License to marry was today granted to J. Frank Fulton and Lillian Harbut, both of Wasco county.

Arrangements are now being made by Condon & Senfert to extend the telephone line from Dufur to Tygh immediately.

The Congregational church in this is receiving a new coat of paint, which adds much to the appearance of this neat church edifice.

The Junior class of the state university at Eugene has elected Homer D. Angell, of this city, as president of the class, and orator as well.

Tonight and tomorrow Ensign Hawks will conduct the meetings at the Salvation Army. Tonight he will speak on the "Social Work of the Army."

Salem had quite a blaze Thursday night when the Fashion livery stables went up in flames. Somehow this seems to be a "fiery" year everywhere.

The Sarah Dixon will leave the wharf tonight about 9 o'clock, making an extra trip to Portland on account of the immense amount of freight on hand.

Yesterday after the cabinet in Washington the president issued his annual proclamation, setting apart Thursday, November 24th, as Thanksgiving day.

The Air Ship will arrive in the city this evening and land at the opera house. Be there to see the company start on a tour to Klondike. The play is a good one. See it.

The evening services at the Congregational church tomorrow will be under the direction of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the church. A musical program will be rendered, and an address by the pastor. A cordial welcome is extended to all.

About fifteen of the members of the Baptist church in our city will attend the dedication of the church at Hartland tomorrow. The wagonette has been secured for the trip, and it will be a pleasant as well as a profitable visit for them.

The merry-go-round, which has survived the fair for the past week, will make its last trip late tonight, when a gold watch will be given to the prettiest girl. The children have greatly enjoyed this pastime, and many of the older children have felt it their duty to "ride for the sake of holding on the babies."

Among the attractions at the Halloween party Monday evening will be a photographic collection by Mrs. Tolmie. An excellent musical program is being prepared, which includes a negro sketch by Messrs. Hampshire and Clark. Refreshments will be served, so come prepared to enjoy every feature of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack. Staniels gave a wedding supper last night at their residence in honor of the marriage of their son, Harold, to Miss Mary Gibson, of Wasco. Among their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lemson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hoering, Mrs. Agnes Vincent, Cora and Ella Fowler, Emma Ulrich and Ivy Reno, Messrs. Esping, McCoy, Fowler and Whitney. After supper dancing was the principal enjoyment until a late (or early) hour.

A desperate battle occurred in Grant county between five Indians and a sheriff's posse, which was in pursuit of the redskins, on account of the latter having shot two settlers last Wednesday. During the fight one member of the posse and all five of the Indians were killed. Settlers have sent to Canyon City for more ammunition, stating that Indians are gathering around Izees in large numbers. The trouble arose over the Indians accusing the whites of stealing horses.

Today we were shown some brooms made at the new factory in the East End. They are first-class in every respect, and were made of broom corn which cost the manufacturers, Merton & Co., $130 a ton. At the Midwinter fair in San Francisco this same broom was awarded the premium. Here is a splendid opportunity for us to show appreciation of the industries in our own city. Let us help this new enterprise along and in the near future the factory can be enlarged, more workmen employed and The Dalles be benefited thereby.

Such enthusiasm as is at present manifested in our schools over the writing question, has not been known for some time. Prof. Garrison has been doing some volunteer work in the different rooms, and yesterday a contest was had to decide which pupil was the best writer in the room. In Miss Mitchell's room, Lucy Fox was decided the best; in Miss T. Rintoul's, Lillian Fraser; Miss L. Rintoul's, Cora Donham; Mrs. Baldwin's, George Walther; Miss Martin's, Alberta Shepherd; Miss Ball's, Lena Moore.

The funeral of Hensen McCoy took place yesterday afternoon at Dufur, under the auspices of the order of Odd Fellows, of which he has been a member for the past forty-four years. A. J. Brigham, of Dufur, conducted the services, speaking feelingly of the deceased, and the sorrow felt by all at the loss of such a kind neighbor and friend. A large number of Odd Fellows and Rebeccas were in attendance, among them Messrs. T. Ward, W. H. Butts, Adolph Phirman and Paul Paulsen, of Columbia lodge. About fifty conveyances followed the remains to the cemetery, and the pall-bearers were brother Odd Fellows, consisting of Messrs. Moore, Heisler,

Butler, Trout, Butts and Phirman.

Mr. A. N. Varney had the misfortune to dislocate his shoulder this morning. While helping to carry a large dry goods box up the steps to his residence, the entire weight fell on him, knocking him from the porch and dislocating his shoulder. Mr. Varney has decided to join his wife, who is now in Massachussets, where they expect to make their home, and was packing the household furniture. The accident will probably delay the journey. We are very sorry to learn of their intention to leave The Dalles permanently, as we can ill afford to part with such valued residents as Mr. and Mrs. Varney. The latter will be greatly missed in musical circles, where she is ever ready to render assistance.

