The races at our fair this year are expected to be the best ever held in this city. Many fine racers will be on hand, and the track will be a favorite rendezvous at that time.

Workmen are today employed in repairing the cistern on the corner of Third and Washington streets. The old timbers will be removed and railroad iron substituted. New planking will also be put over the cistern.

Mrs. Dr. Frank, the celebrated eye specialist of San Francisco, arrived in this city last evening, and is registered at the Umatilla House. We hope she may be induced to remain with us for a while, which would afford the people of Wasco county an opportunity of consulting a scientific and conscientious eye specialist.

A marriage license was issued today by County Clerk Kelsay, but at the request of the lady, who should have something to say in the matter, the names are suppressed. We are informed however by the clerk that the gentleman's name is "Mud," which, from its meaning when used as a slang phrase, probably accounts for the lady's request.

Joseph Supple has a force of men at work getting the Hattie Belle off the bark of the Columbia, above the Cascade Locks, this week. Two "compound crabs" are to be used in drawing the steamer up on the ways, where she will be rebuilt and launched again. The vessel belongs to Hosford Bros., but the D. P. & A. N. Company had her rented, and will try to get her afloat in good shape again.—Telegram.

The lecture at the Methodist church tonight entitled "Village Work on Camel Back," which will be given by Mrs. Proutch, a missionary who has spent nine years in Gogarat, India, will not be, as is usually expected, uninteresting; but on the contrary, spicy and full of personal experience. She will have present a lady in Indian costume, and many pictures and curios from that land. Children are especially invited as she will speak of the different animals.

Major Wilkinson, who is reported as killed in the battle with the Indians Wednesday on Bear Island, in Minnesota, was well known in the Northwest, having lived in Portland about ten years, between the 70s and 80s. He came to Portland originally as an aid on the staff of General Howard. He was a great worker in the Y. M. C. A., and much interested in Sunday schools. Many who are now grown can remember how when as children they looked forward to Captain Wilkinson's visit to The Dalles Sunday schools, at which time they were sure to hear some funny stories as he illustrated his moral lessons with them.

E. J. Glisan has been in our city for the past week in the interest of the Second Annual Stockmen's Fair, which will be held in Antelope on the 13th, 14th and 15th of this month. The people of that section are very enthusiastic, and the fair is sure to be a success. Mr. Glisan has the consent of some of the talent of our city to be present and take part in the programs, among them Messrs. N. J. Sinnott and F. W. Wilson. He is also anxious that Messrs. Hampshire and Clark give their famous Irish and Dutch turns.

Doug Langille was in town for several days, unable to return to Cloud Cap Inn on account of the deep snow that fell there on the night of September 29th and at intervals since. The storm on the mountains, he says, was the worst he ever saw. Two feet of snow fell and the strong wind drifted it in places nine feet deep. The roads were impassable and Doug was detained from going to the inn until Tuesday. Fortunately the telephone kept in working order, though snowed under in many places, and Mrs. Langille was enabled to communicate with Doug. She had the assistance of Elmer McCray.—Hood River Glacier.

In the words of the Mountaineer of a few years since, "Now is the winter of our discontent." At least the mornings are cold enough for winter, but who could be discontented with such lovely days as we are now having. This morning was the coldest of the season, the thermometer standing at thirty-one degrees, but as soon as Old Sol made his appearance we had summer again. This is an exceptional year as regards the cold weather, the like not being known so early in the season for about twenty-five years. Last year at this time it was twenty degrees warmer. However, boys, don't get your skates out yet, fans will yet be needed before winter is here.

A commendable move has been made on the part of the citizens of The Dalles, which goes to prove that the moss-backs, who formerly made their home in our city, have crawled away. By voluntary subscription it has been arranged to give Klickitat farmers who bring grain to our city free ferriage across the Columbia and return, from now until December 7th. The only condition exacted whereby advantage may be taken of this offer is that two-horse teams are required to haul not less than a ton; while four-horse teams must carry a ton and a half. This minimum is designated that none may take undue advantage of this generous offer. No doubt our neighbors over the way will appreciate the inducement held out and improve the opportunity offered.

A few days ago Mr. S. L. Brooks sent a large basket of grapes of the Flaming Tokay variety and a box of Muscats of Alexandria to Mr. Pague, who has charge of the Wasco county exhibit at the Portland exposition. This morning he received the following in answer: "The grapes you sent were placed in the Wasco county exhibit. They are by far the finest and best we have at the exposition. The Wasco county exhibit excels anything we have ever had, and too much credit cannot be given to Mr. E. Schanno, E. L. Smith, of Hood River, and yourself for your interest in the matter." He also says: "I leave here on the evening of the 8th for Omaha, where the weather bureau convention will convene on the 12th. Expect to be gone ten or twelve days."

