PEASE & MAYS.

"On the Suwanee River," which comes to the Vogt opera house on next Monday (January 16th), tells a story different from the usual run of melodrama. The blind girl, Dora; the witless Frank, and Caleb Croc, the miser, are three characters rarely introduced in a play. Willard Newell is the villain of the villainous, grasping, sneaking miser of the very life. It is pronounced a fine character study, repulsive but true in every word and movement. Stella Mayhew as Aunt Lindy, is a living picture in walk, talk and gesture of the old black mammy, familiar in the South, while the other members of the company are equally adept in their parts. The scenic equipments are taken from the picturesque shores of the old Suwanee, and the various scenes, of which there is an entire carload, are assured to be true to the very life of the country around this famous stream.

In Olden Times People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with the transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently overcome habitual constipation, well informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system. Buy the genuine, made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

"On the Suwanee River," is described as a new southern comedy drama. It appeals to all classes of theater-goers. There are many novel developments in the plot, and the greatest advantage has been taken of the possibilities for the scenic embellishments. The company is a good one, all being equally well adapted for their respective parts, and includes such favorite players as Polly Stockwell, Allen H. Bailey, Stella Mayhew, Lawrence Earl Atkinson, Fannie Mathias, Fred Truesdell, Harry Stedman, Willard Newell, R. A. Gilmore, C. A. Lacy and the Fountain City Quartet. At the Vogt Monday evening.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The best dry fir cord wood at Maier & Benton's. Today County Clerk Kelsey granted a license to O. L. Fields and A. J. Hunter to wed. Mt. Hood Camp and the Women of Woodcraft will hold a joint installation on Tuesday, January 17th, in Woodmen hall. Woodmen's wives and Circles' husbands are invited to be present. It is expected Col. Patterson will arrive in the city this afternoon and be present at the militia meeting tonight, when election of officers of Co. D. will take place and a regular drill be had. Dr. Sanders informs us that he will take charge of Dr. Frazier's dental office on Monday next. We understand the latter will leave soon for Southern Oregon; but is at present confined to his home by sickness. Rev. Wood requests that we announce to the public that he expects to be able to conduct the regular church services tomorrow, and extends an invitation to all, especially members of his congregation, to be present. Mrs. Agnew, of Portland, has rented the house recently occupied by Rev. DeForest, on the corner of Fourth and Union streets, and having fitted it up nicely, will take a number of boarders and lodgers, either by the day, week or month. Apply to her at her residence. And now it looks a little bit more like a thaw, and the rain so long predicted by the weather prophets is beginning to make its appearance. The report for tomorrow says "rain." Soon the small boy will put up his sled and go to wading, while the young man who was contemplating the cost of an hour's ride in a "one-horse open sleigh," will be doomed to disappointment(?) The work was very bad on our mail carriers last week. The Trout Lake man got on the wrong road and had to stay out all night, the mail carrier from Hood River got caught in the ice and staid out five hours while the ferryman and some boys from town pulled him to shore. The Chenoweth man has been having trouble also.—Hood River Glacier.

Work has been suspended on the construction of the Columbia & Southern railroad for the season, after the track has been laid from Wasco, the 1897 terminus, a distance of ten miles to Moro. Over 200 men were employed on the grade during the season of 1898, and the total length of line thus far constructed is twenty-nine miles south of Biggs, the junction with the O. R. & N. The cost of construction of this section is estimated at $60,000.

Capt. Lewis has returned from Hood River. Although the weather was such that it was impossible for the people to turn out to listen to the lectures, the captain is not discouraged with his trip, but reports a pleasant visit with friends, part of the time being spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Roberts. He leaves Tuesday night for Wasco, where he will lecture on Wednesday evening.

No doubt the accident which occurred on Union hill last night will somewhat dampen the ardor of coasters for a time; but it will probably not last long, for personal experience is the only teacher whose precepts are heeded. The pleasures which require the most daring are always the most attractive to us, and the rarity and shortness of the coasting season causes us to forget the misfortunes of others.

The treasurer has just made a warrant call for something less than $3000, which is a rather unusual occurrence for this time of year, bringing the warrants to less than four years to run, whereas they have hitherto run from four to four and a half years. Warrants now readily sell at their face value at six per cent. interest, but not long since they sold at a discount drawing eight per cent., thereby showing the good financial condition of the county at the present time.

The last official act of Secretary Kincaid, it is said, was the allowance in favor of himself of a warrant carefully and formally drawn on the state funds for the sum of $90, representing a claim for subscription to the Oregon State Journal, of which Mr. Kincaid is owner and managing editor, from October 1864 to December 1898, furnished the state library. And so even the state of Oregon was among the list of delinquent subscribers. Certainly the state might have paid up in wood, pumpkins, or any old thing so it might not be numbered among the transgressors.

