The increase in the foreign trade of the United States this year exceeds in value the entire foreign trade of the country for any year preceding 1850.

If there was a Nicaragua canal the Oregon and Iowa would be at Honolulu instead of at a Brazilian port on the way around the farthest end of South America.

While the easy-chaired functionary who presides over the Leland Stanford University was traveling over the country and criticising President McKinley's war policy, the state of California responded with a majority of 30,000 for the party which President McKinley represents in national affairs.

Some of the local representative districts in Kansas are so evenly divided politically this year that the result of the election can not be definitely determined until the soldier vote shall have been received. Some of the Kansas troops voted in mid-ocean while en route to the Philippines, and in the meantime the candidates at home are waiting patiently to hear from Manila precinct.

General Wheeler lost no time, after his re-election to congress, in defining his position on the new and great question of the day. Though a Democrat, he is no Bourbon. Therefore he declared: "The history of the last 300 years has conclusively shown that colonial governments alone can retain permanent control of foreign markets. I am a firm believer that it will be in our power to instill the principles of American civilization in the peoples of the Philippines." In these two sentences is summed up the full-orbed truth of the whole matter. The reason for keeping the Philippines is that their retention is demanded equally by the interests of the United States and of the Filipinos themselves. It is a clear case of the harmony of self-interest and philanthropy. This duality could not be more clearly and briefly expressed than in these two sentences. Would that the Democracy were more prolific of Wheelers and less prolific of Baileys and Bryans.

Margall, the old Spanish Republican leader, talks wisely in saying that Spain will be stronger without the Philippines than she would be with them. One difference between Margall and the others—Figueras, Salmeron and Castelar—who were at the head of the so-called Spanish republic of 1873, is that Margall was a sincere Republican, who had a strong and intelligent admiration for the United States, and who had an earnest desire to give his country a government as nearly like that of the United States as the differences between the character and capabilities of the two peoples would permit. Unlike the more showy and less sincere Castelar, Margall would have given Cuba, which was in revolt in 1873, the reforms which that island asked for, and would even have granted independence to her. Unhappily for Cuba and Spain, the majority of the alleged Republicans took the Castelar rather than the Margall view of the situation, and continued the policy of repression which had forced the island into revolt, and which, in a new rebellion a quarter of a century later, compelled the United States to intervene. Margall is mistaken, however, in supposing the Filipinos will insist on getting absolute independence. There are excellent reasons for believing the islanders will be satisfied with the measure of home rule which the United States will give them, accompanied, as it will be, with the order, stability and business prosperity which would be impossible under either Spanish rule or independence.

...A CHANGE...

For Everybody to Buy Good Clothing Cheap.

It has been a common report to us that other dealers say that we have nothing but trash, but we will defy any house in our line in The Dalles to show as good a quality of goods as we carry for the money. Those people know when they tell you this that they have goods that have been laying on their shelves since the year One, and prices on them since the year '49; and when they know it to be a fact that our store—the White House Clothing Store of Portland—has only been in existence eight months, and when it is a known fact in the city of Portland that we carry the choicest line of goods in the market, and undersell all dealers.

Call at our place of business and we will convince you that we will save you from $7.50 to $10.00 on every Suit or Overcoat that you may purchase from us during our stay in this city. Our intention was to start a branch of our Portland house, but being unable, as we have stated, to secure a location, we must close out every dollar's worth of this stock. Now is your time and chance to secure good goods for a little money. Your money refunded as cheerfully as received if our goods do not suit.

- Men's all-wool and all-sizes Cassimere Suits $5.50
- Cheviot Suits; the very latest shades, all sizes $4.50
- A handsome Dark Cheviot Suit, the newest pattern $5.50
- Scotch Cheviot; all wool, the very newest plaids $7.50
- Black Worsted Dress Suits $7.50

Remember what you have been paying for these goods before we came here.

- Men's Blue and Black Beaver Overcoats, satin backs; our price $6.50
- Men's Covert Cloth; the very latest shade Overcoats; satin and farmer satin lining $7.50
- An elegant Ulster; full length, extra heavy; our price $6.00

Hats, Gloves and Furnishing Goods and everything in proportion. If our goods are not better than you can find them elsewhere for the money, we do not ask you to buy them. All we ask is a call, and we will convince you that you will save money by buying our goods. Remember the name and place, No. 66 Second Street, W. A. Johnston's old place, The Dalles.

COUNTRY MERCHANTS and PEDDLERS are invited to call and examine our goods and prices, and they will profit by it. All mail orders promptly attended to, and if goods do not suit we will prepay express and refund money.