One of the best talks made in the senate yesterday was offered by Senator Fulton, in his protest against Senator Selling's motion for non-concurrence in H. C. R. No. 13, providing for a joint committee to formulate and report plans for the best and cheapest method of circumventing the Columbia river obstructions at The Dalles and Celilo. Senator Selling was satisfied to plead economy in defense of his motion, but the Clatsop statesman took higher ground, urging the supreme advantage of opening the river to free and quick transit of freight at abnormally reduced tolls. He maintained that a few hundreds, or thousands of dollars spent in such a quest would, when the river route was practically and successfully opened, repay the state with abundant interest, by the immense saving to the farmers and wheat men east of the mountains, and clinched the argument by showing that Portland, itself, would be the chief beneficiary from beginning to end. The senate concurred.—Salem Statesman.

SITUATION GETTING WARMER.

Corbett's Backers Lose Hope—George and Geer Talked of Freely.

The house today passed a bill requiring voters to register, and in the senate a measure was passed authorizing school districts to contract debts.

Both houses adjourned at noon to convene tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

The senatorial situation is getting warmer. Corbett's backers are losing all hope, and before Tuesday another name, probably Simon's, will take the place of the veteran politician's. Members of the opposition have been approached with the proposition to unite on Simon. A caucus was held by the Corbett men this morning from 9 to 10 and another will be held tonight. Everything points to exciting times tomorrow and Monday. Geer and George are talked of freely. Chances of electing someone early in the week are rather good. The vote today stands: Corbett 36; M. A. Miller 24; George 10; Williams 4; Eakin 6; Gatch 5; Hermann 1; Bennett 1; Brownell 1; A. C. Woodcock 1; Hewitt 1.

FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Now in Session in The Dalles—About Forty Delegates Present.

Last evening about thirty ladies arrived in the city on the Sarah Dixon to attend the meeting of the Columbia river branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, which is in session in the Methodist church. Others arrived on this morning's train, and many more are expected tonight.

As the boat reached the dock about 6:30, the delegates were conducted to the church at once, and at 7:30 the first session was held, opening with a prayer service, followed by a reception in charge of the secretary of the Columbia river conference, Mrs. Burrill. In her customary happy and appropriate manner, Mrs. Smith French welcomed the visitors in behalf of the auxiliary branch of this city; while Rev. Wood gave no less hearty welcome in behalf of the church, which considers this work one of the most potent influences for good within its jurisdiction. The response was made by Mrs. Wilcox Whitfield, who thanked them for the kindly greeting given, saying that she felt it was extended, not because of any merit which the delegates possessed, but on account of the grand work in which they are engaged. She closed with the hope that ere long every church would have in connection with it a woman's foreign missionary society.

At 9:30 this morning a devotional meeting was held and special prayer was offered for the president, Mrs. Cranston, who is absent in Japan. Routine work was then taken up and reports of committees read.

At this afternoon's meeting, after a greeting was read from Mrs. Cranston and the secretary's report given in, an hour was devoted to memorial service for departed members and missionaries, among the latter being Linna Schenck, Bulgaria; Phebe Rowe, India; Maude Simmons, Japan; Mary Hastings, Mexico.

This evening's devotional service will be conducted by Mrs. L. H. Miller, of Salem, and an address will be delivered by Mrs. Arthur Pracht, a missionary, who has lately returned from India.

Among those now in attendance are: Mesdames N. A. Fisher, C. Edmunds, L. Armitage, C. D. Wills, H. Raemus, W. H. Saylor, J. F. Wolfe, H. Crosier, Nellie Holmes, E. F. Kelly, M. Vail, and Misses Eva Foster and N. Lyons, of Portland; Mesdames Emily Miller, G. W. Gray, H. A. Dearborn, H. Phole, Wm. Cooke, of Salem; Mesdames W. S. Harrington, Wilmot Whitfield and Arthur Pracht, of Seattle; Mrs. S. L. Burrill, Prosser; Mrs. H. Brown, Spokane; Mrs. Doppis, Vancouver; Mrs. Peget, North Yamhill; Mrs. Dr. Royal and Miss Maggie Eaton, Wasco; Revs Rigby and Spalding, Hood River.

ured them that his days were certainly numbered, he being seriously ill of kidney trouble. Early this morning Mr. Frank Hathaway arrived in the city bringing news of his death, which occurred last night.

Mr. Canfield was seventy-three years of age, and having been a resident of The Dalles for a long time, and of this county of later years, was very well known by many of our citizens. When residing here he was a carpenter, and being of a particularly genial nature had a host of friends.

He leaves a wife, but no children, which makes the loneliness of her who survives him the more severe. Rev. D. V. Poling left this morning for Dufur, where the funeral will was this afternoon.