The reporter yesterday stated that the local land office was receiving daily an average of three applications for publication notice to make final proof. We could have added that homestead filings are coming in at the rate of three a day. This would cause most people to wonder where on earth all this land is located. The office is also very busy with cash purchases of forfeited railroad lands, the limit of time in which such can be made expiring on January 1, 1899. This is causing the settler to "get a move on." It is fortunate that a good wheat crop and fair prices exist to help the farmer at this particular time, all of whom are anxious to get their share of the forfeited lands, when situated so as to avail themselves of the opportunity.

Worthless Hoodlums.

Last night several hoodlums of about fourteen and sixteen years of age were tearing around generally up near the merry-go-round and finally succeeded in scaring up a fight, which is the height of some boys' ambition. Nightwatchman Phirman arrived on the scene and endeavored to quiet them, when Carl Ostlund, who lately ran away from the reform school in Salem, raised an iron bar and struck at him, coming within an inch of striking him, which would certainly have been fatal had he not dodged in time. Ostlund was taken to the city jail, where at last reports he was still confined. As the watchman took the young villain to his present quarters, there followed in his wake about a dozen boys of the same ilk, bragging as to how near they came to downing the officer.

This element in The Dalles seems to be endeavoring to get the upper hand of reform schools, parents and officers. It is appalling to think of the future in store for them if a stop cannot be made to their wild career. Many of them cannot be kept in school, which is too often the fault of parents who refuse to uphold the teachers when they attempt to correct them. Others, whose parents cannot afford to keep them there fail to find employment because of their worthlessness. Who is to blame for this state of affairs?

CLEAN UP THE STREETS.

The Subject May Be a Chestnut, But One Worth Opening.

We cannot refrain from making another plea in behalf of the appearance of our streets, for a small effort on the part of each individual citizen would make such a marked difference in the general effect which our city produces on strangers who are here but for a day. Remaining longer the visitor is impressed with the immense amount of business which is going on, but spending just a short time in our city one cannot fail to have unfavorable impressions when upon looking around they see the streets and sidewalks covered in debris—here a box; there an old plank, blocking the way; old tin cans, papers, etc., scattered promiscuously abroad and everything in disorder. All these small matters, be they ever so trivial to those who are accustomed to viewing them, give the city an untidy appearance.

The cities, such as Denver, which are noted for their pretty, clean streets, employ men who go through them every night, removing every scrap which has collected during the day and sweeping the pavement. A place the size of The Dalles could not be expected to do any thing of this kind; but each individual owner of property can do his part. Suppose every merchant should make it his business to see that the sidewalk and street around his place of business is carefully cleaned and the scraps of paper, etc., removed every morning, what different looking business streets we should have. It would require but a few moments of the porter's time, and not only add to the general appearance of the city, but to the attractiveness of his particular store. Any purchaser would naturally expect to find the best goods at the neatest looking place.

Can we not prevail upon our citizens to study this matter over and decide to make an effort along this line?

Faddm' Head Wilson

Says: "The fool saith, 'Put all thy eggs in different baskets;' which means, scatter your money and your attention; but the wise man saith: 'Put all your eggs in one basket, and watch the basket.'"

We have only one basket, and we are watching it in optics. Having made a thorough study of the subject, graduating from three of the best colleges, we are enabled to give you a scientific examination. It doesn't matter whether you buy a $10 glass or a $1 glass, or any glasses at all, you get an examination.

AMERICAN SILVER TRUSS.

Retains Severeest Hernia with Comfort.

LIGHT, COOL, Easy to Wear.

No pressure on Hips or Back.

No understraps. Never moves.

It can be altered by the wearer to the shape of the body, not being made of hardened steel, and can, with a little judicious and careful bending, be made stronger or weaker in pressure, as desired.

M. Z. Donnell, Druggist.

The Dalles, Or.

Is Used by Many

Leading institutions throughout the United States and Canada, and have been adopted by Guy's and Westminster Hospitals, London, England. In this truss the principle hitherto so greatly desired has at last been achieved, that of firmly and constantly holding the rupture with a gentle hand-like pressure.

It does not pass around the hip like other trusses, but over the hips, the silver wire lying in the hollow of the side, thereby allowing the free movement of the hips and limbs, allowing the wearer to stride out freely, and doing away with the fear and dread that something will go wrong that usually attends the wearing of other trusses.

Its lightness is featherweight in comparison with other trusses. It is so light the wearer scarcely knows he has anything on, and this is a great comfort, enabling the wearer to forget his ailments.