A large number of young and old gathered at the Congregational church last evening, and soon four large sleighs were filled with the merry party, who after driving around the city for some time, made their way to the Roberts place on Dry Hollow. The sleighing was good and the crowd lively, which was sufficient to make the evening complete. Upon reaching their destinuation they found everything cozy and comfortable awaiting their arrival. Two hours were spent in music, games and a general good time, supplemented by a lunch, which tasted all the better for the distance the guests had driven in the cold air, which sharpened their appetites. About 10:30 they started home, satisfied with the Y. P. S. C. E. sleigh ride.

A company of good actors is promised with "On the Suwanee River," which comes to the Vogt opera house next Monday evening, January 16th. Willard Newell, who takes the part of Caleb Croc, the miser, has one of the most difficult parts in the play and acquires himself with distinction. His make-up is natural and his impersonation is without exaggeration or weakness in any particular. The play is a story of the unhappiness of two lovers for whom the machinations of the covetous Croc make difficulties seemingly insurmountable. Dora Clayton is made blind by the murder of her step-father, Colonel Clayton, and Frank Clayton loses his reason by the shock of the same crime. Their recovery and the death of Croc leaves everything peaceful and happy. During the play numerous specialties will be introduced by the Fountain City Quartette, Stella Mayhew and Fred Truesdell. A carload of special scenery will be used in the presentation.

At 5:50 Thursday evening, as A. Lyon, proprietor of the jewelry store and pawnbroker's office in Portland, was seated in the rear portion of his place of business, he heard a crash, and thought some of the messenger boys in the telegraph office next door had let something fall. He arose and came out to the front, when he found that his show window had been smashed with a beer bottle and seven or eight diamond rings, valued at $1000, hurriedly abstracted. The street was very quiet at the time, and the deed so quickly accomplished that not a soul in the neighborhood had the least inkling of it until it was all over. The plate glass is one of two which formed the front of the show window. It is a quarter of an inch thick, and in size four feet by 10, standing perpendicularly in the sash. The bottle had broken out a triangular piece from the lower right-hand corner whose sides would measure eighteen inches in length, thus giving the crook plenty of room to help himself.

Mr. S. A. Fackler, editor of the Micanopy (Fla.), Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from La Grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe, and its exhausting after effects. Never fails. Snipes-Kinnersly Drug Co.

A COLLISION.

Extra Freight Train Runs Into Another Causing a Wreck.

This morning about 1:30 o'clock a collision between freight trains caused a wreck at Celilo. It appears that No. 23, a west-bound freight, stopped at Celilo to set out some cars, leaving a portion of the train east of that place at a whistling post.

An extra freight train made its appearance and the engineer failing to hear the torpedo signal, ran into the caboose, completely demolishing it. The engine was also damaged considerably, and one car smashed up. Fortunately no one was injured.

Passenger train No. 3, west-bound, was delayed about four hours in consequence, reaching here about 9 o'clock.

During the morning the wrecker was sent out from this place with a force of men who have been engaged in clearing up the track, and No. 1, which arrives here at 3:20 was on time.

First Coasting Accident.

With the joys of coasting, each year brings also its accidents, and there is scarcely an exception to the rule that some one must suffer from bones broken while going down on the "bobs." Yesterday the first accident of the year occurred.

Ivan Gibbons, the 14-year-old son of Ralph Gibbons, was one of the occupants of a large bob sled which was going down Union cut at a rapid rate, when a sleigh started up the hill. The boy who was guiding the sled, steered it to one side, but not far enough for all of his passengers to escape encountering it, and Ivan proved to be the unfortunate one. As they passed, his left leg caught in the runner of the sleigh and two bones were broken about six inches above the ankle.

His companions at once took him to his home, a block distant, and Dr. Logan, who was called, reduced the fracture. He is now getting along as well as could be expected.

Woolgrowers' Meeting Jan. 24th.

Secretary Fred W. Wilson, of the Oregon Woolgrowers' Association, has received a letter from Capt. S. B. Ormsby, superintendent of the Cascade Forest Reserve, in which the latter says he is desirous of meeting with the sheep men relative to the proposed leasing of grazing lands next summer.

The interior department has called upon Capt. Ormsby for a report in this connection, and before rendering it he wishes to ascertain the views of the sheep owners with regard to the proposed change. This matter is a very important one, as the grazing question has been a perplexing one ever since the alpine hunters in the East and in Portland have assumed jurisdiction of the sheep and sheep men also.

The government seems disposed to treat all classes fairly and to this end gives the wool growing interest an opportunity to be heard before any definite plan is determined.

In view of the important interests at stake, Mr. Wilson, in the absence of George A. Young, president of the association, who is in the East, has called a meeting of the members of the Wool Association to meet in the Commercial Club rooms, in The Dalles, January 24th. Captain Ormsby will come up from Salem to be present, and it is earnestly desired by the executive committee of the association that every member will, if possible, attend.
