Don't forget that today the Portland local made its last trip. You'll be left if you go to the depot expecting to get to the metropolis tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow evening at Dayton Miss Ida Wicks, formerly of this city, will be united in marriage to Mr. William Ayers. Her friends here will join in extending to her their very best wishes for future happiness.

At the club alleys last week the scores were: Monday, P. Stadelman, 59; Tuesday, M. T. Nolan, 56; Wednesday, A. Hoot, 55; Thursday, Ogden, 69; Friday, N. Sinnott and J. Vogt, 57; Saturday, Bradshaw, 50; Sunday, Joe Vogt, 58.

Young man or lady with small capital can find profitable employment, can clear $10 per day during the next three months. Kindly investigate. Apply or address room twenty-one over Dalles National Bank between 1 and 5 o'clock Tuesday.

Capt. Short made a very successful trip to the Cascades yesterday, when the old hull of the Dalles City was towed up to that place. The boat arrived here about 6 o'clock last evening, and this morning took down about 700 head of sheep from Lyle.

The Prineville Telephone Company is contemplating increasing its stock for the purpose of extending the line to The Dalles by the way of Hay Creek and Antelope. Parties along the line are enthusiastic over the prospect, and no doubt the scheme will be carried out.

The frame of the new Regulator has been completed at Suple's boatyard, and the construction of the new steamer is being pushed forward. The desire of the company is to get the steamer completed as soon as possible. The new craft will be about the size of the Dalles City.—Oregonian.

On the 16th the steamer, Senator, will sail from San Francisco for Manila carrying the battalion of the Twenty-third Infantry, to which will be attached the Oregon recruits. Besides these will go a detached battery or company not yet determined, most of the hospital corps, several female nurses, and of course the officers of the respective commands.

The fair grounds present a busy appearance these days, preparations being made for our coming fair. If the weather remain as good as we have been having, the town will be crowded with visitors. However, were all the furies turned loose in an endeavor to create bad weather, Dalles people would brave the elements in order to hear Mrs. Reed sing.

The golden jubilee of the Taylor street M. E. church, of Portland, began yesterday morning and will continue during the week, closing with an all-day service Sunday. The first church edifice was a plain wooden structure 30x50 feet and was built in 1849-50, having for its pastor at that time Rev. J. H. Wilbur, who became so widely known and well beloved throughout the entire Northwest. In 1853 Rev. H. K. Hines, who now resides in Portland, was pastor, and will fill a prominent place on the program of the golden jubilee.

Yesterday afternoon upon returning from a long drive, Mr. and Mrs. Tolmie drove up in front of their residence, on the hill, and thinking the horses to tired to be fiery Mr. Tolmie left them standing while he carried his camera into the house. No sooner had he disappeared than the team determined to reach the stable, and started on the run. At the corner of Fourth and Washington they decided to take to the sidewalk, but instead found themselves "up a tree," and after breaking the tongue of the buggy were compelled to stop, when they were taken to the stable.

A special from Salem says that A. A. Haug is in that city endeavoring to procure a franchise for a toll road and bridge across John Day river at 30-Mile creek. Some such a measure has been hoped for by the residents of that section, as a road and bridge there would connect Gilliam and Sherman counties, thus benefiting residents of both counties, particularly those of Gilliam county, who have long needed such an outlet. Nearly one hundred citizens have signed the petition, and as the bill will be introduced today, and pushed through if possible, the legislature will no doubt grant the request this session. Mr. Haug is confident of the success of the enterprise, although a great amount of work will be required to build the road down the bluff which is 1500 feet high.

In a place so noted for its young ladies as The Dalles, it seems strange that the question most often heard is "Where can I find a girl?" Not by the young men, who have been informed they cannot be had for love, "nor money either," so say our housekeepers, who are many of them distracted in their efforts to procure help. Not alone are the town people at a loss to know where to turn for assistance, but every day are the newspaper offices visited by our neighbors from the country who are hunting for cooks. Where does the difficulty lie? Communications are now in order as to the evil resulting from women preferring office work to the work which it seems should be theirs from the nature of things. Let these articles be written by those whose examples are as good as their precepts, and the results may be seen in the surplus of girls who are willing to take up housework in preference to office or store work.

DISSERTATION ON ROADS.

That is, We Thought We Would But Couldn't Without We Could, Could We?

The last resort of a newspaper reporter when items are scarce is generally the condition of the sidewalks or streets, and we usually give the city marshal or the council a few suggestions as to the best method of running the city. This time is an exception, and we will not mention the nails in the sidewalk, for the injury such notice might do the shoe dealers; nor the fact that the street sprinkler might with propriety be in use, for if the dust were laid our physicians would have fewer patients troubled with throat difficulties. This time we will give the streets a rest and take to the "roads."

Anyone who has ever attempted to drive a stranger in our city over the boulevard on Ninth street, extending from the old Mission gardens to Union street, must certainly have felt a thrill of pride in our well-paved roads, so we will refrain from speaking on that; nor will we hint at the beautiful drive from Mill creek bridge to Stadlerman's place; nor of the pleasure which may be derived from sailing over the smooth surface of the drive from the top of the brewery grade to the spot in Thompson's addition where may be seen one of the grandest views along the Columbia river, and where we can scarcely refrain from taking sight-seers. Over this road our visitors from the country also enjoy traveling. So delightful is the sensation when "climbing up the golden stairs" in an attempt to reach any part of the hill, that we fail to see where any comment can be made as to the state of those roads.

Come to consider it, a good item is spoiled, for how can we attack a subject so hard to get around; so full of knotty problems; so rocky? We cannot get over it nor around it. Therefore we give it up.

Closing Missionary Meeting.

The closing service of the foreign missionary convention was held at the M. E. church last night, presided over by Mrs. Whitfield, of Seattle. After the opening exercises Mrs. W. G. Woodworth sang a beautiful solo, "In Heavenly Love Abiding," followed by Dr. Fisher who spoke on "The Redemp-

Everybody reads THE CHRONICLE.

The ladies of the Foreign Missionary Society desire to thank those who so kindly assisted in entertaining their guests during the convention just closed. Also all who made the singing such a pleasing feature of the meetings, and to Mr. John Osburn who took upon himself the care of the church during the day. We sincerely thank you.
