A BUSINESS MAN'S CAMPAIGN

Large questions relating to the extension of American trade are about to come before the country. Every intelligent man engaged in commerce or manufacturing knows this to be the case. Our demands in the treaty negotiations with Spain have teeth. been outlined. It is unlikely that the defeated power can exert any influence to modify them materially. What will be the results upon the business of the country and how far can they be affected favorably or unfavorably by the election next sunburn and wind chafing. Tuesday? The inquiry is one of unusual importance.
