FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

The importance of Republican control of the Fifty-Sixth congress is emphasized by the editorial comments of the Vicksburg Dispatch. The morning after election the Dispatch said: "The Democrats have made all the great states of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and New York doubtful states for the Republicans in a national contest, and the Democrats did that with the principles of 1896 nailed to the masthead. It is true the new house of representatives can do nothing for over a year, but it will be in power when the great presidential battle is fought in 1900. If by any chance the presidential election should be thrown into the house the Democrats are sure to win."

Fortunately, the country escaped this danger. Not one of the states mentioned will be doubtful in the next presidential election. In the Fifty-Sixth congress the Republicans will control twenty-six states and the Democrats eighteen. The Republicans have a majority of the congressmen in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, California, Washington, Oregon, Maryland, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming. If the presidential election should be thrown into the house the Democrats would have as heavy a majority against them as they would if a president had been elected in 1898.—Inter-Ocean.

This is a story related by Admiral Schley about himself. The incident occurred when he was a small boy, of course: "I was returning from a fishing trip one day, when, looking down the lane, I saw a big mad bull making toward me, bellowing with fury and tossing the earth with his horns. I scarcely had time to think what to do, when I suddenly leaped over the fence, only to observe the infuriated beast tear that fence to smithereens, and I, seeing the avenue of escape closed, climbed an apple tree. I got a perch on the topmost limb of the tree and, would you believe it, that animal kept me there until night, bellowing and butting away at the trunk. Finally as night drew on he left, when I came down and went home. However, I was not much alarmed at my position, but took it coolly, feeling that I was safe. I want to see if that old tree which rendered such protection to me still stands." If it does Admiral Schley is going to find it during his present visit to the home of his childhood. The story is given in full because of its simplicity and modesty. Some men relating a similar experience in their boyhood days would have rounded it off in a different fashion, but it is seen that the hero of Santiago sticks to the truth. If he had deviated from the truth the story would have been more interesting, perhaps, but we would not have believed it, as we do now.

The gentlemen on the opposition benches who are criticising the operations of the Dingley law because, as they claim, it does not produce enough revenue, should not commit themselves too far. The Republican party has never failed to meet emergencies along the revenue line, and the gentlemen on the opposition benches are likely to be complaining next year because we have a surplus that they are not allowed to disburse.

There is likely to be some confusion over the Spanish peace commission unless the present flow of diplomacy is shut off. Some of the members of congress at the next session are likely to ask if it is true that some of our representatives have been appointed for life or during good behavior.

A Sure Sign of Croup.

Hoarseness in a child that is subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Many mothers who have croupy children always keep this remedy at hand and find that it saves them much trouble and worry. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. # ...A CHANCE... For Everybody to Buy Good Clothing Cheap.

It has been a common report to us that other dealers say that we have nothing but trash, but we will defy any house in our line in The Dalles to show as good a quality of goods as we carry for the money. Those people know when they tell you this that they have goods that have been laying on their shelves since the year One, and prices on them since the year '49; and when they know it to be a fact that our store—the White House Clothing Store of Portland—has only been in existence eight months, and when it is a known fact in the city of Portland that we carry the choicest line of goods in the market, and undersell all dealers.

Call at our place of business and we will convince you that we will save you from $7.50 to $10.00 on every Suit or Overcoat that you may purchase from us during our stay in this city. Our intention was to start a branch of our Portland house, but being unable, as we have stated, to secure a location, we must close out every dollar's worth of this stock. Now is your time and chance to secure good goods for a little money. Your money refunded as cheerfully as received if our goods do not suit.
