

To the Ladies of The Dalles and Vicinity.

We will have during the next couple of weeks a

Remnant Offering

and as rapidly as we can get around to it will make it very general throughout the different departments devoted to the dry goods and fancy goods. Commencing today we will offer

Ribbons

Of all shades and descriptions at such astonishingly low figures that if you appreciate a good thing when you see it, do not fail to come. We are not doing this solely for your good, but we wish to make it mutual. We commence with ribbons because we have just placed our spring order and our stock has been thoroughly gone through and we know what will have to be done either now or later on to make room for new goods.

THIS IS WHERE We Stand

Now we know that if you can get some good bargains in this line before Christmas that you will appreciate them more than you will when the season is over. This is where you stand.

Do You Read Our Ads?

There is an Eastern story of a man who waited 1000 years at the gates of paradise, hoping they would open. Finally he took a short nap. During the few minutes he was asleep the gates opened, and closed again. See the point? The day you miss one of our ads you'll probably miss some good thing.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Dolls, beautifully dressed, will be for sale at the fair at the Vogt December 14th, 15th and 16th.

Miss Catharine Martin, teacher of the 4th and 5th grades in our public school, is confined to her home today by sickness. Her place is being filled by Miss Hattie Cram.

A letter received from Joe and Gus Bonn today, announces that they started for home on last Monday. If no stops are made they will arrive about tomorrow. Otherwise they will reach home about the last of the week.

Few people are aware of the enormous source of revenue the salmon-canning industry has been for Oregon. According to the fish commissioner's report, that fish has up to the time he compiled it, yielded this state $75,000,000.

Yesterday the wind blew a perfect gale down the river, causing the waves to reach the upper deck of the Inland Flyer. But she is a sea gull when it comes to plowing the waves, and with some needed improvements will yet show what she is made of.

Earnest Sherar arrived from Portland last night and left this morning for his ranch, near Hay Creek. Last week Mr. Sherar sold 4000 head of sheep to W. J. Schofield, of Salt Lake City, which were brought here Saturday and taken across the river, to be turned loose in the Yakima country.

This morning the thermometer stood 25 above, and it remained cold during the entire day. While the forecast had predicted their white opera cloak, we have failed to receive even a sprinkling of snow. In Walla Walla they have had sleighing, and at Spokane the thermometer has stood at 7 above, while at other places they are coasting.

The "Dazzler" company, which will appear in The Dalles on the 12th in the Vogt, is now playing to crowded houses in Portland. The Oregonian says of it: "The members of the cast are all specialists and good ones. The humor is bright, sparkling and full of surprises and the music is of an unusually high order."

The first sleigh bells of the season were heard in Walla Walla yesterday. It might be casually remarked in the same connection that they could scarcely be heard for the grating sound arising from the runners and mud coming in contact. It is barely possible that the liveryman was sharpening the runners and polishing them up ready for real sleighing, which is liable to come with a slight shift of snow.—W. W. Statesman.

This morning when No. 115, an extra west-bound freight, with Nestor as conductor and Nickle as engineer, reached Mosier, an axle broke on one of the cars, causing two cars to be derailed and the trucks to break under another, and making quite a mix-up in that vicinity. About 8 o'clock the wrecker was sent to the scene with a force of men to clear up the debris. Fortunately no one was injured.

George Peters, the man who had his ankle broken last week, and has since occupied the city jail, was last evening removed to the county poor house, three miles from town. He is getting along nicely, and appears to be a man who is far above the ordinary hobnob. He claims to have been put off the train a few miles below town, and to have slipped and broken his ankle while walking on the track here.

Sometime in the near future when there are not so many attractions from abroad, our citizens are to have a treat furnished by one of our own townsmen. Capt. Lewis, who is fully as competent as any who have ever visited our city, and has experienced all the terrors of a prisoner of war, will give a talk on life in Libby prison and his escape from its walls, where he spent seven months. All will look forward to the date, which will be announced later.

And now the marshal is after the town cow, and hereby warns her owners that if she is not kept up, he will see that she is run into the pound. So if you are compelled to drink your tea and coffee without milk, do not say you have not been warned of the pending catastrophe. All of those who are annoyed by her will not be so accommodating as the feed yard keeper, to whom she has been such a nuisance that he tied her up, allowing her to return to her owners at night.

If no other proof of the superiority of Oregon's apple crop could be found, visitors to THE CHRONICLE office today could be fully convinced that our apples can't be beat. On our desk is a small basket of white winter pears, red checked pippins, Missouri pippins and Spitzenberg varieties, which were raised in the orchard of Mrs. Ned Wicks, and they are beauties. In vain have we searched for blemishes, they are not to be found, and a more perfect selection we have not seen.

A serious runaway accident occurred about 9:30 o'clock this morning, when the horses attached to Wm. Henzie's express wagon became frightened while standing in front of the D. P. & A. N. Co.'s warehouse, and ran into the flag pole at the foot of court street, throwing Mr. Henzie out and causing the wagon to pass over him, bruising him about the chest and spraining his ankle. He was immediately taken to his rooms and made as comfortable as possible, his injuries not proving serious. The team then proceeded up First street, and became badly tangled after running into a post in front of the Cosmopolitan, but were released before they had hurt themselves or broken the wagon.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Flourishing Condition of This Organization—What It Does For Us.

