

To the Ladies of The Dalles and Vicinity.

We will have during the next couple of weeks a

Rennant Offering

and as rapidly as we can get around to it will make it very general throughout the different departments devoted to the dry goods and fancy goods. Commencing today we will offer

Ribbons

Of all shades and descriptions at such astonishingly low figures that if you appreciate a good thing when you see it, do not fail to come. We are not doing this solely for your good, but we wish to make it mutual. We commence with ribbons because we have just placed our spring order and our stock has been thoroughly gone through and we know what will have to be done either now or later on to make room for new goods.

THIS IS WHERE We Stand

Now we know that if you can get some good bargains in this line before Christmas that you will appreciate them more than you will when the season is over. This is where you stand.

Do You Read Our Ads?

There is an Eastern story of a man who waited 1000 years at the gates of paradise, hoping they would open. Finally he took a short nap. During the few minutes he was asleep the gates opened, and closed again. See the point? The day you miss one of our ads you'll probably miss some good thing.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Pulse of New York At the Vogt opera house tonight. A. M. Williams & Co. announce the completeness of their holiday stock of fine neckwear. Do not wait for a better time to make your Xmas selections.

Last night was the coldest one of the season and frost was quite numerous this morning. The thermometer stood within four degrees of the coldest night last winter. Last evening a number of the members of Cascade lodge, B. P. O. E., gave a dinner in honor of their guest, D. Solis Cohen, which was very enjoyable. Mr. Cohen returned to Portland today.

Mr. Patterson, receiver, and Mr. Lucas, register, of The Dalles land office, seem to be the right men in the right place. People who have business with them appreciate their promptness and accuracy in business transactions.—Grass Valley Journal.

Tomorrow evening a meeting of the club members will be held for the purpose of electing officers. Every member is earnestly requested to attend. The pleasure of having the ladies present on this occasion will of necessity have to be foregone, so that ladies' evening this week will be passed over.

Displays of holiday goods are becoming quite prominent in our store these days. A collection of fancy glass and white metal novelties, at A. M. Williams & Co's. is attracting considerable attention. Choice of a variety of pretty articles at each 25 cents. Have you seen them?

The "Pulse of New York" company will appear at the Vogt tonight. Those who heard this company play here last year are as competent to judge of its merits as is the CHRONICLE. All who attended then were delighted with the company. The music will be furnished tonight by Birgfeld's orchestra.

W. S. Keat, representing the Rambler bicycles, is in town today. He is also interested in the Rambler football team, and arrangements have about been completed for a game here on New Year's day. This will be good news to all, for aside from the fact of the enjoyment, it affords a pleasant pastime for the holiday.

The Methodist church, both morning and evening yesterday was crowded. In the morning Rev. Thoburn, who is the son of a missionary, and who himself spent some years in the work in India, addressed the audience on "missions." So earnest was he and so eloquent and touching his appeal, that all agreed they had never heard a better sermon on this subject. The missionary apportionment of $96 for the church here was raised with no special appeal.

In the evening Chaplain Lozier occupied the pulpit and gave a stirring address on the subject of dedicating what talents we have to the work of the Master. At its close he sang his beautiful solo, "The Man of Galilee."

Last night the members of the order of Elks attended the Congregational church in a body. No previous arrangement had been made with the pastor, making it impossible for him to give an address suitable to the occasion. However, the sermon was much appreciated by his listeners. The music was especially good, a very pretty anthem being sung, and a duet rendered by Mrs. Butler and Miss Schmidt.

Last night, while Miss Minnie Harper and her sister were attending church, some one entered her residence, near the East Hill school, and ransacked things generally. This morning when she went to her trunk to get her purse, she found that it had been broken open and the purse, which contained $4.50 in change, stolen. Undoubtedly the burglar is not a hundred miles from the city. These petty robberies should be ferreted out.

Forester Confined in County Jail.

In spite of the fact that nothing definite had been given out as to the train on which Sheriff Kelly would arrive with his prisoner, curiosity ran so high that for fear the opportunity of catching a passing glance at Forester might be missed, a large crowd was waiting at the Umatilla House when the 5 o'clock train arrived Saturday evening, joining in the procession which conveyed the murderer of Brogan to his quarters at the county jail, which he will at least occupy until the February term of court. Sheriff Kelly reports an uneventful trip back, the prisoner being very easy to manage, causing no trouble whatever. They were delayed for a half-day at Sacramento on account of some slight accident to the train, when he occupied the jail at that place.

A Winnemucca paper, with whose reporter Forester conversed freely, said that after the killing, which he claims to have committed in self defense, he walked 150 miles, when he bought a horse and started for Nevada. On the way he encountered a traveler, whom he fell in with and to whom he disclosed his crime, informing the fellow that $1000 had been offered for his arrest. On reaching Winnemucca his companion notified the officers, who immediately captured him.

Forester is now closely confined behind the bars, and no one is permitted to interview him, although the prisoner makes no objection. During the entire day yesterday the sheriff's office was crowded with visitors, many of them acquaintances of the prisoner, eager to see him; but it is impossible to grant their request, it being thought best to exclude all visitors.

His case will not come up until the February term of court.

