MR. BRYAN ON ANNEXATION

"It is astonishing," said Mr. Bryan in his address on Wednesday at Springfield, Illinois, "that any man living in this age of the world, living in the United States, should uphold the doctrines of securing land by conquest. Jefferson was against it long years ago."

Mr. Bryan has scanned history's pages through strange glasses. A large part of the domain of the United States has been acquired by conquest. Indeed, the fight for independence was itself in the nature of a war of conquest, the thirteen colonies not only throwing off the yoke of England, but forcing a large territory to come in under the new flag. The thirteen new states went beyond that, and took as the spoils of victory a vast expanse of western territory not included in their borders.

Jefferson asserted title from ocean to ocean, did not bother himself to offer the natives a plebiscite, and sent a military expedition up the Missouri and down the Columbia to raise the stars and stripes on the remote shore of the Pacific.

Mr. Bryan also declares opposition to that part of the treaty of Paris which proposes to give Spain $20,000,000 for her public works and improvements in the Philippines. "When I buy the Philippines," he said, "I want to deal directly with the people of them, and I want to pay more than $2.50 apiece for them."

This feature of the treaty, while appearing as an act of unusual magnanimity, was not without precedent. At the close of the war with Mexico, in 1848, the Mexicans relinquished all claim to Texas and ceded upper California and New Mexico to the United States. In return, the United States gave them $18,500,000. This was done under provisions made by a treaty commission, signed at Guadalupe Hidalgo (a town four miles from Mexico), and was ratified by the president and senate, March 10, 1848.

As an historical incident of interest, it may be well to recall the fact that General Phil Kearney had proclaimed California annexed to the United States on March 1, 1847, the year previous.—Spokesman Review.

THE CRISIS AT ILOILO.

If the truth could be ferreted out, it would be found that European intrigue is feeding Aguinaldo's mad ambition for a Filipino republic. Some trusted servant of Emperor William or the czar is inciting the insurgents to resistance against the authority of the United States.

The attempt will not succeed. The United States has put its hand to the plow, and will not turn back. Having destroyed and cast out the government of Spain, it will meet its implied obligation to civilization. It is under guarantee to establish a better rule in the Philippine islands, and it is not so deluded as to think that Aguinaldo and his native followers can set up and maintain a respectable government.

It seems that we shall have to speak to the misguided insurgents with Yankee guns and Dewey music before they will be sufficiently impressed with the magnitude and power and determination of the United States. If it shall be found necessary to teach a lesson of that sort, the teaching should be thorough and prompt. A clear understanding will be best for all concerned.

La Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from the second attack of La Grippe this year," says Mr. Jas. A. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days against ten days for the former attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" How to Prevent Pneumonia.

You are perhaps aware that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of La Grippe. During the epidemic of La Grippe a few years ago when so many cases resulted in pneumonia, it was observed that the attack was never followed by that disease when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. It counteracts any tendency of a cold or La Grippe to result in that dangerous disease. It is the best remedy in the world for bad colds and La Grippe. Every bottle warranted.
