AMERICA INFLUENCES EUROPE

The course of four of the most prominent nations of Europe at this moment shows in a striking way the great influence which the United States is beginning to exert in the politics of the Old World. Until a few weeks ago England's course in Asiatic and African affairs aroused great dissatisfaction among her citizens, but all this has been changed. Some of the leading British papers asserted that their government was being deluded and beaten by France, Germany and Russia, in the contest which was being waged by them for territorial aggrandizement in China. Marchand's march across the Nile region was interpreted by English newspapers as not only an indication that France desired to appropriate a large part of Egypt, but as an evidence that she would get it. Liberal journals charged Premier Salisbury with weakness. The Tory press made apologies for him, and attributed his laxness to ill-health. But both accusations and apologies have ceased. The England of Salisbury has begun to show some of the vigor she displayed under the elder Pitt. The the surprises of the Old World's politics. It all has come since the war of the United States with Spain, the Chronic Rheumatism cured. strength which the United States struggle and since.

upon by the British papers that the try it who has lame back and weak kidonly foreign diplomat present at the banquet just given in England to General Kitchener was the United States representative. "In thus as- stimulant to the Liver and Kidneys, is a sociating our American kinsfolk with blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures our national rejoicings," says the London Times, "we desire to show the warm appreciation of the sympathy with which General Kitchener's Try Electric Bitters and be convinced victory has been commented upon beyond the Atlantic." It is this American sympathy, frequently and conspicuously displayed of late, which has nerved England to turn upon her enemies. America's moral aid would be extended to England in any conflict between that country and the nations of continental Europe, Every nation in the Old World knows this, and has commented upon it. America's influence in this way is decisive, though not a shot need be fired by an American vessel or soldier. The fact that the United States would be unfriendly to any combination formed against England, so long as England, as now, is fighting the battles of civilization, has a deterrent effect upon continental Europe which turns the scales in favor of England. Thus we see England preparing herself at this moment to strike France in Africa and France's ally, Russia, in Asia, if provocation is furnished. As a consequence France is evacuating Fashoda and Russis's activity in Chinese affairs has suddenly ceased. This evidence of the decisive character of the United States influence in Old World affairs will give timeliness and point to a prediction made more than a century ago by a conspicuous Englishman, "North Amer ica is become a new primary planet in the system of the world, which, while it takes its own course, must have its effect upon the orbit of every other planet, and shift the common center of gravity." The author of these words was Thomas Pownall, formerly a British governor in the colonies, and then a member of the House of Commons. The words were uttered in 1780, and, a little over a century atterward, they have become literaly true. The United States, as Pownall said, has become a new primary planct, in the system of the world, and it has moved the common center of gravity of the universe. Its voice will have a commanding potency hereafter in the councils of the nations, and it will be directed in the interest of civilization. Only one of the great countries of the Old World is in harmony with its methods and aspirations, and its moral aid for that country in this crisis gives the latter a courage and a potency which enable her to hold the primacy in European affairs. Through England, as against the continental European nations, speaks America, civilization, the twentieth century, the world's newer and grander age .-- Globe Democrat.
