Constable Hill returned from Portland today having in charge Charles Wand who is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. Wand has been placed in jail and will have his hearing in the justice court tomorrow.

G. C. Millett, a well-known Lane county farmer, who lives near Junction City, completed threshing his crop Monday. He saved 14,000 bushels of wheat and 2000 bushels of oats and barley from 600 acres of land, an average of 26 1/2 bushels per acre.

She Salem Statesman observes that the "beautiful Willamette" will lose its reputation as a river if it gets much lower. Old bars, snags and other uncouth things generally covered with a decent flow of water are at present high and dry on the upper river.

Kishwauk, the Eastern Oregon Indian sheep king, is nothing if not progressive. On a visit to The Dalles the other day he purchased, among other supplies for his ranch, a windmill, pump and tank, and a large quantity of pipe, which he proposes to use in irrigating his land.

The disease reported to be glanders among the horses in the White Mud lake country, 10 miles east of Colville, is said to be a species of water farcy. While a number of horses have died of the disease this summer and spring, the spread of the malady has been checked by the well-directed efforts of a veterinary.

A large wool sale took place at the Wasco Warehouse yesterday. Charles Donn, of Antelope, sold his entire clip of about 30,000 pounds to Mr. Willie, who represents a Chicago house, at 15 cents. This is considered a very good price, and

Mr. Bann is not sorry he held this long. This sale does not indicate that the bottom has fallen out of the market and will have the effect of causing the producers to hold their wool for still higher prices.

A picture of the silk flag which was donated by the B. P. O. E., of this city, to Co. G., O. N. G. and was presented to the Elks by Mr. Gifford, was in Mays and Crowe store at the time of the fire and in all probability was carried out by someone. If anyone has the same they would confer a favor by returning it.

J. V. O'Leary, of Sherman county, is delivering 2400 head of mutton sheep to a Portland buyer, driving to the S. P. Ry. at Eugene. Forestry cranks have literally played smash with sheep husbandry in the Waiting Empire—the only profitable industry we've ever had. Now we can wait some more, says the Sherman County Observer.

Monday Charles Burchdorf opened a repair shop in the building formerly occupied by the Dalles steam laundry on the corner of Third and Federal streets. For several years he has been in the employ of Mays and Crowe and is a unexcelled as a gunsmith, bicycle repairing and at all kinds of machine work. He will also deal in plumbing goods and invites anyone desiring anything in this line to give him a call. 8-30-2t

The Jacobson Book and Music Company placed in their window this morning an article which proves a source of amusement to all the little folks and many of the older people. It is a statue of Uncle Sam posing as a violinist. His features are lit up with a jovial smile and his eyes are rolling in glee as he thinks of the fast music he gave the Spaniards to keep step to. They have also a large collection of pictures known as glass medallions which are the most beautiful things of the kind we have ever seen.

A lively runaway occurred in this city this forenoon. A team belonging to an Indian was standing near the Regulator wharf when it took fright and had a lively chase up Second street. The horses were unhitched from the wagon having nothing but the double trees fastened to them at the time. They were very evenly matched in point of speed and kept together until they reached three-mile when they tired out and were caught and brought back. No one was injured by the runaway although numerous people were on the streets at the time while the damage to the horses or harness was trivial.

This morning Deputy Sheriff F. C. Sexton arrested James Denton, aged eleven, and Claud and Guy Root, aged respectively eleven and eight years. They are charged with having stolen money from the residence of a chinaman who lives on the hill near the fair grounds. Their hearing before Judge Mays began at 2 o'clock this afternoon and, although, the evidence against the lads is strong they will in all probability be severely reprimanded and discharged. They have not the appearance of bad boys and are the children of two respectable citizens, Thomas Denton and John Root. There was some talk of them being sent to the reform school but on account of their being so young such a course does not seem necessary.

According to the expectation of all concerned the Steamer Regulator was successfully launched yesterday afternoon and put into the mouth of the locks. In launching the boat, however, a piece of one of the ways was forced through the bottom of the craft and after launching the water poured into the hull rapidly and soon the vessel was laying on her side in a rather bad condition. The managers of the D. P. and A. line have sent for 150 more barrels and after placing them in her hold hope to be able to successfully float the craft to Portland. The most difficult part of the whole matter will be taking the boat through the swift water below the locks; this will not be attempted, however, until it is put in shape so that there will be little danger of any further accidents.

J. Frakk Watson has sued ex-Sheriff B. C. Agee, of Douglas county, in Roseburg, for $10,000 damages. It seems Watson secured on June 8, a decree and judgment against the Noonday Mining Company, of Bohemia, for $5202.68, accrued interest, attorney's fees and costs. An execution was issued and the date of the sale of the property, machinery, etc., was set for Saturday, August 13. Before the appointed time arrived, however, the Noonday company filed a stay bond with the sheriff, and took an appeal to the supreme court, the sheriff relying upon the stay bond and refusing to sell the property as advertised. The sheriff's disregard of a stay bond made him liable to a suit for damages brought by either party, as a mine is regarded as personal property, and is not subject to redemption like real estate.

Shortly after Sheriff Kelly stepped into office he published a notice in the papers, to taxpayers, urging them to pay their delinquent taxes. The Oregonian of August 7th said of his notice that it was the most extreme case of official politeness in the history of Oregon politics. Along with making game of it, it seems anxious to know whether property owners would settle any more quickly than if they had been put to the trouble of paying costs of seizure and sale. At the time the notice was inserted there was $60,000 delinquent. The amount he handed to the county treasurer today, $4900.61 will increase the amount collected since he took charge of the tax rolls to $16175.92 or one-fourth of the delinquent taxes of the county. Considering that the farmers and wool men have not yet marketed their produce this is certainly a splendid showing and should satisfy any inquiries concerning the effectiveness of Sheriff Kelly's "polite notice."
