

Fall Greeting.

WE ASK FOR YOUR TRADE THIS SEASON, feeling that our dealings cannot fail to be mutually profitable and satisfactory. In the first place our new line of goods for the season is so sound and substantial as to quality and value, as to leave no room for dissatisfaction on the part of the buyer. The honest merit of our goods is an effective appeal to the good judgment of the customer who realizes that nothing is cheap which does not possess sterling worth proportionate to the price asked. We aim to select and sell only such goods as will fill the expectation of the buyer from first to last; at the time of purchase it is mainly a question of style, afterward it becomes a test of service and durability.

You will find us stocked with the goods that meet these demands, and as time proves the genuineness of our quality, you will feel like coming for more.

We are sellers of goods of high grade and quality, strictly modern in style, and very low in price. If this is the style of doing business that strikes you as promising the best results for buyers, come right along, for we shall meet your expectations and give the best satisfaction. We have tried to state our position fairly and without boasting. The facts we have presented for your consideration we can substantiate at any time with quality and price. We have an earnest desire to do just as well by you as we possibly can on every purchase and to thereby merit and obtain your future esteemed patronage.

J. O. Mack, secretary of the agricultural society for the second district, will make Thomas Hudson's office his headquarters until after the fair. Anyone caring to consult Mr. Mack on any subject can find him at the above named place. He informs us that the premium list is in the hands of the state printer and will be here in a short time. Everything at present points to one of the most successful meetings that has ever been held in The Dalles.

A cunning coyote carried off a hunting coat in the pockets of which were two grouse, near Wilbur, the other day. A Pendleton sportsman had laid the garment on the ground, and while waiting for his train wandered away some little distance. When he returned the coat was gone, and upon search being made it was found some distance away. Feathers were strewn all around, but the birds were gone.

Yesterday Constable Sweat of Arlington, arrived in this city after a man by the name of Harry Eimer for whom a warrant was sworn out in Gilliam county for the larceny of a saddle. Deputy constable Butts succeeded in finding Eimer and placing him under arrest, and Mr. Sweat left last night for home fully convinced that the officers in The Dalles were hard to beat when it comes to the matter of capturing a criminal.

Last evening J. B. Frazier, better known among his friends in The Dalles as the "Montana Kid," left with eight cars of bucks for Billings, Montana. The sheep were purchased from the Baldwin Sheep & Land Company and Thomas Hamilton. At Willows, they will pick up seven more cars of sheep which will also be shipped to Billings. This will probably be Mr. Frazier's last trip to Oregon this season and the many warm friends the "Montana Kid" has made while here are grieved to have him go.

Accompanying the letter which we publish today from Roy Ballard was a legal paper which Mr. Ballard says he found in an old vault at Cavite. Although we were unable to translate it fully, we judge that it contains orders from some high authority, and as it is dated 1762 it is certainly a curiosity on account of its extreme age, being over 130 years old. The paper is unruled and the writing very distinct and neat. But on account of age it has a tendency to crack on being exposed to the air, and in order to keep it perfect great care must be taken in handling it.

Today Seraphine Nace, against whom a charge of larceny of a horse has been brought in by Andy Willis of Grass Valley, is being tried in the justice court. It appears that from what Mr. Willis informs us about the case that the horse strayed away from him and that he sold the horse to someone else.

The case was still being tried at the time of going to press so that the result cannot be given today. H. S. Wilson and Sinnott and Sinnott appear for the defendant and A. A. Jayne for the prosecution.

Last evening Mr. W. A. Johnston returned from a business trip to Portland having in his possession what he declares to be a ring made of Klondike gold which was dug by his friend, C. W. Stone formerly of this city, and made into the ring by this same well known jeweler. It is a plain band of gold except, on the place where the setting is in other rings, it contains the raised letters "Klondike" in two grades of gold which on account of the difference in their colors make it very odd. The ring was sent from Dawson with Mr. Smith, of Arlington, who recently returned.

Mrs. Robert Powell, of Ritter, was seriously injured in a runaway accident Tuesday evening while en route with her husband to Long Creek. A portion of the harness gave away, allowing the tongue of the wagon to drop to the ground, and while Mr. Powell was in the act of repairing it the horses started to run, knocking him down and overturning the vehicle. Mrs. Powell was thrown from the wagon to the ground, and suffered a fractured nose and a terribly lacerated face and head. She will recover. Mr. Powell was not seriously injured.

Threshing crews report that the yield of wheat has been greater throughout all of Klickitat county than was expected by farmers. Peter Anderson, who has a farm east of Goldendale, expected a machine measure of 1700 bushels of marketable wheat. When threshing was completed, Mr. Anderson found he had 2500 bushels of A1 wheat. Mr. Collins harvested 700 bushels more than he expected. Others who are reported to have harvested more than they expected are: John Burgen, Scott Warwick, Moore & Son, C. A. Clausen, M. J. Healey and Hon. J. C. Thompson. A great scarcity of harvest hands is reported in the Klickitat valley. Some of the threshing crews are reported to be doing double work.

The most enjoyable event of the winter promises to be the musicale by the Alpha Mandolin and Guitar Club. The club consists of sixteen talented players, and there will also be instrumental solos, duettes and quartettes. Along with the instrumental part will also be several vocal selections by Misses Myrtle Mitchell and Georgia Sampson. The ability of both these young ladies is too well known to need any recommendation. The programme throughout will contain such a variety of selections and each number will be so different from its preceding one that it will be impossible for the recital to be anything but a flattering success. 1f

NOTICE.

