The Dalles City last night brought up two car loads of iron for Mays & Crowe.

It is not generally known that there is a daily issue of "Harper's", but such is a fact. Ask Stabling.

Today has been an ideal day for collection day. Indeed it is a perfect day in every respect. Talk about the "rare" days of June; what's the matter with October?

R. B. Hood was busy yesterday arranging the furniture in his new store, in the burnt district. He has new and second-hand goods, and says he is prepared to sell cheaper than he ever did.

The ladies of the Congregational church will give a reception for the new minister, the Rev. D. V. Poling, at the residence of Mr. Trumau Butler, Wednesday evening, October 5. All friends of the church are cordially invited.

J. C. Oliphant, the well-known purser of the O. R. & N. Co's. steamer R. R. Thompson, left today for the Snake river, where he will act as purser on the O. R. & N. Co's steamer Norma. Mr. Oliphant, since his coming to Portland, has held many responsible positions with different navigation companies.—Telegram.

If the reporter had been able to reach the East End this morning, no doubt many items of interest could have been gleaned from this hub of business activity; but not even a pedestrian could make way through the countless wheel teams lined up in front of the warehouses. However, a telephone message informs us what is selling the same as yesterday, at fifty cents.

The matter of repairing the road and opening a street between the properties of Robt. Mays and M. Randall, on the hill, is an important one. This short road really is private property belonging to the two gentlemen mentioned, who have offered to donate it to the city providing work is done in putting it in good shape, as it is now not fit for use. This will be a great convenience and should be done.

The first frost of the season occurred last night, though not severe enough to do any damage. This is considered early for its appearance, although Mr. Brooks informs us that since 1875 we have had frost on the 3d of October three different years—in 1877, 1878 and 1884. The latest date of its arrival since that time was on October 31, 1876.

For some time much discussion and controversy have been going on over the matter of making Hood river a public highway, arising mostly over the franchise obtained by Winans Brothers. A petition was presented to the county court asking that this stream be declared a public highway, and County Commissioner Evans has been instructed to procure the necessary right of way as required by law. His report will probably be presented at the next term of court.

In looking over today's Oregonian we came across a large cut, which was supposed to represent Hon. Albert S. Roberts, joint representative of Wasco and Sherman counties. However, like the school boy's picture of a cow, it had to be labeled before any of his friends could tell who it was. We claim Mr. Roberts as a Dallesite, and are proud to do so; but always thought him good looking enough to sit for his own photograph.

C. B. Durbin lost nearly his entire band of thoroughbred Spanish and Delaware bucks at Prairie City recently. He says he thinks they were poisoned by strychnine. Dr. Belknap examined the stomachs and found the mucous membrane eaten out and the entrails were perfectly smooth and white. If the cause had been due to alkali the entrails would have shown presence of grit. This is quite a loss to Mr. Durbin, as he had a band of 400 head, says the Grant County News.

The action of the council last night in regard to lighting our streets with arc lights will meet the approval of a long, suffering public, who have been clamoring for more light ever since they have been deprived of what was the pride of the city—the arc lights. While appreciating the fact that the council did what they deemed expedient for the welfare of the city, it was a question in many minds whether in the long run it was not a mistake to remove them. It is therefore hoped that ere long we will bask in the brilliant light afforded by the electric current and cease groping in darkness.

On Thursday evening the Columbia river branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church will convene in this city, continuing over Sunday. It is expected that about seventy-five delegates from Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana will be present, and for some weeks past the ladies of that society have been preparing entertainment for their guests. An excellent program has been prepared for each meeting, and as two or three return missionaries will be in attendance and give addresses on their work, all certainly will be interested and entertained. The public is invited to be present.

If any who have been accustomed to paying a dollar for any kind of entertainment worth listening to, attended the concert given by the Tennessee Students last night with the expectation of hearing a twenty-five-cent show, they were pleasantly disappointed. The members of this company have fine voices, and the singing was worth double the price of admission, while their selections include a number of the very latest songs. Their choruses were particularly good, perhaps the most pleasing being "Those Ding Dong Bells," although many of them were worthy of mention. The male trio was excellent and was compelled to answer several encores. Some of the dancing was first-class, especially that of Susie Williams, who is also the contralto singer. Another entertainment will be given tonight, and those who failed to attend last night should hear them tonight.

LET THERE BE LIGHT.

So Said the Dads at Their Meeting Last Night, and so Say We All of Us.

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held last evening. Mayor Nolan presided, with Councilmen Stephens, Keller, Barnett, Kuck, Gunning, Butts and Johnston present.

A committee on charter for Dalles City was appointed, consisting of Keller, Kuck, Johns and Menefee.

The petition of H. Herbring to establish a grade on the west end of Third street was referred to the committee on street and public property with power to act.

The petition of Hawn and Walthera to open a saloon was granted.

In regard to the building of a new fire bell tower the committee on fire and water was instructed to receive bids for the building of same, the cost not to exceed $250.

