IN THE SWIM.

Columbia River Fish Find Themselves Fairly Represented at the Legislature.

Could the fish of the Columbia river realize what a sensation they have created in the Oregon legislature they would not only feel themselves to be "in the swim" but refuse to associate with the "codfish aristocracy," considering themselves blue bloods, as well as blue backs. They would no doubt weigh themselves on their own scales and come up the Columbia with their heads in the air.

One of the most important bills passed this session is Curtis' fish bill, which a dispatch from Salem says represents the combined wisdom and labor of such well-posted men as Representatives Curtis and Young, of Clatsop county; Representative Myers, of Multnomah; Roberts, of Wasco; Senator Fulton, of Astoria, and State Fish and Game Protector McGuire. Every feature of it has been carefully considered. It has been revised and re-revised. It meets the approbation of the fishermen and cannerymen, and it protects Oregon's fish. This is about all that can reasonably be expected of such a law.

The act provides for a fish commissioner to be elected by the state legislature at the present session for a term of four years, at a salary of $2500 per year and $1750 expenses per annum. An effort was made to leave the selection of the commissioner in the hands of the governor, but it failed.

The act further provides for the appointment of three deputies by the fish commissioner at a salary of $3 per day for the actual time employed, and their traveling expenses. These deputies, however, are not to be employed over 100 days in the year each.

A board of fish commissioners is created by the act. This is to be composed of the governor, secretary of state and state fish commissioner. This board is clothed with power to select sites for and erect hatcheries, audit all claims and exercise a general supervisory control over the execution of the laws.

The fish commissioner and his deputies are clothed with police power, and state and justice courts are given concurrent jurisdiction over the law. Right of appeal from a decision of the fish commissioner lies only to the state circuit court.

The close season for salmon is abridged and an additional open season is created from January 15 to February 15. Provision is made for the licensing of Walter Reed will be the principal attraction on the programs. Surely the armory will be crowded every evening, as it is a rare opportunity to hear two such famous singers.

Charles Cunningham, principal in the recent shooting affair at Pendleton, in which Oliver Young was killed and Mrs. J. J. Worcester was wounded for life, has been indicted. The grand jury returned two indictments, one for the murder of Young and the other for the shooting of Mrs. Worcester. The first charges murder in the first degree.

A report from Lone Rock says: "This is certainly the driest fall weather that has ever been known in Eastern Oregon. Stock owners are gathering their herds into pasture as fast as possible, as stock of all kind are still outside losing strength very fast as there is no grass that they can get and in many places no water. The nights for the past week have been very cold, ice being plentiful."

It is by special request that Mrs. Dr. Frank, the celebrated eye specialist, of San Francisco, has decided to remain with us for a short time, and has located in room 38, Chapman Block, over U. S. land office, where she can be consulted and will make all examinations free of charge. Any one will be able to procure a pair of those diamond rock crystal lenses, such as the doctor uses in her profession, at the manufacturing price.

A letter dated September 11th and received by Mrs. D. J. Cooper yesterday from her son, John, who is with the troops at Manila, in speaking of the death of Will Fields, says: "He joined the hospital corps that he might be of assistance to the other boys, and the doctor says caused his own death by his unselfishness, for he was waiting on others when his fever was 105. We Oregon boys buried him." He also says: "Walter Dickey is recovering, but he is nothing but skin and bones. I think he will leave for home on the steamer which sails tomorrow." His own health he reports as good, and says the accommodations there are very comfortable, although the meals are not calculated to make one's mouth water.

The largest crowd which has ever gathered at the exposition building in Portland was present Wednesday evening when three unfortunates were, in the words of a recent correspondent to THE CHRONICLE, joined in the "wholly bounds of matrimony." Now, all we need to make our fair a howling success is a wedding or two. Who'll be the first to sacrifice themselves for the benefit of the society? Brothers Kelsay and Bolton have volunteered to furnish the license; any of our ministers or justices of the peace will perform the ceremony; the different firms of our city have their presents ready, and there is already a discussion between the president and the secretary of the association as to which shall tie on the blue ribbon and kiss the bride. We will all dance at your wedding, and Judge Bradshaw will pronounce the benediction—"May the Lord have mercy on your souls."

"Dust thou art to dust returnest" was certainly not spoken of the soul; but if Longfellow had finished the sentence we think he would have said it referred to The Dalles, from its appearance today.

The ladies of the Catholic church who have formed themselves into a church debt society, are planning to give an entertainment and bazaar on Thanksgiving afternoon and evening. Further notice will be given later.

Yesterday the Emergency Corps and some of the parents of our soldier boys shipped between five and six hundred pounds of dried fruit to the boys at Manila. No doubt they will be very welcome, as well as the little tokens of affection which many of the boxes contained.

Dalles people have been very anxious to hear the famous tenor singer who has created such a stir in musical circles in Portland.