Nothing which has ever started in The Dalles along social lines and tending to build up the city and its interests has so accomplished the end desired as the Commercial and Athletic Club. Three years ago we had no organization where might be discussed any measure relating to the welfare of our city or which could be called the headquarters for all such movements. Beside, there was not a rendezvous for our young men not a place where the hours could be whiled away in games or be spent in perusing the latest magazines and the best of literature. Worse than this, when strangers visited us we had no place to take them for entertainment and where could be met the leading citizens and a few hours be spent in giving them an idea of the city and surrounding country and of our wonderful resources.

At that time it was decided to fill this want by starting a club, and one hundred charter members were secured, who put in $10 each, the monthly dues being placed at $1.50. The name signified the purpose for which it was organized, The Dalles Commercial and Athletic Club, and such it has proven. The upper floor of the old Grant building, on the corner of First and Washington street, was leased and fitted up very comfortably, which answered the purpose for a little over a year, when it was found wholly inadequate and the lower floor was also added and the entire building transformed into club rooms, which not only equal any in the state, but surpass most of them and are an ornament to the city and the pride of every member.

Now when visitors come to our city the first place they are taken to is the club, and if any special entertainment is necessary the club furnishes it. Beside, what a fund of pleasure it furnishes for the residents of The Dalles, who spend so many hours within its walls.

Last evening their annual meeting was held, and the reports for the past year were extremely encouraging. The secretary announced that whereas they were over three thousand dollars in debt at the beginning of the year, they were now owing but about $500, and that in every respect the organization was in a very flattering condition.

Election of a board of directors proved that the former board had given entire satisfaction, and, although they protested claiming that others could much better fill their places, they were re-elected as follows: G. C. Blakeley, H. M. Beall, W. L. Bradshaw, W. H. Wilson, E. C. Pease, R. B. Sinnott and J. F. Hampshire. Three of these, W. H. Wilson, E. C. Pease and R. B. Sinnott have acted as members of the board since the club was organized. The board has the power to appoint their own officers, who will be announced later.

Taken all in all, every citizen whether a member or not, is proud of our club.

One Minute Cough Cure, cures. That is what it was made for.

A Cure for Love.

Yesterday the following receipt was handed us for publication, by a young man who has so successfully tried the remedy that we are every day expecting an invitation to his wedding. If any care to further investigate the matter, apply at THE CHRONICLE office, when we will refer you to the aforesaid gentleman. The cure is as follows:

"Take 12 ounces dialke, 1 pound of resolution, 2 grains of common sense, 2 ounces of experience, a large sprig of time and three quarts of the cooling water of consideration. Set them over the gentle fire of love, sweeten it with sugar of forgetfulness, skim it with the spoon of melancholy, put it in the bottom of your heart, cork it with the cork of clear conscience and let it remain and you will quickly find ease and be restored to your senses again.

These things can be had of the druggist, at the house of understanding, next door to reason, on Prudence street, in the village of Contentment. Take when spell comes on." We would add, shake well before taking.

It might be a deed of charity to refer the above to the Walla Walla couple to whom the following article, taken from the Statesman, has reference:

A few nights ago a well known hotel proprietor being on the parlor floor of his hotel noticed a strong smell of escaping gas. After a short search he traced the escaping gas to the parlor. The parlor was dark and the fumes of gas were almost suffocating. He raised a window, turned off the escaping gas, and then became aware of occupants in the room. Going to the sofa he found a young man with a maiden perched on his lap, both being partially smothered with escaping gas. The love sick pair were dragged by the back of the neck to the open window and soon revived. The hotel man warned them never again to take such a big dose of love at one time or it would surely, on the second dose, have worse effects. The couple when they went into the room blew out the gas with the result as above stated.

Jackson Engine Company.

Somehow Dalles people, especially those who are old residents, have a soft spot in their hearts for the old reliable Jackson Engine Co., No. 1, which has proved a friend in need in so many conflagrations since its organization in 1863. Among the thirty members who attended last night's meeting were many who joined the company in the early 60s and who are still active. Times without number have they fought the fiery demon, asking neither pay nor praise; but receiving many times unwarranted censure. They are yet ready to assist when circumstances demand it. At this meeting it was decided to give a grand ball on the evening of Dec. 30th, and a committee consisting of Geo. Liebe, Sr., C. F. Lauer, John Blaser, W. H. Butts and A. Sandrock were appointed to make the necessary arrangements, being instructed by the company to make it the grandest affair the city has ever known, sparing neither pains nor expenses.

Pianos and Organs.

C. W. Toner, traveling salesman for Sherman, Clay & Co., is in town with a line of pianos and organs which can be seen at Mrs. Frazier's—the European House. The line consists of Steinway & Sons, A. B. Chase, Emersons, and Smith & Barnes. Mr. Toner will only remain a few days. Everyone is invited to call and examine the stock, which will be sold at prices very much lower than ever before offered in The Dalles. This is an opportunity to make your family and friends an elegant holiday present. Terms will be cash or on time, favorable to purchaser. Don't miss this great opportunity but come and examine for yourself. SHERMAN, CLAY & Co., Wholesale Dealers, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.