Engineer George Brown reported a defective chimney in the fire house. On motion the committee on fire and water was instructed to build a new one.

At this point a discussion arose as to the advisability of the city opening up a street through Mays' and Randall's property up to Tenth street, said property owners agreeing to grant the city right-of-way. On a motion being made the council will, on next Friday afternoon, view this piece of ground.

The council last evening took a different view of the light question than they have heretofore, and every one of the councilmen present expressed their desire of having light, not small lamp lights, but fifteen big arc lights. The cost of these lights will be $10.50 a month per light for a two years' contract. The committee having called upon Mr. French and investigated the matter explained that the company had done their best in making a rate on the lights, the cost of putting them in being about $900, as a new condenser would have to be purchased.

In order to help defray the expenses of the light, Councilman Stephens made a motion that a 1 1/2 mill tax be levied, which was carried.

The reports of the city officers were read and accepted and warrants ordered drawn for the same.

KILLED AT CASCADE LOCKS.

Louis Peterson is Struck by a Train and Killed While in an Intoxicated Condition.

Sunday at 7:30 o'clock as a freight train was passing through Cascade Locks, the engineer noticed a man sitting on the platform in close proximity to the track. The whistle was blown, and expecting that the man had taken warning, the train passed on; but, as the unfortunate man was in no condition to heed anything, the cow-catcher struck him on the head, whirling his body in the air and depositing it some distance away on the platform. When picked up he was already dead, evidently not having known what struck him.

It seems that the man, whose name was Louis Peterson, was quite well known at the Locks and was considered industrious and hard working. He had been employed by a man since August, who Sunday morning paid him $11, with which he purchased about $3 worth of provisions, spending the remainder for liquor, which accounts for the sad accident which caused his death. Becoming intoxicated, he sat down on the platform and was sound asleep, his body bent toward the track and his head on his breast, when the train approached.

He was not a married man, and was living alone at the Locks, but claimed to have a sister in Portland. The coroner's jury brought in the following verdict:

CASCADE LOCKS, Oct. 3, 1898.

We, the jury impaneled by W. H. Butts, coroner of Wasco county, to inquire into the cause of the death of Louis Peterson on the 2nd day of October, 1898, at the Cascade Locks in Wasco County, state of Oregon, find as follows:

That the deceased was a native of Denmark about forty-five years of age, and that death was caused by fracture of the skull and we believe by being struck by a passing train, causing death instantly. And we further find from the evidence that the said Louis Peterson came to his death by his own carelessness.

AT SALEM.

The Senatorial Fight in Fall Blast—Corbett Sure to Lose—Chances for a Dark Horse Good.

Two distinct Republican caucuses were held at Salem last night for the purpose of nominating a senator. At the Corbett caucus thirty-six members were present and Corbett received thirty-one votes; M. C. George 4 and Joseph Simon 1.

At the anti-Corbett caucus twenty-two members participated and four other Republicans were vouched for as being in sympathy with them, though unable to be present. They agreed to oppose unconditionally Mr. Corbett, but the members were left free as to whom they should vote for as their choice.

A special today from Salem says the fight is now on. In the senate this morning Corbett had thirteen votes; George, 6; A. S. Bennett, 6; Hewitt, 1; Aiken, 2; Williams, 1; Colton, 1. In the house Corbett received 23; Ellis 1; Williams 4; Dunne 1; George 10; Bennett 18; Aiken 3. The requisite number of votes required for election being forty-six, Corbett now lacks ten of the goal, which only strengthens his chances of defeat. Under the present showing it looks much as if the conditions existing at the time of McBride's election are to be repeated and that a dark horse will again step in.

A later dispatch points to M. C. George as the strongest candidate, and says no change is expected in tomorrow's joint assembly. The Corbett men will probably break Monday. Eight committee clerks were allowed in the house this morning, and several more this afternoon.

A Lucky Escape.

The Dalles had a narrow escape last night from fire, which, if it had gained headway, would no doubt have entirely obliterated the frame buildings opposite THE CHRONICLE office. At 11 o'clock the junk man, who is plying his vocation in the city at present, was going down the alley back of Kinersly's drug store, when he noticed flames bursting up in the back end of Du Bois' furniture store. Hurrying into the drug store he informed Mr. Kinersly, who grabbed a fire extinguisher, burst in the front door of the building and found the room full of smoke and several pieces of furniture ablaze. It seems that Louis Pulekey, an employe in the store, and who was sleeping there at the time, had placed his bed too near the air-tight heater, and that the mattress after smoking some time had finally ignited and caught the furniture near it. The fire bell being rung, the hose were immediately on the spot and the engine was ready for work, but the flames had been extinguished by smothering them with quilts and using a few buckets of water. Strange to say the occupant of the bed, who is slightly deaf, was oblivious to his peril until his feet were badly scorched and his hair singed somewhat, when he awoke to the situation. The damage to the stock was slight, the bed, a number of quilts and some dishes being destroyed, as well as injury done to a few pieces of furniture. 'Twas a lucky escape.
