is ready to offer at the lowest possible prices. He respectfully invites his friends, patrons and the general public to call and inspect his stock before purchasing elsewhere. He has been in the jewelry business in this city for over three years and understands it thoroughly so that he can be relied upon to do first-class repairing as well as make the lowest prices on the goods he carries.

Ex-County Clerk L. V. Ehlen of Marion county, who has been missing from Salem since the morning of the day the tally-sheet forgeries were discovered, returned Wednesday evening in company with District Attorney Hayden. Ehlen was met at the train by Tilmon Ford, who conducted the preliminary examination of D'Arcy, Carson and Richardson, and after making a short call at his home he was taken to Ford's office, evidently for the purpose of avoiding reporters. No communication could be received from Ehlen or his friends tonight, but it may safely be said that he has returned to tell what he knows about the ballot frauds, and to straighten up any deficiencies that may be found in his accounts. The experts will probably report tomorrow, and it is expected that the report will show a deficiency of something less than $3,000. This will be made good by Ehlen's relatives. Ehlen's return will probably lead to more arrests and sensational developments.

The catch of salmon on the upper river has fallen off somewhat during the last week, and at present a light catch is being made. On the lower river the catch is reported very heavy, and some of the canneries are getting more fish than they can handle. With an increase in the catch on the lower river it means a like increase in a few days on the upper river, so that the fishermen around The Dalles are looking for a big run shortly. So far the fishermen have done very well, and with an increased catch towards the end of the season, they will reap a fairly good harvest.

Funeral of George P. Morgan.

Fraternity hall was well filled with friends last evening, who had gathered to pay their last tribute to one who during life was highly respected by all—George P. Morgan.

The order of Workmen, of which deceased was a member, attended in a body and took charge of the services at the cemetery, the services at the hall being conducted by Rev. Jos. DeForest, of the Episcopal church. Two very appropriate hymns were sung by the choir, and the solo by Miss Georgia Sampson, "Over the Stars There is Rest," was particularly sweet and impressive.

The floral offerings were many and very beautiful, showing that the friends of the deceased were anxious to express their regard for him and their sympathy for her who now mourns his loss. The remains were interred in Odd Fellows' cemetery.

A special coach will be run between The Dalles and Bonneville every Sunday hereafter to accommodate the Dalles people. The coach will be run on train No. 3, leaving The Dalles at 6:55 a. m. and returning on train No. 4, leaving Bonneville at 3:32 p. m. Fare only 50 cents for the round trip.

THREE INDIANS DROWNED.

Two Squaws and an Indian Boy Are Drowned Near Seufert's--A Faulty Boat Probably Caused the Accident--Two Others Saved.

Yesterday afternoon the names of three more unfortunate victims were enrolled on the already long list of those who have lost their lives by drowning in the treacherous Columbia. They were two squaws and an Indian boy, who were crossing the river from the Washington side at the time the accident occurred.

It seems that an Indian and the boy who was drowned borrowed a boat from Jake Andrews to bring the two squaws and another Indian across the river. The boat was a new one, and it is supposed was faulty in its construction, which caused it to upset when they were rowing near the mouth of 5-Mile, below what is known as the big eddy and quite close to Seufert Bros.' cannery. It evidently was caught in a whirlpool, and before the oarsman could do anything the boat was swamped.

The two men held on to the side of the boat, but the boy and the two Indian women were thrown into the foaming water. The two latter embraced each other as they were thrown from the boat and raised to the surface twice in the same position, then sinking to rise no more. The little boy drifted down the stream further and further away from the overturned boat, and at last sunk and nothing more was seen of him. The two men held on to the boat with the energy of despair until Jake Andrews rowed out and rescued them from the fate which their companions had already met.

As the Indians were strangers around Seufert's, we could not learn the names of the three unfortunate victims, but judge from what we could learn that they were Yakima Indians who were coming over to fish or work for the fishermen along the river.

None of the bodies have yet been recovered.
