Invitations have been issued for the Elks ball to be given on February 14th. This will undoubtedly be the grandest ball of the season for no expense is being spared to make the affair a brilliant success.

McEwen, the great hypnotist, will give an entertainment at the Vogt opera house on Friday and Saturday evenings. He needs no introduction to the public for he was in the city a week last year and his exhibitions were more than satisfactory.

Those ladies who did not get the souvenir memorandum books the day before Christmas, and who left their names, can now receive them by calling at Pease & Mays' store. This applies only to those whose names were taken down at that time.

Yesterday was quite disagreeable in The Dalles as it was decidedly cold with an east wind blowing, accompanied with a light fall of snow. However it was a great deal pleasanter here than in Portland, for at that place the cars were blockaded by drifted snow and general traffic was suspended to a great extent by the inclemency of the weather.

On Sunday, an unknown man attacked the 14-year-old daughter of O. I. Morris, of Turner, while she was in a stubble field, rounding up cows. The man jumped from behind a clump of brush, threw the girl on the ground, took off one of her shoes and ordered her to skip. Mr. Morris heard the screams of his daughter, and ran to her rescue, but the assailant was nowhere to be found.

This is the day when the ground hog comes out of his winter quarters and peers around mother earth to see how things have been getting along during the time he has been in his hole. If perchance, he sees his shadow, he returns to his hole and remains for another six weeks. Today has been cold but bright and sunshiny, so the ground hog will undoubtedly be disappointed in an early spring and seek solace in his abode until the middle of March.

An Idaho exchange says: We have been informed that Mrs. Henry Gehart, of Little Bear Ridge, gave birth to five children on December 6th, and up to the last accounts they were all doing well. They are all boys. The smallest weighed two pounds when born, but he has outgrown his brothers and is now the largest. Washington made much ado over her four babies exhibited last year at the Spokane fair, but Idaho has seen her and gone one better. The birth of four babies in Latah, Wash., a year ago or more, and the birth of five in Latah county, Idaho, within the past six weeks demonstrate beyond peradventure that the Palouse region is the most prolific country on the face of the globe. There is no telling what it may yet do.

There are current reports that many changes are contemplated by the O. R. & N. in its equipment and train schedules. Since the improvement it has made and is making in its roadbed, with new steel rails and new ties, added ballast, etc., there are none better in this section. Besides this, the company has made many improvements in the rolling stock and equipments on the branch lines. It is said all passenger coaches will be vestibuled, making the trains equal in comfort to any on the main line. Newer and heavier engines are to be added, so that better time can be made over heavy grades.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters of New York have just mailed a copy of rules governing the construction of Acetylene Gas Generator to Prof. P. G. Daut. These rules are recommended by them to every Underwriters Association in the country. The Eagle Gas Generator which he represents is the only machine of which they know in the market that is constructed exactly in line with these specifications and this fact should convince prospective buyers to look first, before purchasing any other cheap generators, as the insurance company will not pay any claims, except all the rules have been complied with.

Latest From Salem.

SALEM, Capitol, February 2.—Curtis' amendment to the law protecting salmon passed the house. The bill providing for convict labor on public highways passed the senate.

The bill granting a charter to Woodburn passed the house. At a special session of the joint committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the soldier's home reported today. They made a full examination and exonerated Byers, praising his management. They also recommended repealing the law whereby the board of trustees were appointed, but leaving provision in the governors hands, for the home and certain rules turning their pension over to the home. They also reported a bill on the subject. The senate passed the direct legislation resolution.

In Olden Times

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with the transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently overcome habitual constipation, well informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system. Buy the genuine, made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Prospects That the Linnton Smelter May Resume Operations.

Superintendent Chase, of the Linnton Smelter, looks for the works to start up again soon, as the stockholders, he thinks, can see daylight through the litigation connected with the plant.

The location of the Linnton smelter is all that can be desired, in Mr. Chase's opinion, as the works are equally accessible to the ores of Eastern Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, as well as those of Southern Oregon and Northern California. A smelter located at a mine does not do well, because it has only one kiln of ore to treat, and so metals for fluxing must be brought from distant mines at considerable expense. Besides this, coke is always more available near a large city.

"One ore may contain lead and another iron. These different ores from mines situated far apart, can be used to flux each other," said Mr. Chase. "I do not think a large smelter need be located close to the mining regions. The Omaha smelter has no mines within hundreds of miles, and yet it is doing an enormous and profitable business in the reduction of ores from Arizona, New Mexico, Montana and British Columbia.

"Twenty-five carloads of ore pass through Portland every month from Baker county, bound for the smelters of Tacoma or Everett, Wash. When the Linnton smelter starts up again it will find abundance of ore in the newly developed mines of Eastern Oregon, Idaho, Montana, as well as Southern Oregon and Northern California."

Freas Saunders has purchased the wood business of J. T. Reynolds in this city. Those desiring good wood will find him by ringing up 'phone number 12.
