Just received. A consignment of plain and mixed pickles, olives, pickled onions, and chow chow, in bulk, at the Dalles Commission Co.

Ward & Robertson are again running their wagonette to the fair grounds, and can be found on the corner of Second and Washington. Fare 25 cents.

Special sale in trimmed hats at the Campbell & Wilson Millinery parlors during fair week. Trimmed hats for $1.50 each and upward. All the latest novelties in ladies and children head wear.

A "pitched battle" took place on the corner of Second and Court streets last night, between a half-breed Indian and a white man whose name is unknown. For a time there were "razors flying in the air"; but the arrival of the night-watchman caused a suspension of hostilities.

From an advertising sign in front of a show on Court street we are inclined to think Adam and Eve are visiting relatives in the city. The show may be a good one, but if Father Adam and Mother Eve are the leading lady and gentleman, the entertainment is certainly not up-to-date.

Friends in LaGrande yesterday sent a souvenir specimen of La Grande's best sugar to Mrs. W. A. Kirby of this city. It consists of a neat little pamphlet descriptive of the industry in LaGrande, and to the cover was attached a small bottle of white sugar, clear as crystal. How long will it be before The Dalles sends forth some such souvenir of an industry which has been started here?

Two individuals who were, in their estimation, enjoying themselves to the "fullest" extent, found their way to the recorder's office by the help of an officer this morning, and one of them was compelled to make the city a present of $5. The other, escaped somewhat easier, but has been taught a substantial lesson and will in the future endeavor to keep his spirits under control.

Friday is to be the day at the fair grounds. The schools of the city will have a holiday; in the afternoon the business houses will be closed from 12 to 6 o'clock, and everybody will turn out to see the races. The exhibition of Del Norte will take place at that time instead of on Saturday as advertised. This famous guideless pacer is truly a wonder, being the most noted of three of his kind in the United States.

Judge A. S. Bennett, of The Dalles, arrived in Salem last night, and is registered at the Hotel Willamette. He will appear as counsel for S. T. Richardson, one of the defendants in the ballot fraud cases, in the circuit court today. Judge Bennett was one of the gentlemen for whom the silver men cast their votes for United States senator during the special session of the legislature just closed, and he is said to be one of the ablest jurists and criminal lawyers in Oregon.—Statesman.

Many of the confidence men and thugs may have had an idea that they came to a good field in which to ply their vocations when they came to Eastern Oregon, they will change their minds before they have worked many of the so-called "Hayseeds" of The Dalles and vicinity. Their experience with Mr. Gilpin Monday night must have given them a pointer in this regard. They had better look well to their laurels, or some of our "yaps" will capture them, and the laugh be on the other side.

The Oregon Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company are arranging to give visitors to the pavilion tomorrow night a treat. Twenty receivers beside the principal horn are to be placed in the hall, and over them may be heard music from the Orpheum theater in San Francisco and the entire program at the exposition in Portland. The enterprise of this company is thus shown and will be appreciated by a large audience. It is expected the main receiver will be sufficient to transmit the sound through the whole building, but the other receivers will be ready in case it should fail to do so. No extra charge will be made by the company.

Yesterday's Races.

The second race yesterday afternoon was the most interesting one of the day, in fact, it was one of the best running races that has taken place on the grounds. It was a three-quarter mile dash and there were five horses entered, namely: Midas, Nervosa, Begonia, Joe Cotton and Jim Bozeman. The horses got away in good shape and made a very pretty sight coming down the home stretch as they were closely bunched.

Jim Bozeman came in first, followed by Begonia, with Midas a close third. Time 1.19.

The three-eighths mile dash, which was the third and last race of the day, was also good and the public took a great deal of interest in it as all the horses entered were local horses. There were five starters: Bessie K, McKinley Bill, Patsy Duffy, Brown Dick and Black Diamond. Brown Dick came under the wire in the lead, with McKinley Bill second and Black Diamond third. Time .39.

THAT JOYFUL FEELING

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old-time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well-informed. Buy the genuine. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

THE PAVILION OPENED

SMALL ATTENDANCE BUT GOOD MUSICAL PROGRAM.

Birgfeld's Orchestra at its Best—Lauren Pease Delights the Audience—List of Exhibits.

For some reason the impression was given out yesterday that no program was to be rendered at the pavilion last evening, and consequently many, who otherwise would have attended, waited until tonight when they might hear the musical program. However, the small audience present congratulated themselves upon the fact that not a note of the excellent selections given was missed by them. The Birgfeld orchestra seem to play better each time we hear them, and last night, perhaps on account of the length of time which has elapsed since they were last heard, were at their best, the selections being well chosen, the German Patrol and National Fencibles seeming to please the listeners most.

Much was expected of Mr. Pease, whose fine tenor voice has been spoken of so frequently in the Oregonian, and who is a recent acquisition to the Congregational choir in Portland; and none were disappointed, for though singing under difficulties, his tones were as clear and pure as we have ever heard. He is perfectly at ease on the stage, and sings as though it were no effort whatever. Perhaps the most pleasing of his selections was "Night Time," although several encores were given, only one being responded to.

While many exhibits are already in, many more are expected today, empty spaces last night indicating some were yet to be entered. The most attractive display as the hall is entered is that of Mrs. C. Stubling, whose potted plants, ferns, palms and flowers fringe the stage, and add so much to the beauty of the pavilion. This is even better than that of last year.

Adjoining Mrs. Stubling's plants is a display by the Campbell & Wilson Millinery parlors, who have fitted up the southwest corner of the hall very artistically and show their goods to the best advantage.

Near at hand may be seen a number of splendid crayon sketches and water colors by Mrs. A. J. Tolmie, while at the northwest corner of the building are some sketches by Miss Violet Kent, whose talent in this line is well-known in The Dalles.

