During the ensuing session of legislature a law should be enacted rendering it more difficult and less profitable for pawnbrokers to do business with thieves. As it now is if a detective finds stolen property in a pawnbroker's shop in the greater number of instances the owner is compelled to reimburse the pawnbroker in the sum he has advanced the pawning thief ere he can recover his own. Why, even the detective advises the victim to make good the broker's outlay, else the broker will, in the future, conceal all "suspicious" property and ruin the detective's business. This has been the custom here for many years, but there is no reason why it should be perpetuated. There is no sense in forcing a victim of a theft to reimburse the unlawful custodian of his property for the money he has loaned a thief on it. The law should make it mandatory upon the lender of money on personal property to satisfy himself beyond a question of doubt that the borrower is the rightful owner of the property he wishes to hypothecate. If a question of title then arises, the lawful owner cannot be called upon to settle the thief's score. No man ever lends money on real estate without searching the title to it of the would-be borrower. Why, then, should not this practice hold good in making loans on personal property? By passing a law holding pawnbroker's personally liable for stolen goods in their possession they will be more prudent in the entertainment of their clientage and it will tend to reduce the volume of crime.—Telegram.

Mr. Bryan no sooner finds himself in a talking suit of clothes than he avails himself of a highly valued privilege. His remarks on expansion are not as free from contradiction as might be desired, but this is characteristic of Democratic remarks on the subject. Mr. Bryan does not advise a fight against the treaty. He would vote for it, $20,000,000 and all, and then manage to retire from the Philippines on some sort of conditions, retaining only a coaling station. He would turn even Porto Rico into a republic if the inhabitants insisted on it. He desires it to be understood that this country can never, without self destruction, hold territory on a colonial tenure. It may well be asked how Mr. Bryan, with such convictions, can be willing to allow the treaty to go through. The best time to nip national and constitutional ruin is in the bud. The treaty is an expansion document. But when brought face to face with a practical question the Democratic plan frequently is to fall back to another line of works. Mr. Bryan knows that if he opposed the treaty he would be a used-up politician.

Two Pointed Questions Answered. What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you can not get a better price for it? Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single scale they will be much greater in the aggregate. How can you get the public to know your make is the best? If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one. This explains the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon. They may occasionally take up with some fashionable novelty put forth with exaggerated claims, but are certain to return to the one remedy that they know to be reliable, and for coughs, colds and croup there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. FRIENDSHIP DEMONSTRATED

Filibustering Expedition Being Prepared to Go to Aguinaldo's Aid Suppressed at Hong Kong.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—A Washington special says:

Great Britain has given another striking example of her friendship for the United States, and at the same time has taken action which is looked upon in the light of recognition of the sovereignty of the United States over the Philippines. A filibustering expedition organized to go to the support of Aguinaldo has been suppressed at Hong Kong by order of the British authorities.

This information came to the department a few days ago in a cablegram from Consul-General Wildman, and has just been made public. The reason for keeping the information secret was that the department wished to ascertain if possible the source of the expedition and who was responsible for the organization of it.

Consul-General Wildman, so far as can be learned, has not yet been able to get those details.