On account of repairs which have to be made it will be necessary for the electric light plant to close down Sunday night so there will be no lights on that occasion.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

THE PROCEEDINGS CLOSED AT NOON TODAY.

A Pleasant and Profitable Meeting— Beautiful Dedication Ceremonies Held this Afternoon.

Thursday afternoon's session of the annual teachers' institute opened by singing the following songs: "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Scattering Precious Seeds" and "I Love the Little Red School House."

T. M. B. Chastain on "Current Events" deplored the lack of teaching current events. An open discussion followed. It was suggested that papers containing such items be placed in reach of pupils in the school room.

C. R. Deems read a most eloquent paper on "Relation of the Flag to the School." He says it rests with the school to teach and foster patriotism. Teachers should instruct the pupils in the full meaning of the flag in its broadest sense. A general discussion followed, Means and method of procuring flags for schools were discussed. All schools should be supplied with flags. It was moved and seconded that Mr. Deems send his paper to the Oregon School Journal for publication.

Prof. Landers presented "How to Interest the Child in Nature Study" in his usually entertaining style. He says the only way to conduct and interest children in nature study is with a regular outlined course. Avoid the use of text books; use whatever may come to hand in this line, especially those things that children are already somewhat familiar with. Teach well what you can and let the rest go.

Miss Susanna Ward introduced the subject of "Grammar," giving a very complete outline of this subject. A short discussion followed.

Miss Erma Benson presented the topic of "Busy Work." She mentioned a number of devices available by all teachers for instructional "busy work." She emphasized the necessity of keeping pupils busy and interested.

"Indirect Effect of the Common School," presented by Prof. John Gavin, contained many truths which it would be well for taxpayers in general to read. Prof. Gavin promises to publish the paper complete in the near future.

F. B. Barnes in "English vs. Mathematics" made an earnest plea for the placing of more literature study in our common schools. He asks that mathematics be trimmed a little and put more English in its place. A general discussion followed, Profs. Ackerman, Gavin, Mr. Neff and Miss Douthitt taking part. There is a growing sentiment in favor of eliminating much of the number work until later in the child's school life.

"A Plea for Thoroughness" by Miss Lillian Ackerman was straight to the point and contained a pathetic mental picture of the lack of thoroughness on the part of teachers and pupils. She says (after using the old adage, "Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves"): "Take care of the 7 and 8-year-old, and the 14 and 15-year-olds will take care of themselves." A short discussion followed.

C. I. Brown made an effective talk upon "The Advantages of the Country School," holding out prominent characters of the past history of our country as products of the country school. He spoke of the economy of time, lesser temptation, a better chance for nature study, and a stronger fostering by circumstances, of independence and self-reliance.

FRIDAY'S SESSION. At Friday morning's session Prof. Ackerman resumed his talk upon his trip to Mt. Vernon. He graphically described Washington's home, remarking upon the impressive smallness of the compartments and stairways, and the extreme massiveness of the veranda, and the simplicity of all surroundings. The most impressive thing was the vast mechanical changes which have taken place since Washington's time.

The instruction for the day began with the subject of "Grammar," as presented by Prof. Ackerman. He illustrated quite plainly the construction of sentences as given by Maxwell's Grammar. He says that the branch that requires the most study and the deepest thought is grammar, but when the foundation is once firmly fixed in the mind, then the higher parts come to the mind with much less difficulty.

The mental arithmetic, which had been omitted yesterday, was now taken up by Prof. Gavin. He says that the mental arithmetic of today has been connected too closely to the written arithmetic, and that better results would be obtained if the mental arithmetic was a teacher's book only and not given into hands of the pupils.

Prof. J. H. Ackerman instructed the teachers in saluting the flag. Following is the salute: "I pledge allegiance to my flag, and the republic for which it stands, one nation inseparable, with liberty and justice to all." The salute accompanied by the proper gestures gives the most pleasing effect.

Prof. Ackerman took up the subject of "A Graded Course of Study for the State for County Schools." He discoursed upon the advantages of the same and pointed out many disadvantages in the present system.

Prof. Landers gave an interesting talk upon "The Study of Weather" illustrating by an experiment the use and construction of the barometer.

Dedication of the High School Building. The dedication of the new high school building took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The first number of the program was a vocal solo, "Be Good Sweet Maid," by Miss Georgia Sampson, and the beautiful rendition of the same delighted the audience, which was so large that it was impossible for all to find standing room in the commodious apartment in which the exercises were conducted.

Rev. Joseph DeForest pronounced the invocation, after which the Dallas Instrumental Quartet, consisting of Prof. Ryan, Clinton Alden, J. M. Reese and Irvin Parkins, rendered "Gay Coney Island" on the guitars and mandolins.

Dr. Doane spoke on the new building, after which Miss Hattie Cran rendered the beautiful selection, "Little Boy Blue," in her usual charming manner, and that it was listened to with delight and a hearty encore followed, is unnecessary to say.

The formal dedication followed, and after the presentation of the key by the chairman of the school board, S. E. Adams, and its acceptance by John Gavin, the city superintendent, the quartet rendered the selection, "The Alpha."

Prof. J. H. Ackerman followed with a learned address after Prof. Birgfeld rendered a beautiful violin solo.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. H. Wood and the afternoon's exercises closed by the singing of the chorus "America."

The new school building which has (Concluded on 4th page.)