ELKS' MEMORIAL.

Beautiful and Appropriate Exercises Held Yesterday Afternoon.

It may be truthfully said of the brotherhood of Elks that whatever is undertaken by them receives their undivided attention, and nothing that will aid in the perfection of the desired end is omitted by them. Perhaps this spirit is more admirably displayed in their annual memorial than upon any other occasion, at which time their minds are turned to loving thoughts and remembrance of those in response to whose names comes no sound save the toll of the bell.

The exercises yesterday afternoon were not an exception to this rule, and those who were privileged to attend felt that the hours spent with the Elks were full of benefit to them, causing them to imbibe some of the brotherly love shown not only for those departed, but for all mankind. The opening and closing ceremonies are indeed beautiful, and when added to them is the eloquence expressed in address and song, they are doubly impressive.

The music by the Columbia quartet was particularly well chosen, and sung with such harmony and expression that all were enraptured. Nothing so completely carries one away and adds solemnity to such exercises as does the strain of sweet music, fairly lifting one above. The solo, "Calvary," rendered by Mr. Wm. Crossen was so well adapted to the richness of his voice that he sang "Rest, rest for the weary; peace, peace to the soul," it seemed that no selection could have been more appropriate nor so well suited to such an occasion as were the words and music of that solo.

The eulogy delivered by Hon. John Michell was extremely eloquent and so delivered that not an iota of its depth of feeling was lost on his hearers. His words in remembrance of the two departed brothers, George Clacking and Owen Williams, showed truly that their faults had been written on the sands, while their virtues were engraven on the tablets of love and memory.

Those who had expected a treat when it was announced that one of Oregon's most famous orators, D. Solis Cohen, was to be with us, were far from being disappointed. His every thought, word and gesture were eloquence, and the more appreciated because of their originality. As he spoke of the teachings of the order and impressed upon his brother Elks that the best lessons to be gathered from such services are those which teach them their duty to their fellow man, his very emphasis and expression, showed that he is a true orator, who feels what his words convey. The sentiments brought out at closing when speaking of the truths contained in the flower of the order, the forget-me-not, were beautiful. Indeed the entire address was a gem of oratory, and a grand expression of the thoughts concerning the departed which were throught ing his memory. Such meetings cannot fail to leave their impress on the lives of those who take part in them and those who are listeners.

WHAT OUR CITY DADS DID.

Nothing of Great Importance at Saturday's Meeting.

At roll call Saturday evening at the council meeting the following city dads answered "present": Kuck, Keller, Clough, Gunning, Stephens, Barnett and Butts.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, a slight correction was made, when they were approved. Kuck, of the finance committee, reported in the matter of the claims of the city against the county for taxes, which matter was referred to the finance committee at the last meeting, that they have not yet employed an expert to investigate; therefore ask for further time.

C. F. Stephens, of the committee on streets and public property, reported that the committee had appraised the city's lot on Third street, adjoining Brogan's property, at $1200, and recommended the same to the council, which approved the recommendation. The matter of the removal of all buildings situated on public streets without permission of the council, was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

Dr. O. D. Doane and Geo. A. Liebe, members of the school board, appeared before the council and stated that they had been served with notice by the marshal, notifying them to remove the nuisance caused by the water closets at the school building on Court street. They acknowledged that at the time complaint was made they were in a bad condition, but that it was the first time there had been cause for such complaint, and that said cause would be removed. However, as the district has already spent much during the past year, and if the notice were complied with it would make an additional expense of about $700 or $800, they asked that it be not required to put in patent closets, which would also cause much trouble by freezing. Their request was complied with.

Regarding the electric light question, the mayor and recorder presented the matter by reading the contract submitted by the company to them and refused, and the one presented by them to the company, which has not been acted upon as yet. It seems there are some differences in regard to the situation of the lights. No action was taken by the council. W. A. Johnston having changed his place of residence from the First ward, a new councilman was elected. Councilman Keller placed in nomination Chas. Michalbach, who was elected by acclamation.

It was ordered that sidewalks be constructed on Laughlin street, between Second and Third. The claim of Douglas Dufur for $56.50, premium for insurance on city buildings, was referred to the finance committee.

Officers' reports were then submitted,

Birthday Party.

Saturday being the 13th birthday of Ella McCoy, a number of her friends spent a very pleasant afternoon with her. Upon their arrival they found the parlors fairly enveloped in a spider web, woven by human hands. The work of unwinding immediately began and Daisy Deane reaching the goal first, captured the prize. Afterward the game of cinderella's slipper engaged their attention, at which Bessie Eddon proved herself an adept. Helen Lytle was equally unfortunate at both games, and carried away the booby prizes. The birthday luncheon was one which received no less attention than did the games, and the young misses did justice to it.

Those who were fortunate in receiving invitations were: Constance French, Helen Lytle, Alberta Shepherd, Winifred Wilson, Florence Williams, Hazel Huntington, Lena Moore, Nina Guthrie, Lela and Lota Kelsay, Clara Dunham, Lulu Nicholas, Luella Nelson, Della Young, Daisy and Dora Deane, Bessie Eddon, Drucilla Moody and Bertha Steers.
