WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Mahara's Minstrels
Tonight at the Baldwin.
Read A. M. Williams & Co's. ad.
This morning the thermometer stood at 7 above, moderating considerably during the day.
Arthur Clarke has disposed of his jewelry business, in the East End, to Mr. J. Stoufer, who is a first-class jeweler.
A professional fortune teller and palmist from the Willamette valley will be at the fair each night. Consult her, for she is capable of telling your future.
Mahara's Minstrel company arrived this morning with their special car, and at noon made a good showing in the parade. They will appear tonight at the Baldwin.
Miss Bloch will arrive in the city tonight. Don't miss hearing her at the fair tomorrow and Thursday nights. Admission 25 cents; children 10 cents.
Still the list of Oregon's dead at Manila increases, three having been added to the list: Fred Norton, 21 years old, who enlisted from Snohomish; Frank Hibbs, 21 years, of McMinnville, and Harry Hibbard, 24 years, of Willard, Oregon.
Today the employes of the D. P. & A. N. are having a winter picnic in getting a move on the wharf boat and taking it up to Hungry Harbor, where the Regulator now is. It is slow work cutting through the ice and pulling it along by ropes; but it is thought the goal will finally be reached.
The new heater which has been placed in the Vogt, made itself felt last night, and all were comfortable. Even the cold shoulder, which the young lady might give an geort who remembers that he has important business with a man on the outside and leaves her for the purpose of transacting it, will have no chilling effect now.
Most people speak too loudly over the 'phones, especially when such instruments are in use as those Seufert & Condon have put in between this city and Kingsley. Saturday evening when Mr. Wentworth called up THE CHRON-ICLE office from the latter place, we were surprised to hear every word distinctly when he spoke in a whisper. It is wonderful when telephoning gets down to such a fine point.

It was expected that the Columbia Southern Railroad would be through to More today. If not so soon, it will reach that point in a few days, when Morrites are to have a grand celebration. The head office will be moved from Wasco, and Mr. I. H. Keffer, of this city, is to accept the position as agent. Miss Mae Enright, who is secretary, will also move to that place.
The four men injured in the collision near Pendleton Sunday morning were taken to St. Vincent hospital in Portland that night. They were David Filger, an old man of 64, who was on his way to the coast from Manunk, Ill.; Jay Adams, of San Francisco general Pacific coast agent for the Nickel Plate road, who was cut and scalded; Louis Plechner, traveling salesman for the wholesale house of Ginterman Bros., St. Paul, and Fireman Harry Burrows, of the freight train, who received a cut on the forehead.
The river today is frozen solid from bank to bank and at 7 o'clock this morning Howard Marshall, driver of the Goldendale stage, accompanied by Messrs. J. and R. Crocker, of Portland, walked over on the ice, the former carrying the mail. Skaters were also seen skimming over the ice on its edges. From Chas. Alden, who returned from Portland last night, we learn that the Columbia is blocked from here to Crate's Point; from Memaloose to Klickitat Landing, and from Washongal to ten miles below the mouth of the Willamette. This is winter in earnest.
Articles of incorporation of the Lost Lake Lumbering Company were today filed for record with the clerk. The capital stock is $75,000, divided into 750 shares of $100 each. Its incorporators are F. H. Button, Ethel P. Button and P. S. Davidson, Jr., and the object is to engage in buying and selling timber land and other real property; to build, construct and maintain saw mills; to sell and otherwise handle saw logs and other wooden produce; to build and operate steamboats and other water crafts on the Columbia and tributaries; and to improve the stream of Hood River and other logging streams. The principal office of the company will be at Hood River.

THE DAZZLER PLEASES.
Every Actor an Artist and a Good Play Presented.
Just to show you that we know a good thing when we hear it we are now ready to say that a better show in its line has never been seen in The Dalles than that presented by the "Dazzler" company last night. From the moment the two comedians, Boulden and Wright, came upon the stage, the audience was assured they were to have their money's worth, and their every appearance was greeted with applause. The former is an all-around actor—a comedian, tragedian and first-class musician combined, his stage presence being faultless; and the latter falls not far short of him.
Before the play ended every actor and actress had proven themselves stars in some line, either being a graceful actor, a fine singer or a first-class dancer.
The "Dazzler" was dazzling in the extreme, her beauty capturing the audience and her sweet voice holding them during the entire performance. While most of the actresses possess fine voices, perhaps that of Miss Grace Warren might be chosen as the richest, its excellence being shown in the burlesque opera. Reidy and Beddell also won great favor, for none could listen to their voices without being captivated by them.
While every feature of the second and third acts was deserving of special mention, we cannot refrain from mentioning the song and dance by Rose Leslie and Evelyn Audley; the mirror trio by Wright, Reidy and Beddell, and the perfect dancing of James Dooling, who is a wonder in his line.
One of the most beautiful features of the evening was the operatic war picture at the end of the second act, and great applause followed the final triumph of our stars and stripes. Particular affecting was the tableau wherein the wounded soldier received the ministrations of a nurse of the Red Cross society and was applauded by the nation.
The musical performance of Boulden and Griffin in the last act was worth the price of admission, while their jokes were extremely witty, not including a single joke which has grown stale or become a chestnut.
The Dazzler will be repeated tonight at the Vogt. Admission 50 cents.
One-third off on mens fine suits at A. M. Williams & Co.

Read This Program.
It is certainly worth many times the price of admission to the fair to hear Miss Bloch sing; but besides three selections, and likely three encores, there are other excellent numbers on the program. For tomorrow night it will be as follows:
Song.....Columbia Quartet
Solo.....Miss Rose Bloch
Recitation—"Blacking the Baby,"
.....Miss Johannesen
Solo.....Miss Bloch
Lantern Swinging.....Miss Bloch
Messrs. Van Norden, Campbell and Prunyo
Solo.....Miss Bloch
Two Pointed Questions Answered.
What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you can not get a better price for it?
Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single scale they will be much greater in the aggregate.
How can you get the public to know your make is the best?
If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one.
This explains the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon. They may occasionally take up with some fashionable novelty put forth with exaggerated claims, but are certain to return to the one remedy that they know to be reliable, and for coughs, colds and croup there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

For the Babies.
The ladies will have on sale at the fair all sorts of pretty articles for the babies, such as crocheted sacks, booties, hoods, etc. Go and see them.

The water was not turned off so early as expected today; not until afternoon. Tomorrow during the entire day residents on the hill will be without water, while the old mains are being taken up and new ones laid. Fill up all the kettles, buckets and pans. It might be well for all to keep an extra supply of water on hand in case the supply is shut off from any unforeseen cause.
