

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

Tribute to Andrew Canfield.
Contributed.
Mr. Andrew Canfield died at his home on Summit Ridge, at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening, Oct. 5, 1898, from a malady of several years standing that terminated in three weeks of intense suffering.
Mr. Canfield was a native of Canada, where he first saw the light of day, Sept. 24, 1825. He lived in Iowa, being among the pioneers of that state. His father was one of the first to settle Jackson county. He was in the mercantile business a great number of years, spending a portion of his time among the rich gold hills of California. He settled at Summit Ridge in 1883, where he remained to the time of his death. "Uncle Andy," as he was familiarly known for miles around, was one of whom too much praise could not be said, for to know him was to love him. He was a member of the Congregational church, Rev. D. V. Poling, of that church having performed the last sad rites that left his time-worn body on the quiet hillside of the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Dufur. Deceased left a wife to mourn his absence, but was met in that bright spirit world by two lovely children, who were taken in early childhood. We miss him but would not wish him back, bowing in resignation, knowing that "thou God knowest best."

Three Men Poisoned by Canned Fish.

On Saturday evening last J. I. Jones, Charles Young and Walter Furrow, members of a Rainier lodge of the Knights of Pythias, feasted on a lunch of canned shrimps, clams and lobsters just prior to attending a lodge meeting.

Jones and Furrow live near Rainier, and Young lived alone in a cabin about eighteen miles from the town. On Monday morning the trio were quite sick, constantly growing worse until Tuesday noon, when Jones died. That morning Furrow's friends took him to St. Vincent hospital, where he died yesterday.

The news of Jones' death aroused the friends of the surviving men, but at that time Young also was past relief. He was found dead lying across his bed, without a person near him when called hence.

Dr. Cliff, of St. Helens, and two Portland physicians made a post mortem examination, finding the men to have died from ptomaine poisoning.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

"It seems the courts find no flaw in Bilks' will." "You don't say so! Why, I supposed Bilks to be richer than that."—Detroit Journal.
—Uncertainty.—Farmer—"Can I hire you to shock my corn?" Bicycle Girl (aside)—"I wonder if he takes me for a man."—Detroit Journal.
—Reflected Glory.—Visitor—"And who are you, my little man?" Cuthbert (with conscious pride)—"I'm the baby's brother."—Tit-Bits.
—"That tenor of ours has a marvelous voice. He can hold one of his notes for half a minute." "Shucks! I've held one of his notes for two years."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
—"Tell me, doctor," asked the ambitious young disciple of Galen, eagerly, "what was the most dangerous case you ever had?" "In confidence, now that I am about to retire from practice," answered the veteran physician, frankly, "I will confess that it was my medicine case."—Puck.
—During the progress of the Thelluson will case, which benefited several generations of lawyers, one of the counsel employed suggested that something should stand over "till the day of judgment." Said Richard Bethell, who also appeared in the case—he was subsequently Lord Chancellor Westbury: "Will not that be a very busy day?"—Household Words.
—A gentleman calling at a hotel left his umbrella in the stand in the hall with the following inscription attached to it: "This umbrella belongs to a man who can deal a blow of 250 pounds weight. I shall be back in ten minutes." On returning to seek his property he found in its place a card thus inscribed: "This card has been left by a man who can run 12 miles an hour. I shall not come back."—Tit-Bits.

Three Doctors in Consultation.

From Benjamin Franklin.
"When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place; what experience tells you is best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason (i. e., Theory) says is best is to be chosen in the last place. But if you can get Dr. Inclination, Dr. Experience and Dr. Reason to hold a consultation together, they will give you the best advice that can be taken."

When you have a bad cold Dr. Inclination would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is pleasant and safe to take. Dr. Experience would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and acts on nature's plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy condition.