The exhibit of oil painting this year seems to have been slighted; but we noticed some fine pastels by Mrs. T. Baldwin, and one in particular by Miss Winnie Myers, who has never taken a lesson in art. It is a fisher girl, with basket in hand, and proves that the artist has rare ability.

The lace exhibit of Mrs. J. W. Lewis is especially good, the work being remarkable.

The embroidery pieces shown by Mrs. Sheldon and Mrs. Cushing claim the attention of all visitors. The design, as well as the work, are very artistic and extremely well done.

A collection of pieces of Mexican drawn work by Mrs. Clark, a comparative stranger in our city, is very beautiful. The deftness of the fingers of Mrs. Clark, who is somewhat of an invalid, is evident in her work.

At the entrance to the hall is a booth showing some Egyptian lace work by Annie Shaddy.

Mrs. E. J. Collins, Miss Mattie Hollis and Mrs. Pashek and little daughter have entered some crocheted work which is first class.

Some of the rarest and most beautiful china painting is on exhibition by Miss O'Leary. The eye of every visitor is caught by the novel Florentine bent iron work by J. C. Hoetler. This is something new, and the perfect workmanship and unique designs are attracting much attention.

A number of crazy, and at the same time pretty, crazy quilts are exhibited, as well as sofa pillows in all designs. Mrs. Marden's embroidered piano cover is one of the best in that line displayed, while Mrs. J. W. French has some rugs and afghans specially worthy of mention.

The space in the southwest corner of the hall is devoted to the cyclone camera, advertised by M. Z. Donnell. Perfect specimens of pictures taken, and everything in connection with a complete camera are in abundance. At the center of the south wall Gifford has some elegant photographs, which evidence shows the superiority of his work.

A complete and choice lot of kodak views taken by Louise Ruch also fill a prominent place among the pictures here seen.

In the miscellaneous department may be found a map of Cuba, drawn by Miss Dora Sexton, of the High school. Miss Rosemary Baldwin also has an especially fine herbarium on exhibit.

A document which will not fail to be noticed is a Doctor's certificate, granted to Parker Forwood in Maryland in the year 1821, and printed in Latin. From it is extended by a string a seal, made of red sealing wax and inclosed in a small tin case. This is an interesting relic.

Some brooms from our new broom factory in the East End are much noticed, as many were not aware such an industry had been started here.

A pretty floral display by the Velarde family adds to the appearance of the north side of the hall. Beside large bouquets, they have the battleship Oregon made of flowers. They are adepts in this line of work.

Mesdames Marshall Hill, M. Z. Donnell, F. A. Van Norden and Fleck have not forgotten the canned fruits and jellies, and have some delicious looking specimens on hand.

Two of our most enterprising firms, Clark & Falk, and Prof. Daut, the optician, show that they are wide awake advertising their wares on the north end of the pavilion.

As yet the horticultural department,

Jacobsen Book & Music Co

Eastern Oregon's Leading Music House.

under the supervision of A. N. Varney, gives but a hint of what a showing might have been made had sufficient interest been taken by our country friends.

D. A. Anthony, of Des Chutes makes the most extensive display, among which are all kinds of fruits in season; pepper plants and four varieties of peppers; a large Japanese cucumber and extra fine vegetables of all varieties.

W. H. Taylor, of Dry Hollow, has some immense squashes and also sacks of wheat, barley and oats which can't be beat.

N. A. Ericson's exhibit of vegetables is first-class, while the fruit shows just what can be raised on a Mill Creek farm. Among the grapes were seen bunches of Flaming Tokays and Rose Chassias weighing three pounds.

Among the fruit display of J. Pashek is a variety of raisin grape known as the Malvoa, which has never before been exhibited here. He also has three specimens of early varieties of potatoes and some large cabbages.

Some apples grown by Peter Godfrey on the high hills are found in the horticultural department, but have not been entered in competition.

Twenty varieties of apples from Judge Bennett's farm, cannot fail to be awarded a blue ribbon if appearances are not deceitful.

W. J. Davidson's apples make a fine showing; while the garden seeds of L. L. McCartney looked anything but "seedy" in their fair attire.

No nicer dried prunes could be found than the three boxes entered by J. W. Koontz this morning.

The main feature of this department seems to be a large squash about 2 1/2 feet long entered by J. C. Wingfield. Upon it is carved a ship, underneath which is written, "Remember the Maine." Beside this he has some mammoth spuds.

At the Grounds.

Again today the weather was perfect and the attendance at the grounds was somewhat better than yesterday, although it was not what it should have been.

The first race was a trot and pacer, two best in five. Ida Mack, Almolene, Lo Lo and Helen J., were entered. In the first heat Helen J. came in first; Almolene second; Ida Mack third, and Lo Lo fourth. The horses were quite a while scoring and finally got away under a very poor start.

Mutuals paid straight $2.50. Place, Helen J., $2.40; Almolene, $3.80. Time, 2:30.

In the second heat Helen J. came in first, winning the race and heat, making the same time as previously. Solo, our local horse, coming in second, followed closely by Almolene, who took second money. Mutuals paid straight $2.30. Helen J. place; $2.40. Solo, place; $3.65.

The second race was for three-year-olds and upwards for four and one-half furlongs, five horses, Lolo, Twister, Volva, Jim Brownell, Little T. G. and Dan Howard being entered. The start was fair, and for the first quarter mile was an exceptionally pretty race, as the horses were bunched. However, Bill Howard was too much for the rest and forged forward, coming under the wire first followed by Little T. G., with Lo Lo as a close third. Time 1:59.

The pony race which was third on the program had not been called at the time of going to press.
